A FOOTBALL WALKOVER

Newton High Completely Outplayed Winthrop Last Wednesday

The Newton High School football team gave the Winthrop H. S. eleven a severe jolt in their winning aspirations on Claflin Field last Wednesday afternoon, completely outplaying their visitors and romping off with the contest 64 to 14. Although the local team was handicapped to a certain extent with the loss of two of their backfield, the backs sent in by Coach Dickinson to fill in the gap went through the contest in an able manner and also through the defense line which the visiting team offered.

After the first team, with the assistance of a few subs piled up a total of forty points, Coach Dickinson decided to try out some of his new material during the third quarter, and also they showed flashes of good work, it was not sufficient to stop the visitors from scoring two touchdowns, and likewise kicking two goals, giving them their 14 points.

The Winthrop boys were going at their best when the whistle sounded the end of the third period, and their hopes of piling up several more points at the expense of the subs were given a severe jolt, when the entire first team was sent against them in the last quarter. The Newton goal line was never threatened during this period, and by good line plunging and pretty forward passes the Newton boys annexed 14 more points.

Newton's stonewall line showed up brilliantly during the contest, Roquemore and Brady breaking thru time and time again and pushing their opponents back for a large loss. Capt. Charles Wilbur at right end kept his players in fighting trim during the contest by his remarkable work, making several spectacular tackles, scoring two touchdowns from well directed forward passes from Ralph Hyatt, and intercepting several forward passes thrown by the opposing players. Brady was pulled back when the goal line was within striking distance and succeeded in his three tries in bucking the opposing line for three touchdowns. Hyatt, in a quarterback run of 35 yards carried the ball over for another touchdown and Harris carried the ball around the end for two more touchdowns. Brady kicked the goals in each instance except one, the wind suddenly carrying the ball a few feet outside of the post.

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton team will journey to Wellesey where the annual game between these two teams will be played on Hunnewell Playground. The Wellesey team this year is particularly strong and are expected to give the Newton boys the hardest game so far this season.

GIBSON—BERRY

A notable event of the week was the marriage on Monday evening of Miss Marian Berry, daughter of Mrs. Arthur L. Berry of Newton, to Mr. Stewart Knowlton Gibson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellsworth Gibson of Bigelow road, West Newton. The wedding was witnessed by about 800 friends and relatives who assembled at Channing Unitarian Church, which was attractively decorated for the occasion with palms and ferns. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Harry Lutz, the double ring service being used. Mr. Sturtevant presided at the organ and rendered Wagner's bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the bridesmaids came down the aisle to meet the bride, and preceded by the ushers, escorted the bride party to the chancel. The bride was given in marriage by her mother and presented a charming picture in her beautiful wedding gown of brocade crepe with point applique lace, her filmy veil fastened hood shape, by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a full shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Her attendants were Mrs. Arthur H. Jacks of Evanston, Ill., as matron of honor and Miss Louise Emerson of Newton, as maid of honor, both gowned in white charmeuse with trimmings of American Beauty roses. The bridesmaids, who were the Misses Marian A. Stutson of West Newton, Priscilla Kimball of Bath, Me., and Elizabeth F. Aldrich of Providence, also wore gowns of white charmeuse trimmed with American Beauty colored chiffon and carried American Beauty roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Parker W. Taber of Pittsburg, N. H., as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Charles E. Gibson, Jr., of West Newton, Arthur H. Jacks of Evanston, Ill., Benjamin B. Burpee of Manchester, N. H., Carl W. Sawyer of Cambridge, Mass., Robert H. Hatch of Concord, Mass., Robert E. Belknap of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Harry B. Smith of Norwood, Mass., Dartmouth College friends and fraternity brothers of the groom in S. A. E. Following the ceremony a small informal reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother on Willard street for their young friends. The house was prettily decorated with pink asters and autumn foliage. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson were assisted in receiving by their parents, Mrs. Arthur L. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Gibson. Mrs. Berry was gowned in white satin with black lace, and Mrs. Gibson wore a gown of blue satin with point lace trimmings. A profusion of beautiful and useful gifts of silver and cut glass were showered upon the young couple. On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will reside at 40 Sylvan avenue and will be at home after December 1st.

Included among the guests from out of town were Mrs. W. A. Field, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. George H. Bemis, uncle of the bride, of Wiscasset, Me., and Mr. John E. Bradley, Miss Bradley and Miss Katherine Bradley of Worcester, Mass. George B. Goodwin of Saco, Me., Mrs. Fred H. Kimball of Bath, Me., Mr. and Mrs. William H. Quimby and Mr. Fred Chase of Belfast, Me., Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fisher of Bath, Me., Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Aldrich of Providence, R. I., Mrs. Allen Jacks of Chicago, Mrs. Walter B. Helm of Rockford, Ill., Mr. James S. Gibson of Denver, Colo., and Miss Marian Wilcox of Redlands, Cal.

PLEASANT SURPRISE

Mr. Kenneth Bailey, a former secretary of the Elliot Co-operative Club, was given a pleasant surprise on Saturday evening by members of the club, prior to his departure Monday for Omaha, Neb., where he enters business life in the employ of the Bemis Brothers Bag Company. Mr. Bailey was presented by his fellow club members with a handsome leather traveling bag. Mr. Walter Barrows, president of the club, made the presentation speech. There was a large attendance of club members and their friends. Rev. H. Grant Person of Elliot Church was also among the guests.

A rural newspaper contains this bit of information: "A correspondent asks whether the battle of Waterloo occurred before or after the Christian era. We answer, It did."

A NEWTON AUTHOR

Miss Margaret Williamson of West Newton Publishes a New Book

Miss Margaret Williamson of West Newton, whose John and Betty Engleish History published last year, met with such favor, has just produced another book in the same series entitled "John and Betty's Scotch History Visit." Miss Williamson follows the same delightful style in her new book and it will be eagerly read by all those who appreciate her charming descriptions and conversational tone. The book opens with a splendid account of the recent coronation in London on occasion, which personal experience under favorable circumstances enables Miss Williamson to describe most pleasantly. In fact, one of the fascinating things about the book is that Miss Williamson has personally visited each place mentioned and given it thoro study. Lothrop, Lee and Shepard, the well-known Boston publishers, have produced the book with clear, easily read type, an attractive cover, and fine illustrations.

HENLEY—MAGLINCHY

Miss Rose Margaret Maglinchey, the daughter of Mrs. James F. Maglinchey of River street, West Newton and Mr. Joseph A. Henley of Newton, were married Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. John F. Keleher. The bride wore a gown of white crepe meteor, with duchess lace, and satin train and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Miss Agnes Maglinchey, was bridesmaid, and wore cinnamon rose crepe meteor, with shadow lace and carried cinnamon roses. Miss Florence Meade of Waltham, a niece of the bride acted as flower girl. Mr. Charles Henley of Waltham was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Frank Henley of Buffalo, N. Y., and Francis Maglinchey of Flint, Mich.

After a wedding trip to Washington and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Henley will reside at 26 Marion road, Belmont, where they will be at home after Nov. 1st.

USING THE ATTIC

"Few people realize the possibilities of an attic save as a place in which to store trunks and trash. Unfinished beams and flooring, spaces of sloping roof and high windows, discourage the possessor of an attic from trying to do anything with it. The problem too, becomes complicated to the householder of small means by reason of the costliness of timber and labor."

"One family solved the problem so far as play room was concerned, by stretching burlap from one upright to another in the centre of half an attic, divided from the other half by a hallway. The centre of the unfinished attic was enclosed on each side by walls of light brown burlap, and the same material was employed to cover the rough surface of side walls around the door and windows. From the roof was suspended a swing, and trunks were piled under the window and on one side of the room, and covered with burlap, to form broad benches upon which the children could arrange their toys and play the ever-delightful game of "tea-party."—Suburban Life Magazine for October.

OVER 7000 PUPILS

Increase of 100 in Public School Enrollment

From figures made by Dr. F. E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools, there is an increase of exactly one hundred pupils in the school enrollment for the present year as compared with similar figures of 1911, the exact figures being 7087 for 1912 and 6987 for 1911. This increase is principally in the High Schools, where the figures are 1713 as compared with 1633 in 1911, and of this number 68 are in the Technical High School, showing that the work in this school is becoming more appreciated in the city. The Technical High has an enrollment this year of 925 and the Classical High of 788.

There are 5384 pupils in the kindergartens and grades, with 570 in the former department. The figures by school districts are as follows:—

Bigelow,	592
Mann-Claflin,	742
Pelice,	911
Burr,	503
Hamilton,	86
Emerson,	467
Hyde,	445
Mason,	879
Stearns,	604
Wolcott,	155
Total,	5384

CHAPMAN—TARBELL

Miss Louise Butler Tarbell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Tarbell of Newton Highlands, became the bride of Mr. Lawrence Boylston Chapman of Norwich, Conn., on Wednesday evening. The ceremony took place at St. Paul's Episcopal Church at eight o'clock, the pastor, the Rev. Albert N. Slayton, being assisted by Rev. Frank M. Rathbone of Sharon.

The bride, who wore her mother's wedding gown of duchess satin and lace, was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Miss Anita Tarbell of Newton Highlands, was the maid of honor and was gowned in pink messaline draped with oriental lace and carried Mrs. Taft roses. The bridesmaids, the Misses Mary Hume of Des Moines, Ia., Florence E. Price of Danville, Pa., Eleanor Wheeler of Milton, Mass., and Katharine B. Hodgkins of Wilmette, Ill., wore pink crepe de chine and oriental lace and carried Killarney roses.

Mr. Lee R. Robbins of Norwich, Conn. was the best man and the guests were in charge of these ushers, Messrs Donald B. Wheeler of Boston, Clarence A. Rathbone of Sharon, Mass., Rufus B. Burnham of Norwich, Conn., and French P. Sargeant of New York City.

A reception followed at the home of the bride, 87 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will reside at Southampton, England.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. James Q. Wetmore Observe 25th Wedding Anniversary

A large company of relatives and friends assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Quinton Wetmore on Bacon street Monday evening to offer congratulations on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore have been residents of Newton for many years, formerly residing in Newton Highlands, but have occupied their present home about 8 years. The house was attractively decorated with autumn flowers and foliage, the decorations in the reception room being especially pretty, an abundance of pink asters and dahlias being used in artistic arrangement on the mantles.

Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore received under a chandelier which was festooned with white asters and foliage, forming a graceful arch. Mrs. Wetmore wore a gown of light blue silk and was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. Archie Thomas, and her husband's sister, Mrs. Elmer Pettis. In the dining-room where refreshments were served the color scheme was yellow, chrysanthemums being used in effective arrangements on the table. The floral decorations were under the supervision of the Misses Florence Cory, Ruth Thomas and Mr. George Thomas. The refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Nettie Allen of Auburn, Mass., assisted by the Misses Ruth Thomas, Florence Cory and Emma Victoria Thomas. The ushers were Mr. George D. Thomas, Mr. George Ditchett and Mr. Alfred Thomas. Many members of the Gen. Hull Lodge, Royal Arcanum, with which Mr. Wetmore is prominently associated, were present; also members of the Boynton Lodge, No. 20, U. O. I. O. F., of which Mrs. Wetmore is a member. Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, among which were an elegant cut glass pitcher, presented by the officers of the Massachusetts Government Lodge of the U. O. I. O. F., of which Mrs. Wetmore is the Rightworthy Past Government Conductor; a cut glass lemonade set, presented by the Constellation Lodge, No. 34, of Somerville; a set of solid silver tablespoons and a cut glass vase, by members of the Boynton Lodge, No. 20, U. O. I. O. F. A handsome coffee percolator by Mrs. George H. Kent, Worthy Vice Lady of Boynton Lodge; a beautiful silver casserole from Dr. and Mrs. J. I. T. Coolidge of Cambridge. Dr. Coolidge was the clergyman who officiated at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore, 25 years ago. A delightful program of music was rendered during the evening by the Millie Beardsley Orchestra and the reception closed with dancing. Among the guests were Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Laurens MacLure of Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Granger of Auburn, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Archie Thomas and family of Brighton, Mrs. Elmer Pettis of Cambridge, Mrs. Emma D. Woodsum of Lebanon, Me., Mr. Thomas Ditchett of Roxbury and Mr. Harry P. Wetmore of Cambridge.

SOCCER FOOTBALL

That a soccer football team will represent the Upper Falls A. A. on the field this year was fully decided at a meeting held last night in Arcturum Hall, at which time the members appropriated the money for purchasing uniforms for the team.

The parade scheduled for last night by the Fifth and Drum Corps was postponed, owing to a little mishap, but a good-sized crowd was on hand at the meeting. The other business scheduled for last night was laid on the table until the meeting on next Tuesday night, when the permanent quarters of the club will then be fully settled.

COOKING PEAS AND CARROTS

Many Ways of Preparation to Suit the Individual Taste—Peas Served in Turnip Shells.

One way of preparing peas, and for my own taste there is none better: Blend together two tablespoonsful of butter and one tablespoonful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper, for each pint of peas. When the peas are soft stir this into the peas and cook five minutes. In preparing them in that way all the flavor and nutritive value of the peas are retained. Use care that there is not too much water; there should be only enough to cook the peas in, which is scarcely enough to cover them.

To Cook Young Carrots.—Wash and scrape the carrots and cut in quarters lengthwise; then holding the quarters together place on a board and cut crosswise through the four quarters in one-half inch pieces. Boil twenty minutes or until soft in just enough water to cover. They are very nice prepared by the same recipe given for peas; and just before serving add two teaspoonfuls of parsley finely minced to each pint of carrots.

Peas and Carrots.—One cup of carrots cut in small pieces as stated and two cups of shelled peas. Cook the carrots and peas together until soft. Drain; add four tablespoonfuls of cream and one tablespoonful of butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Heat over hot water and serve as soon as hot.

Peas Served in Turnip Shells.—Use the flat turnips for this dish and choose them near of a size. Wash and pare the turnips and with a sharp knife scoop out the center, leaving a shell one-half inch thick. Steam the turnips and be careful not to overcook them or they will fall to pieces. Put a folded napkin in the serving dish and place the turnips on it; shake a little salt and pepper over them, and fill with cooked peas which have been seasoned with butter, salt and pepper.

Do not waste the turnip which was scooped out, but cook and mash it and reserve for another meal.

ADORNMENTS FOR THE TABLE

Cloths, Luncheon Sets and Dollies Should All Be of the Finest Possible Materials.

The tablecloth is becoming a thing of rare beauty and some of the new ones are lovely enough, with their wealth of lace and hand embroidery, to be used for a lingerie gown.

For the round table the linen covers only the top, a 14-inch border of cluny lace hanging below. This same lace is inserted in the center of the cloth and takes the place of the usual center-piece.

For the luncheon set color is being introduced. Daisies embroidered in natural tints upon heavy Irish linen give a charming new touch. These as a rule, include a large centerpiece and a dozen dollies.

The petals of the flowers are done with very thick, fluffy floss and the embroidery can be finished in a very short time.

Other pretty luncheon sets are made of finer linen, the dollies being cut in squares instead of round, while the new punch work and a very little lace French embroidery are introduced.

For breakfast the table linen is much plainer, and these sets include the cloth and a dozen small napkins.

Damask embroidered in quaint little flower designs in color are very attractive, while others are of linen crabs embroidered in cross-stitch.

All of these are rather expensive when bought in the shops, but the housewife who has several idle hours during the day can with but a slight expense and little trouble give her table linen a distinctive air.

FAIR TRIAL WAS IMPOSSIBLE

During the Days of Witchcraft Unfortunates Were Brought Into Court to Be Condemned.

When the witchcraft delusion of 1692 seized the province the people would not wait for the workings of the established tribunal of justice. It was too slow to suit them. No doubt they feared that it would be "reactionary" or inclined to be too respectful to the letter of the law. So they cried out for a special court to hustle along the trial of the witches, and Governor Phipps meekly yielded to the clamor and named seven judges to conduct the trials.

It was distinctly a popular court, and was controlled absolutely by the popular will. Not a one of the seven judges was a lawyer. Two of the judges were clergymen, two were physicians and three were merchants. The common law was thrown aside, rules of evidence were ignored, and the judges and juries were left untrammelled by any "quibbles of the law" to follow their own feelings and the popular will.

Says Washburn in his "Judicial History of Massachusetts": "The trials were but a form of executing popular vengeance. Jurors were intimidated by the frowns and perquisitions of the court and by the outbreaks of the multitude that crowded the place of trial to render verdicts against their own consciences and judgment." He cites one case, that of Rebecca Nurse, in which the jury actually had the courage to bring in a verdict of not guilty. Whereupon "the accusers raised a great outcry and the judges were overcome by the clamor." The jury was sent back, returned with a verdict of guilty, and the woman was accordingly executed. Thus promptly and effectively did the popular will succeed in bringing about the judicial decision it wanted.—Boston Herald.

NOT A COMPLETE SUCCESS

Workings of Brother Bogus' Conscience Evidently Were Merely in the First Throes.

"Ever since I was done converted last week," remarked a certain colored citizen in a chastenedly triumphant tone, "muh conscience gnaws me when I think o' what a sinner I was befo' I seed the blessed light. I was false to de Lawd and untrue to muh feller men, and muh conscience gnaws—"

"Do it gnaw yo' enough, Brudder Bogus," grimly interrupted old Brother Gumpshun, "to make yo' pay me back dem fou' dollars yo' borried off'n me yeh befo' last?"

"W-y—w-y, sah!—yo' knows how close de times is, dese days, and—well, sah, here's haffer dollar, dat I'll pay yo' now, and—"

"Hu! If dat's de best yo' kin do, sah, yo' conscience r'n't gnawin'—it's deess uh-nubbin'!"—Satire.

Had to Have Pile.

A New York woman, who thinks she knows the public taste because of her experience in the boarding house business and as the manager of a summer resort hotel, thinks that the statement made by a Chicago baker that "pie has ceased to be popular with the masses of this country" is "all wrong." "It may be true for Chicago," she said, "but in this part of the world pie is still popular. Two years ago we had a little strike in the kitchen of our seashore place and the pastry end was the hardest to get right. For four days we had no pie, but furnished instead more expensive desserts. But we had a regular pie strike among our guests, and pie we had to have. It wasn't like any man's mother ever made, because it was amateur work, but it was pie, and that's all they wanted."

Get Habit of Quiet Speaking.

The easiest of bad habits to acquire is that of speaking loudly. Language has become so complex that not only is it necessary to say the right thing, but it must be said in the right way. A phrase may be said in jest or in earnest; a rebuke may be kindly or stern; an order may be willingly or unwillingly received according to the tone in which it has been said. Many a faithful workman is unjustly accused of unwillingness and disloyalty because of the churlish manner in which orders are received; many a master is regarded as unfeeling by his employees because his actions are forgotten and only the sting of his sharp manner remembered.

The Task at Hand.

The late Clara Barton, head of the American Red Cross, was a Christian in perhaps the best sense—the practical and unselfish sense.

Miss Barton, in an interview in New York about the tenement house laws once said to a reporter:

"I neglect church, I neglect religion to get our vile and unwholesome slums all swept away."

She paused, then added:

"We ought not to consider the mansions awaiting us on the other side of Jordan, you know, while there's an unsolved housing problem so near home."—Washington Star.

It Depends.

"How long has your husband's suit for damages been going on?"

"Let me see? I think it is eleven years."

"Eleven years! Does it take that long to get a lawsuit settled?"

"Yes, when you can find a lawyer who is willing to fight on for what he can get out of it at the end."

ANGLING FOR A PLACE

Dalton's air of preoccupation was not quite pleasing to the girl. He was seated on the bank of the stream just beneath her, selecting a fly and whistling contentedly.

"You seem very happy," she said at length, coldly.

"I am tolerably happy, considering the fact that last night I was grossly intemperate."

"Intemperate?"

"Drank too hard of the May moon and wild blossom scents. Drunk you know, drunk with the hush, the glory, the perfume, and the girl: grew hilarious and asked her to marry me—to share my ups and downs in life. She refused to do it. I might say it's what I expected. You see I wasn't sober; and then she had led me on, yes I'm sure she led me on. Why, she told me a lot of complimentary things about myself. Said my money had not spoiled me, and that I was as easy to get along with it was just like having nobody around. Said she knew that the inventing and flying of the aeroplane was a great achievement for a mere millionaire to effect, and that she felt awed in my presence. When she grew solicitous for my welfare and asked me to give up aviation, I misconstrued her meaning, I guess. At any rate, I proposed to her and she laughed at me."

"She must have possessed a strong sense of humor."

"Undoubtedly. She told me I was foolish to think of anything outside my hobby, seeing it was such a nice hobby and one I could really ride. Oh, she was very sarcastic!" She went so far as to say that a man who was already married to a flying machine had not the right to propose. Now what am I to do? I want her today more than ever!"

"If you love the girl, you should respect her wishes sufficient to give up risking your life, should she ask it of you."

"I never pay any attentions to requests—I obey orders. If she were my wife now she could order me to stop taking risks."

"But you didn't ask her to be your wife, did you? You asked her to share your ups and downs, wasn't that it?"

"Your sympathies seem to be altogether with the girl."

"And why not? Surely you are bird enough without wanting to fly artistically."

"Not even to soar to her heights?"

"Not even to soar anywhere, when soaring means courting disaster. Will you do something grand and splendid for the girl—if I ask you to?"

"Yes, on condition that you in turn will persuade the girl to do something grand and splendid for me."

"No, I won't do that; but I'll tell you what I will do. I'll fish against you to see which of us does the other the favor."

"Meaning that if I catch the first fish—?"

"But you won't catch the first fish."

"Then if you catch the first fish—?"

"You give up your hobby—for the girl's sake."

"And if I catch the first fish you give up the girl for my sake—very well. Any time limit?"

"None. Finish fight."

The reels sang as the flies fluttered across stream.

When, after a strenuous fifteen minutes' fight, he landed the trout and glanced triumphantly at the girl, it was to meet a pair of laughter-filled eyes. On a rock at her feet lay a fish—a much smaller one than his own, but a fish nevertheless. "I guess I win," she said softly.

"I congratulate you," he answered. "Yes, you win; I'm ready to pay."

She laughed then, and sliding from the rock, put her hands on his shoulders.

"If the girl had not cared, you know," she whispered, "she wouldn't have asked you to give up flying, Harry. But I'm sure she would be willing to share your ups and downs now, dear, if you cared to ask her again."

Then he took her in his arms.

Opera Glasses in Parliament.

The rights of visitors to the house of commons came under discussion oddly the other night, when in the midst of a debate upon the treatment of the suffragette prisoners Joseph King, M. P., suddenly sprang to his feet and demanded to know whether a stranger in the gallery was entitled to level a pair of opera glasses at Mr. Speaker.

The house gasped and then tittered. The stranger hurriedly hid his binoculars and looked as if he wished he were well out of the scrape. The speaker also looked uncomfortable and dodged ruling on the delicate point vaguely remarking: "I can only say that this is not a theater."—New York Sun.

Actors Dread "Marrowskying."

All actors live in dread of marrowskying, that curious transposition of syllables which often illustrates the truth of the saying that from the sublime to the ridiculous there is but a step. The actor who said, "Stand back my lord, and let the parson cough" (in stead of "coffin pass") may have used a solitary slip, but in some recent marrowskying amounts to a veritable infamy.

Marrowskying is not confined to the tongue, but occurs in writing. This is one of the many sources of error in copying printed or manuscript matter. The mind runs on ahead of the eye and a jumble of syllables is the result.

MAD DOG SCARE

Two Animals Die from Bites Received from Dog.

Two animals bitten by a canine running amuck through this city last week, since which time both animals have died, have been the cause for a rigid investigation on the part of the Board of Health, but as yet no official notice from the State authorities, as to the exact cause of death of the animals has been received.

The presumably mad dog became known for the first time last Monday morning, when search was started for the apprehension of the animal, which has so far proved unsuccessful. The dog first made its attack on a goat owned by Martin Hickey, which was tied out in his yard.

The barking attracted the attention of Mrs. Hickey, who ran out and succeeded in chasing the dog away. Nothing was thought of this occurrence until the goat died and was buried. Later it became known that a dog in running through the Alameda Golf Club set upon a cow that was grazing there, owned by Thomas Matthews, and bit it on the legs.

The cow was suddenly taken sick and Mr. Matthews in giving it some medicine was scratched on the arm. The cow died afterwards and then it was surmised that the possible cause of death was rabies. The head was sent into the State House for examination and until the result of the examination is received in this city a close watch will be kept out for all dogs running around loose. The officials were unable to get a very good description of the dog, although it was reported to have been of good size and thought to have been brown. During the past three days Mr. Matthews has been undergoing the Pasteur treatment in the office of Dr. F. M. Lowe, City Physician, until the notice as to the correct cause of death has been received from the state officials.

MAMIE GIVES ADVICE

Young Darnley had stared at Maude unseeing through his dinner as far as the salad before he saw her. When a man is engrossed with a broken heart caused by one young woman he cannot be expected instantly to recognize the charms of another.

Up to the moment that he gazed at her seemingly Mamie was merely the human automaton in the exclusive little cafe who set food before young Darnley. Then suddenly he realized the pretty jollity of her face, the freshness of her color, the extreme shyness of her hair. The fingers of the hand resting on one hip were tapering and white.

It was a surprise to him that these facts penetrated the paralysis of his brain. For after a year of hoping to be engaged to Jessie and half a year of thinking he was engaged to her it left him in a daze to face the fact that he wasn't engaged to her at all and that the ring was nestling in his vest pocket in its box, a most uncomfortable lump.

Young Darnley was a broker's clerk, with prospects, and he had been to college and he was lonesome and homesick since the end of the Jessie episode. There was something about Mamie's cheerful smile and wholesome presence that comforted him.

He told Mamie that the pie was good. "Glad you like it," said she. "You haven't been eating much of late, I've noticed."

Unsentimental persons will not be able to understand how in ten minutes young Darnley had told all his sorrows to Mamie. There was nothing of the flirt about Mamie. She simply took young Darnley under her wing in a motherly way in spite of the fact that she was not 20. He began to cheer up immensely in that atmosphere, as is the way of the masculine world.

"Will you go to the moving picture show up the street with me this evening?" young Darnley asked Mamie suddenly while at dinner. He felt that some return was due her for her kindness and she was a girl whom no man need be ashamed to be seen with. "Sure," said Mamie with no flutter at all.

Young Darnley had a very good time that evening. When Mamie met him she wore a trim tailor suit and a saucy hat and she laughed a lot and made him laugh. Going home he spoke bitterly of the false Jessie.

"Mebbe she really did think she was right," Mamie insisted. "Mebbe she didn't pick the quarrel just to get rid of you like you think?"

Mamie was a comforting person to talk to. She was always interested and she gave him advice about Jessie which he instantly repudiated. He spent a great deal of time trying to explain to her that that part of his life was all over and finished.

"Sure," Mamie would say. "Just you cheer up and forget it!" Then the next time he talked about it she would repeat her advice that he go back to Jessie and say he was sorry.

"Do you think I want to go back?" he would ask with immense scorn. For several months young Darnley took Mamie out. One evening when he felt especially blue he made up his mind that he knew what was the trouble. All he needed was perpetual sympathy and cheerfulness like Mamie's to make life worth living. He wondered that he had been so dull as not to see it before. What were so clat distinctions and class lines when put up against genuine worth? So taking Mamie's hand in his as they walked along, he asked her to marry him.

"Kid," said Mamie rather tremulously, "you're a nice chap. You've been mighty good to me. I'm glad you like me. But you're all wrong in the way you've doped this out. Honest, you aren't in love with me at all! Why I'm not your sort! What's making you miserable all his time and what you honestly want to do and won't and should be to trot along to Jessie and swallow your pride and then be happy all the rest of your life! She'll make up with you if you go."

"Do you really think so?" young Darnley asked. "Sure she will!" she said sturdily giving him a little push. "Go along this minute! It isn't late! And for get what you said to me!"

Young Darnley looked down at his bride. She was smiling up at him brightly as usual. There was nothing pathetic about the rosy face. Yet there was a sudden lump in his throat as young Darnley bent over and kissed her.

"You—you're a brick, Mamie!" he said, huskily. "I'll never forget what you've done for me! And I like you awfully well!"

Mamie watched him as he hastened down the street. She dabbed at her eyes as she turned in at her door. "Of course she'll take him back!" she said fiercely. "Gee!"—Chicago Daily News.

Woolworth's Is Well Wired.

In the new Woolworth building 5,500 feet of cable, containing 460 miles of copper wire, will be placed, connecting with a distributing frame having a capacity of 4,000 lines. This is enough wire to reach from New York to 22 miles beyond Buffalo.

In the tower 900 cable pairs will be placed; in the main portion of the building 80 cable pairs will be placed in each of two riser shafts, and 200 cable pairs will be available for the ground floor and substructure, making a total of 2,700 cable pairs, remarks the New York Telephone Review.

A STORY OF VIOLETS

"Vilts, vilts, only a penny a bunch." The flower-girl, eagerly questioning each hurrying face.

A London street, its rows of gaunt houses; the heavy atmosphere, suffused with a faint veil of gray fog, the dull, monotonous rumble of traffic, the weary feeling of struggling humanity, the sound of anxious footsteps hastening along the paved road of life. The only color in this dim picture a patch of violets—violets heaped in profusion on the flower-girl's tray. Violets, whose breath, laden with a thousand memories, floats on the stifling air and creeps unbidden, it may be unwelcome, into the very heart of every passerby.

The city man, his mind running in figures, pulls up short to buy a bunch of the flowers, whose sweet scent stirs his dull memory into activity, telling him that he still possesses a heart. Emotions, long stilled, memories blither-sweet, youthful dreams awakened by the fragrance of those violets, rise persistently all day long, following him, tugging at his sleeve, even in the midst of the all-absorbing worship of Mamman.

"Poor little modest flower!" A youth, battling with the harder side of life, looks down with pity on the bunch of violets in his hand. Like a soft caress their breath touches his sensitive heart, raising him above the hum of city life into the "fool's paradise" of fancy.

Two girls approach; one is richly dressed. The flower-girl steps eagerly forward, her monotonous cry changing to a note of earnest interrogation. The elder of the two waves aside the modest English flower; the more expensive Parma violet is selected—they remind her of Nice and of the Carnival. Her companion, in the plain brown dress, scarcely hears these flippant remarks. Bending over the tray of English violets, she has become unconscious of her surroundings. The violets whisper in her ear of babbling brook and the song of birds. She sees her home—the tiny cottage, her mother's smile; her little brother, for whose sake she has left that simple happy life to live in the glare of London society, where she must silently endure a thousand veiled insults that only a dependent can understand.

When she turns away a violet glistens in the feeble sunshine—a tear from a lonely, sympathetic heart lies, like a dewdrop, on the violet's breast. All day long the violets pour out their fragrant life on the sullen air growing fainter, fading away as the day wears on. Hundreds hurry past. Few allow themselves to catch the sweet thoughts that hover round the flowers; fewer still have time to stop and buy. The flower-girl knows nothing of this magic fragrance. The scent of a tray full of fresh violets brings back the picture of a cold bleak morning, a noisy market, the beginning of a hard day's work and vague, uneasy questionings prompted by pangs of hunger. Far dearer to her heart than the fairest flower is the sight of a little heap of dirty copper, counted out on an empty tray.

A fashionably-dressed couple stop before the flower-girl. The man of fers his companion a bunch of English violets, but as before, they are scornfully declined.

"Parma violets look so well on fur; English violets are so common!" she explains. The man puts the rejected bunch of violets in his buttonhole, his thoughts leap back to a forsaken memory—the street fades; the sound of traffic grows less; he answers his companion me- chanically; his thoughts are far away.

Violets, violets, nothing but violets! There at least in the cold solitude of the wood that shy, most modest of flowers was not afraid of being seen. The ground was carpeted with them; the air was filled with their fragrance. A girl sat on the stump of a tree, with violets in her hands, in the basket at her side; violets profusely at her feet; violets, soft and dark, in her eyes. As some one drew near her color deepened, an expectant smile hovered round her lips.

They come to a more crowded part of the street. The man draws closer to his companion; the sidious scent of the Parma violets she is wearing penetrates into the very heart of the enchanted wood. Forbidden dreams, forbidden thoughts, a thousand regrets rush for a moment through his brain but he has deliberately scorned the modest country flower, he had chosen her rich, her more precious rival. In the press of the crowd something falls to the ground; it is his bunch of English violets—they lie in the mud. For a moment he hesitates, then he goes on his way—not daring to pick them up.

"Vilts, vilts, only a penny a bunch!" "Vilts, vilts, only a penny a bunch!"

The Summer Girl Again. Mayor Bacharach of Atlantic City told a summer-girl story at a dinner at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

"On the beach in the moonlight," he said, "a youth clasped a maiden passionately to his breast and murmured: 'Do you love me, darling?'"

"Yes—ab, yes, Reginald," she sighed.

"Reginald!" said the youth, in a startled voice. "You mean Clarence don't you, dear?"

"Smiling sweetly, she nestled closer. 'Yes, Clarence, of course,' she said. 'How stupid of me! I was thinking it was the week-end!'"

COLONIAL THEATRE.—The absolutely unduplicated triumph of "The Quaker Girl" at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, has caused the management of that theatre to cancel all future bookings for the house and the probabilities are that the engagement will last beyond the holidays. Never before has a musical comedy no matter how great a success, played to the early-season business that has been awarded this musical play which is now in its fifth capacity week. All records for September business in Boston have been shattered and the Boston public is wild to see this unique entertainment which has the novelty of being absolutely clean and refined and yet affords amusement of the funniest sort. Musically "The Quaker Girl" does not need even the press agents' praises for wherever one goes he hears the lilting melodies whistled and played. "Come To The Bell," the famous waltz theme of the play is fully as widely known as "The Merry Widow" waltz and music stores say they are unable to keep up with the demand for copies of it. The management states that special attention will be paid to mail orders and that seats can be secured by mail four weeks in advance.

Crawford Ranges

One very remarkable fact in connection with Crawford Ranges is that nobody ever willingly changes from a Crawford to a range of any other make.

There must be a reason—we believe there are several. The Single Damper (patented,) the scientific Cup-Joint Oven Flues that heat the oven in every part alike; the Ash Hod (patented,) instead of the clumsy ash pan; these are some of the Crawford time and trouble savers.

If you will carefully examine and compare the Crawford with any or all other cooking ranges you will see why Crawford works do better work, with more comfort for the cook and less waste of time and money. Send for the illustrated pamphlet.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.—One of the most diversified and brilliant all-star vaudeville bills of the season is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, no less than six splendid headline attractions being on the list. Dave Genaro and Ray Bailey, known as "The International Favorites," will make their first appearance at this house in years in a series of startling and sensational dancing specialties. Another brilliant spectacular novelty will be Ma-Belle and her Sylvan Ballet, a troupe of pretty and graceful dancers who present a fantasy entitled "The Dance Dream." The big laughing features of the week will be "Who's Brown," a screamingly funny farce presented by the Providence Players; and Bert Melrose, the daredevil clown, with his funny tables and chairs. Marshall Montgomery, the peer of all ventriloquists, will present his remarkable specialty, and others to appear are the Five Martells, a family of clever cyclists; Edwards and Irene, two clever singers and dancers, and several other acts to be announced later.

CASTLE SQ. THEATRE.—"The Aviator" will offer excellent comedy at the Castle Square next week. It has a plot that is humorous and cleverly ingenious, and it is thoroughly up to date in every respect. There are both comedy and emotional effects in "The Aviator," and it is thoroughly timely in every respect. It will be seen at the Castle Square for the first time next week, and its production will also mark the first appearance of Wilson Melrose at this theatre. Mr. Melrose has been engaged by John Craig as a regular member of his company. Nothing need be said to introduce him to the Boston public. He has in previous seasons become popular with Boston playgoers, and the cordiality of his welcome is therefore assured. During the season he will share with Mr. Craig the leading roles at the Castle Square. The rest of the cast of "The Aviator" will be well apportioned among the members of Mr. Craig's company.

LODGES

There was a good attendance at the smoker held Monday evening at Denison Hall, Newtonville under the auspices of Mt. Ida Council, R. A. At the annual meeting of the Newton Council, 67, K. of C. held Tuesday evening in Denison hall the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: William A. Sprout GK, James P. ## ART OF SIDESTEPPING

"John," said Mrs. Allison, meeting her husband at the door, "Mrs. Bannister telephoned this afternoon inviting us to her house to dinner this evening, to meet Miss Fanshaw, the actress."

"Oh, did she?"

"I suppose you're dying to go, aren't you?"

"I'm not crazy about it."

"I don't think I care to meet Miss Fanshaw. If we went I suppose they would have our names in the society columns among those of the rest who attended. Mrs. Bannister always takes pains to have her affairs reported."

"Well, it's up to you. I don't care about going out this evening. I'm tired anyhow."

"I supposed nothing would keep you away. Miss Fanshaw is very beautiful—on the stage."

"She isn't terribly plain off the stage, either."

"I had forgotten that you had met her off the stage."

"She was on the boat when I came home from Europe last September you know."

"I remember now that you did mention her. Well, I haven't any desire to know her."

"I don't think you'd care much for her. She isn't your style at all."

"So we'll stay at home and have a nice, quiet evening together."

"That will suit me perfectly."

"If we did go I don't know what I should wear."

"There's no use bothering about that, as long as we're not going."

"I don't understand why Mrs. Bannister is so eager to run after stage people."

"I believe she has an idea that she can write a play, and probably she thinks she will by making herself agreeable to as many actors and actresses as possible increase her chances of getting her play produced when it is written."

"It seems to me a woman in her position ought to keep out of such things and pay more attention than she does to her home."

"It's her own affair. If she enjoys it and Bannister is willing we, of course, have no right to object."

"I'm so glad you don't care to go this evening. I must telephone her right away that we're not coming."

"Yes, I'd do that. She ought to know it as soon as possible."

"Why are you changing your clothes?"

"I'm going to put on some old trousers and a pair of old shoes and do a little puttering around in the yard. I feel that I need more outdoor exercise than I've been getting lately."

"Now don't go and get yourself tired out so that you'll want to go to bed right after dinner."

"Very well. I'll take it easy."

"You don't know how nice it will seem to have you all to myself. And you'll smoke and read to me, just like you used to when we were first married, won't you, John?"

"If I can find anything worth reading. I wish I had brought home a late magazine."

"I bought one this afternoon and I have a splendid picture of Miss Fanshaw, too. Do you think, if we were going, I ought to wear my new lace dress?"

"I don't know what you ought to wear; but why bother about what you ought or ought not to wear, since we're not going?"

"Are you perfectly sure you don't want to go?"

"Certainly. If I wanted to go I'd say so. There's no reason why I should wish to be secret about it."

"I'm so glad you'd rather stay at home with just me. I was afraid you would insist on going."

"Don't you think you'd better telephone Mrs. Bannister now? We should at least be courteous, even if we don't wish to meet her friends."

"Yes, I'll attend to it right away. Let me see? If I wore my lace dress I couldn't wear my pink slippers, could I?"

"For heaven's sake, don't expect me to decide anything of that kind. I'm no arbiter of fashions."

"Well, you might at least take enough interest to want me to look my best. If you are so busy with other ladies that you have no time to notice me there are others who do occasionally look my way."

"You know I always want you to look your best—and your best is mighty good, little girl. So let's not quarrel about that."

"I don't believe I could get ready now, anyhow. She wanted us to be there at 7 o'clock."

"No, we couldn't possibly get there by that time. It's after 6 now. Now run along and telephone her that we're not coming and I'll get out to the yard at once, or dinner will be ready before I get any puttering done."

"I could wear my big hat with the willow plumes and that would make it all right to put on my pink pumps wouldn't it?"

"Oh, don't go to any trouble to dress on my account. I like you in that blue kimono."

"John! What are you thinking of? If you don't hurry and shave we'll be late. I can be ready in half an hour. I'll not have to do anything to my hair."

Between Men.
"My wife hates to see me spend a nickel on myself."
"Mine, too. She thinks I would raise a war to serve as a collar but if I really had the interests of my family at heart."

HER FUTILE LOVES

By ROSE L. HONEYMAN.

"Land of love! left again!" sobbed Nancy as her eyes fell on the headlines at the top of the society columns.

"He had to go and marry that freckle-faced Kitty after all—as if he couldn't get a pretty girl like me. It's the limit. That means no roller skating this month, only moping at home instead. Don't deserve to decorate a corner seat either. Even homely Lisa got a good man the other day. She just sat around and went shopping, didn't try to make a living or anything, and she's no richer than I am, either. But, lordy, she's provided for now. Jim never would have looked at Lisa if her Uncle Moses didn't have all those buried money bags. Bet not. Wouldn't that just beat you the way men go after girls with prospects? Wish I had some rich uncles, aunts and things. A bank book is mighty attractive. Wish I had one to carry in my hand as I saunter up Main street. It would catch fellows just as fly paper does flies. Never did have any luck though—only work, work, work. Don't deserve it either—not to have any fun. It isn't my fault I don't have any gentlemen company. I try hard enough, goodness knows. That evening Oscar came I passed the ice water, the smiles, and the angel cake which I made myself. I told him so too, but it didn't do a bit of good. He ate four pieces, though. He didn't have to get so because I smiled at Charley. It isn't my fault that Charley thinks I'm the prettiest girl in town. I learned a lesson, though. So when Shorty called I was as proud as could be, kept my skirt pulled over my ankles and looked straight ahead. I alread all my high school studies and told him I was going for a career. Marrying was the least of my thought. 'Any women could marry,' I said, with an expression on my face to show that I was not sitting around, waiting for him to ask the privilege of paying my charge accounts ever after. One must not appear anxious about a man if she wishes to catch him. Aunt Julie always said so. I just told him right out—that none of this marrying business for me. Of course, I didn't mean it, but he never came back. He took up with that snippy Anna Lee, who hasn't a thimbleful of gray matter. I don't care. Aunt Julie always said:

"Keep the men in the places and they will respect you. I wonder I Aunt Julie knows for sure. Susie Bradshaw got married to a swell hard ware clerk and she said she used to hold hands with Willie. I wonder I she did? It's mighty hard to know what to do in such delicate matters."

"Every girl in town is changing her name to Mrs. Lysander Jones. Mrs. Sam Hill, and other aristocratic names. Wish I could. Everybody says I am pretty, and I am, too. Charley, Rob, and Rollo look at me so that I have to pull my hat down on the side towards them as I pass by. It is so embarrassing. Nannie Ray and Martha Little stand and giggle on the street corner with the boys for at hour. Aunt Julie told me it wasn't nice for girls to talk to boys on the street, and I never do it. I look straight ahead and pass on."

"One Sunday afternoon, I put on my new white dress, with short sleeves and a blue sash. I must have looked right cute, I guess, for a free Alexander called to me. 'Where are you going, sister?' I didn't say anything. If I had, he might have treated me to an ice cream soda. I wish I had now. I guess I'm too distant. I'll have to change my manner."

"The other night when Rollo took me home from the surprise party and squeezed my hand at the gate, jerked it away and fixed him with my glittering eye as best I could in the dark, because Aunt Julie always told me it was an insult for a man to lay the tip of his finger on a girl. I wasn't going to have a man insulting me and I told him so. Gee, but he needed have gotten so mad! I didn't do anything. I am always putting my foot in it, for all I try to do just as Aunt Julie says is proper. But I never have a gentleman friend, while all the other girls who are not so lady like as I am, have beaux to burn. It's the limit."

"Guess I don't care much, though when Bob is around. He is coming home from Japan soon. Quality no quantity in men as in everything else, Aunt Julie says. Bob is quality all right. I always did love Bob. Hope can nab him."

Oboe Players in Demand.
Maude Powell has expressed her surprise that there are not more people learning to play the instrument of reed and brass. "Somewhere in this country," she says, "there is a native born oboe player, but I have never met him. And oboe players are always in demand." As a matter of fact Miss Powell is right. Oboe players, trumpet players, trombone players and clarinet players are always in far greater demand than players of stringed instruments. Good performers on the former instruments draw salaries ranging from $35 to $75 a week, and they can always find employment all through the year.

In Futuro.
"What's your idea of the future four nall?"

"It will be written by advertisers and it will contain nothing calculated to bring a blush to the cheek of the young person except cosmetics."

CIGAR BOXES OF CARDBOARD

Cheap Material Now Used in Exact Imitation of the More Costly Spanish Cedar.

There are now made cigar boxes of cardboard in such exact imitation of Spanish cedar boxes that they might anywhere be taken for the real things.

Three layers of a cardboard specially made for the purpose are pressed together to produce a board of precisely the right thickness, and then upon the outer side there is printed, from an engraved plate and with correct coloring, a photographic reproduction of a sheet of actual Spanish cedar; this reproduction showing the grain of the wood with all its variations and even the tiny little knots, if there are any.

The bottom and the sides for a cardboard box are cut out all in one piece, so that they require neither nailing nor sewing. The end pieces, cut out separately, are wire stitched in by machine, and then the cover is put on, being hinged with the usual piece of muslin.

These cardboard boxes made in imitation of cedar are finished in regulation manner, paper lined and with the usual paper flap to cover the cigars. The outer edges are paper bound in the usual fashion. In its finished state the box contains one nail, the nail always found at the center of the front edge of the cigar box to hold the cover down. These boxes sell for about 30 per cent. less than boxes made of wood.

LIKED THE SUBURBAN LIFE

Country on One Side and Town on the Other an Ideal Existence for Mr. Allen.

The longer I live here the better satisfied I am in having pitched my earthly campfire, gypsylife, on the edge of a town, keeping it on one side, and the green fields, lanes and woods on the other. Each, in turn, is to me as a magnet to the needle.

At times the needle of my nature points towards the country. On that side everything is poetry. I wander over field and forest, and through me runs a glad current of feeling that is like a clear brook across the meadows of May.

At others the needle veers around and I go to town—to the massed haunts of the highest animal and caninial. That way nearly everything is prose. I can feel the prose rising in me as I step along, like hair on the back of a dog, long before any other dogs are in sight. And, indeed, the case is much that of a country dog come to town, so that growls are in order at every corner. The only being in the universe at which I have ever snarled, or with which I have rolled over in the mud and fought like a common cur, is man.—James Lane Allen.

American "Bush Ropes"

Curiously twisted "lanes," or bush ropes, are one of the chief of the many wonderful sights to be seen in the primeval forests of tropical America, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine. They are of great strength and durability, far tougher than the strongest rope. These "lanes" are generally light brown in color and run along the ground and then up into the branches of the trees, where they form fantastic loops. After this aerial journey they may run down to the ground again and thence climb once more to the top of the tallest trees, sometimes reaching several hundred feet in length, and putting out their leaves and flowers only at the tops of the trees. The very largest kind is called the liantasso, or "monkey ladder," by the natives in Trinidad. One species, when cut, gives forth a stream of the purest cool water, which is a great boon to the thirsty traveler.

Very Easy Money.

An Abilene (Kan.) paper tells how a crowd of college boys, seeking work in the harvest fields, were bunched in that town. The confidence man was a big, fine looking fellow and this was the talk he gave the collegians: "I'm J. J. Jackson. I'm looking for about twenty high grade harvesters for the Jackson ranch, which my father owns. We have several girls from the east visiting us, and as the women have to be alone a great deal we don't want to depend on the ordinary class of labor. You fellows are college men, and you look all right to me. If you'll let me have a dollar as a pledge of good faith I'll take you along." Twenty in one group paid a dollar apiece, and that is the last any one saw of Mr. Jackson.

Hadn't Had Time.

Miss Sentimental—Charlie did you ever allow your mind to pierce the secret of the universe, to reason that this dull, cold earth is but the sepulcher of ages past, that man in all his glory is but the soil we tread, which every breeze wafts in an ever-shifting maze, to be found and lost in an infinity of particles—the dust of centuries, reunited and dissolving as long as time shall endure?
Charles—No, I dunno as I did. You see, I've had to earn my living.

Baiting Her.
"What are you cutting out of the paper?"
"About a California man securing a divorce because his wife was 'through his pockets.'"

"What are you going to do with it?"
"Put it in my pocket."—Boston Transcript

AS THE BURGLAR VIEWS IT

National Board of Control Favored by Mr. Velvet Pillowfeet, So Well and Widely Known.

Mr. Velvet Pillowfeet, the widely known burglar, returned from Europe yesterday on the Pelumptic. When asked about the business situation he said:

"There is no need for worry over the burglar business. In spite of the disturbance of recent months, underlying conditions are sound and resources are plentiful. And yet, although I am thoroughly optimistic, I want to say that no noticeable revival of burglary can be looked for at once. So long as the authorities continue their meddling, and so long as the people are willing to listen to inflammatory agitators, our solidest burglars will not undertake new commitments. The public mind has been stirred up until they think burglars are much worse than they really are. It is actually coming to the point in this country where a man who is good to his family cannot turn a dishonest penny without having to undergo annoying investigations by congress and the police and muckrakers.

"I do not deny, of course, that burglary should be regulated, nor do I object to a modicum of government control, which might even go so far as to limit the amount which a duly licensed burglar might make at any one haul, but I do think that burglary should be taken out of politics. For this purpose I favor the creation of a national burglary board, to be appointed by the president and composed of leading respectable burglars."

QUAINT NAMES GIVEN CLUBS

London Institutions Seem to Have Been Designed for All Sorts of Queer People.

The title "Cave of the Golden Cal" bestowed on London's first cabaret theater club, which opened its doors recently, recalls other curiously named clubs which have flourished in this country at different times.

For instance, there was the "Calves Head club," founded in "ridicule of the memory of Charles I."

"The Everlasting" was a purely so cial club, with a membership of 100 souls.

"The Little club" was a distinctly original institution. It was intended for those not five feet high. The door was made high enough to admit a man five feet and no more.

There were, many others, eccentric in name and tradition, which flourished during the eighteenth century, such as "The Great Bottle club," "The No Sals Quol club," "The Sons of the Thames" and the "No Pay No Liquor club," whose members on the first night of joining were obliged to pay an entrance fee of one shilling and wear a hat shaped like a quart pot.—London Tit-Bits.

Winter Home

A New York letter in the Munich Gazette speaks of the pleasures of shopping in the great cities of the United States, and lays particular stress on the "fairness" of the rules under which all stores seem to work. "It makes no difference," says the writer, "how unfamiliar one is with the language and the currency—he has the same place in the line of patrons with the natives. Police salesmen and saleswomen show the goods, which are seldom urged upon the customer; the prices are fixed, and one knows that he buys at the same figure without bidding less, as his neighbor who tries to pinch the price. In one place I purchased goods to the value of 7 marks, listened to a fine concert, took tea at a small price, wrote several letters in a beautiful room at no cost save the postage, and found the goods at my home when I reached there a few hours later."

Why It Has a Hump.

Keepers of the zoological gardens are expected to know all the facts and theories of natural history, and, as they do not, they sometimes have to manufacture explanations. One of the men in the Philadelphia zoo was asked, by a visitor, what the hump on the camel's back was for. "What's it for?" repeated the keeper, in a dazed way. "Yes, of what value is it?" The keeper thought real hard for a minute, and then said, gravely: "Why, sir, do you suppose folks would come miles to see this animal if it didn't have a hump? Sir, a camel if it didn't have a hump might just as well be a cow. That's the use of the hump!"

Something Like It.

"Will you have some mocking bird soup?"
A new waitress in a family hotel on the hill startled the diners last evening by asking this question. "I'll not eat at this hotel again. I'm a member of the Audubon society. The very idea! Making soup out of mocking birds!" indignantly remarked a woman.

"I'll take a chance on it just once," said her husband.

"I made a mistake," she said. "It was mock turtle soup."

But That Was Long Ago.

Hewitt—Times have changed.
Jewett—Right you are; I remember when a pedestrian had an even chance for his life when he tried to cross the street.

EDITORIAL

The nomination of candidates for the senate and house of representatives by the so called Progressive party in this district will create a situation, which should command the gravest consideration by the voters of this city. While our usual large Republican majority in both senatorial and representative districts has always assured the election of the Republican candidates, the new alignment this fall, may result in the election of the Democratic candidates.

I believe the interests of this city demand the election of the Republican candidates both for the senate and the house. All of them are reputable men, all of them have seen legislative service and all of them are familiar with the needs and interests of the city and the district.
To defeat such men would be a calamity as a thorough examination of the records of the Democratic candidates will prove. In addition Newton has an additional interest in the election of the Republican candidates for the next legislature will choose a United States senator and our own townsman, Congressman John W.
Weeks will undoubtedly be a candidate for that honor, in case the legislature is republican. As neither the Democratic nor Progressive candidates will support Mr. Weeks for that office, every friend of the Congressman should cast his vote and use his influence to elect the right man.

Moreover, every Republican vote cast through friendship or otherwise for the Progressive candidates will render possible the election of John F. Fitzgerald to the United States senate.

The city government should give more than passing attention to the demands being made for street widen-ings and construction. It is a good investment to layout streets, even under the betterment act, and the old policy of refusing to accept streets until the owners had placed them in apple pie order, should be carefully reconsidered.

The layout of Farlow Hill is one of the examples to which the finger of pride can point. In this district,
the streets were not only constructed,
but the sewer, water and gas pipes were laid, before the surface was finished. This hill is now splendidly developed and makes large returns to the city treasury through the taxes assessed. There are many similar districts in Newton, which would yield equally large returns if handled in the same way.

Next week we shall issue a Trade edition of the Newton Graphic which will be a credit to the city. About one hundred and fifty of our business men and merchants have assisted us in making this, a notable number of the Graphic. The edition will be a revelation to many of our readers who do not know the full extent of the business done within our city limits. Watch out for the Trade edition.

The widening of Pearl street which will be given a hearing next Monday at City Hall should be urged by every citizen of Newton, where the present narrow width of that street is a positive danger to everyone using it.

The police officers have filed their annual petition for an increase of pay. These men are working for the same salary as was fixed 14 years ago, and in all justice their claim should have favorable consideration.

CLARK-ADAMS

The marriage of Mr. Harold Symes
Clark of Auburndale, and Miss Harriet Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Adams of Clifton-dale, took place last evening at eight o'clock at the First Congregational Church of that town.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry C. Adams, father of the bride, assisted by Rev. Dr. Francis E.
Clark, father of the groom.

The bride was given in white crepe meteor, trimmed with white lace, from her mother's wedding
dress. Miss Mira Norton Adams, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and wore yellow crepe meteor with over dress of yellow chiffon with silver trimmings. Mr. Sydney Aymer Clark of Auburndale, brother of the groom, was the best man. Mr. William F. Chase of West Newton, brother-in-law of the groom, was an usher and he was assisted by Messrs. Wilbur I. Bull of Billerica, Howard D.
Barton of Newton Centre and Carl A.
Perkins of Boston.

The church was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, palms and bay
trees, and Mr. William A. Hewitt, Harvard, 15, of West Medway, was at the organ.

A reception followed at the parsonage on Essex street. Mr. and Mrs.
Clark being assisted in receiving their friends by Rev. and Mrs. Adams and Rev. and Mrs. Clark. The house was most attractive in asparagus vine and yellow garden flowers, violets and lavender chrysanthemums.

After a wedding trip to Grand Beach, Me., Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside at 379 Central street, Auburndale, where they will be at home after October 7th.

The groom is a graduate of the Newton High School, of Dartmouth College, '09, and after teaching in Oak College, Honolulu, entered Harvard and received the degree of A. M. in Germany. He is now a teacher in the Country Day School at Newton.

The bride is a graduate of Mr. Holyoke, 11, and has acted as pastor's assistant at the Congregational Church at North Andover.

There was an unusual feature about the wedding, as it was celebrated upon the wedding anniversary of both Rev. and Mrs. Adams, parents of the bride and Rev. and Mrs. Clark, parents of the groom.

TABLET UNVEILED

A tablet was unveiled in the Auburndale Congregational Church last Sunday morning in memory of the first pastor, Rev. Edward W.
Clark, with appropriate services.

The tablet was erected by his adopted son, the Rev. Dr. Francis E.
Clark, president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Dr. Clark also delivered a short sermon on his father's life, telling of his war record, he being chaplain in the 47th Massachusetts Regiment in the Civil War, his record
while a member of the Massachusetts Senate was also referred to by his adopted son, and where he had served as pastor in such places as Claremont, Reading and Auburndale.

The Rev. Edward W. Clark died about nine years ago in Westboro, Mass., at the age of 83. He was a graduate of Dartmouth College, and Andover Seminary and was active as a G. A. R. member. He was widely known throughout New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

PALESTINE CHAPTER

Temple Hall, Newtonville, was the scene of the annual visit, inspection, exemplification and banquet of the members of Palestine Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star last Tuesday night. The affair was witnessed by the grand officers, including Mrs.
Ella B. French, Grand Matron; Mrs.
Guy A. Ham, Grand Patron and Miss Ethel L. Parley, Grand Marshal, and an extra large number of members were on hand to welcome the Grand Officers.

The degree work was a pleasing feature of the evening, which was followed by the banquet. The present officers of the Chapter are Mrs.
Dorothy Sprague, Worthy Matron,
and Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, Worthy Patron.

POLITICAL NIGHT

The Men's League of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church opened its season last night with a meeting at which the political activities of its members were invited.
Mr. J. Weston Allen, the president, was in charge, and Republican principles were advocated by Hon. Seward W. Jones, Mr. Albert S. Hutchinson, Mr. Frank L. Richardson, Mr.
E. J. Bosson. Democratic policies were favored by Mr. Hiram A. Miller and Rev. Mr. Kimball, while the Progressive party was endorsed by Mr. C. S.
Lutweller, Mr. Fred W. Cole, Mr.
George H. Mellen, Mr. Edward H.
Ruby and Mr. Jackson. There was a most interesting discussion, followed by the usual informal lunch.

BASEBALL NOTES

John F. Collins of Upper Falls, famously known throughout the city
as "Shono," the only Major League player from this city, will soon join the ranks of the benedicts. The engagement of Mr. Collins and Miss Elizabeth C. Doyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Doyle of Union street, Springfield, was announced this week, and the wedding will take place the latter part of this month, after the big league season comes to a close. Mr. Collins is at present a shining light on the Chicago "White Sox" and met his prospective bride
while a member of the Springfield team of the Connecticut League two years ago.

The third and deciding game in the Massachusetts Police Baseball League will be played at the National League Grounds next Wednesday at 10.30 a. m. The Metropolitan team won in the Northern division, while the Newton Police team carried off
the honors in the Southern division.
Both teams will play next Wednesday
for the league championship.

Much interest is being aroused in police circles as to which of these teams will win the pennant. Several mayors and chiefs of police have signified their intention to be present at the game. The use of the grounds were extended to the league
by Pres. James Gaffney of the Boston Nationals. Thomas Duffy, an ex-New England League umpire, will umpire the game.

The Newton Catholic Club baseball team will meet an All-Star aggregation on the West Newton Playground Saturday afternoon. Most of the All Stars will be picked from players on the Upper and Lower Falls teams and also from last year's High School nine, and a good game is looked for.

The Nonantum Boys' Club, by defeating the Newton Y. M. C. A. intermediates 4 to 3 last Saturday afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. field claim the championship of the 16
and 18 year old teams of the city.
The Eagles of Newton Centre were defeated by the Nonantum team, as well as many other strong nines
from surrounding cities and towns.
Ted pitched a good game Saturday,
holding the opposing team to one hit.
Litchfield and Shivers combined the battery for the losing team.

MR. WHITE DEAD

The death of Mr. Walter White, an old resident of this city took place last Tuesday at his home, 316 Franklin street, after a lingering illness.
Mr. White was for many years engaged in the rubber business in Boston and during his residence in this city was a well known attendant at the Channing Unitarian Church, and also a member of the Hunnewell Club.

He was born in Quincy on April 6, 1833, and has been retired from active business for 20 years, during which time he has devoted himself to art painting, having many excellent pieces of his work in his home.
He is survived by a widow. The funeral was held from his late home yesterday noon. Rev. Harry Lutz, pastor of the Channing Church of Refecting and the interment was in Newton Cemetery.

W. C. T. U.

The Newton W. C. T. U. met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Wm. Mick, Parker street, Newton Centre.

Mr. Case of Acton, Mass was the speaker for the afternoon.

There was a large attendance. New members are being constantly added to the Union.

There is a most encouraging outlook for work this year in the noble cause of temperance.

SCHIPPER-CALDWELL

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Grace Caldwell, a popular member of Newton society, took place on Saturday afternoon at her home in The Hunnewell, and was witnessed by a small company of relatives and intimate friends. Miss Caldwell, daughter of Mr. Herbert Caldwell of Newton, became the bride of Mr.
Frederick Gorham Schipper, son of Mrs. Anna Schipper of Pekin, Ill. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock
by Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of the Central Congregational Church of the bridal party standing beneath a canopy of laurel and white roses in the reception room, which was decorated with lavender colored asters and asparagus vine. The natural attractiveness of the bride, who is a charming young lady of the brunette type, was greatly enhanced by an exquisite Paris gown of white satin draped with white chiffon. She wore a veil of Brusselle lace and carried a shower bou-quet of lilies of the valley. The bride was given in marriage by her father and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Phyllis Betts Caldwell, as maid of honor, who was attractively gowned in lavender chif-fon, and asparagus vine. The groom was attended by Mr. S. A. Fritz Ely of Newton Centre
as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Homer Ely of Newton Centre, Carl Block and Bonny Look of Peoria, Ill., Carl Schipper of Newton-ville and John Schipper of Pennsylvania. Following the ceremony a large and brilliant reception was held at the Newton Club, which was artistically decorated with asters,
a color scheme of green and lavender being carried out to perfection, using lavender colored asters backed by greenery.

Mr. and Mrs. Schipper were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Anna Schipper, mother of the groom, and Mr. Herbert M. Caldwell, the bride's father.

Music was furnished by Handley's Orchestra and guests prominent in social life were present from Boston, Brookline and the Newtons, including relatives and friends from New York and Canada, among the latter being Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caldwell and Mr. Arthur Caldwell of New York City. Mrs. Caldwell and Mr. Samuel Caldwell of Rochester, N. Y., Mr. Clarence Caldwell of Toronto, Canada. After an extended wedding trip, (which was post-poned on account of the serious illness of the bride's brother, Mr.
Edward Charlton Caldwell) Mr. and Mrs. Schipper will reside at 1590 Centre street, Newton Highlands and will be at home to their friends after December 1st.

SMITH-MERCHANT

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Durbin, Floral street, Newton Highlands last Tuesday evening, the wedding of their niece, Miss Mabel Clare Merchant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Merchant of McConnelville, Ohio, and Arthur Barr Smith, M. D., of Springfield, Ohio, took place. The ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate relatives of the couple, and was performed by Rev. William Hodge, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The couple were unattended and the bride's cousin, Miss Margaret Durbin, acted as flower girl. The bride was attired in a gown of white messaline with point lace trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of brides' roses. Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Cleveland,
the couple will make their home at 863 Limestone road, Springfield, Ohio.

Waban

At a meeting of the Waban Improvement Association held Wednesday evening, Ernest Hermann, superintendent of playgrounds, outlined his plan for play on the Waban Playground. The association voted to offer cups for a tennis tournament which will be started next week, and also expressed their appreciation for the excellent tennis courts which the city constructed for them. Supervised play is held on the playground on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and all day Saturday, under the direction of Charles Foote and Miss Edmonds.

Waban

Mr. McHale has discontinued his express business.

Mr. Harry H. Ham has moved into his recently completed residence on Windsor road.

Mr. Francis X. Barr and family, formerly of Collins road, have moved to Auburndale.

Mrs. D. E. Cummings has removed this week from Avalon road to Cheswick road, Auburndale.

Mr. Whitaker from Brighton has moved into the house on Woodward street recently purchased by him.

Mrs. John B. May and children of Waban avenue are spending the week at their old home, Duxbury.

Mr. Cyrus Jenness is moving into the house at 116 Moffat road formerly occupied by Mr. McHale.

Harold Hayes of Woodward street has gone to Annapolis where he will attend the Woerntz School.

Stanley Arend of Windsor road left this week for Mississippi where he is to enter the lumber business.

Mr. Frederick Parsons and family formerly of Allston, have moved into their new house on Kelvedon road.

Mr. Harry H. Ham formerly of Dorchester is now occupying his recently completed house on Windsor road.

Mr. A. C. Dunham and family formerly of Auburndale are now occupying the Robinson house on Windsor road.

On October 11th at 8 P. M. the registrars of voters will hold session in Waban Hall. About thirty Waban men should register that night.

Miss Mary L. Edmonds instructor for the girls on the playground has planned a tennis tournament to take place in the near future for which the girls are now entering their names.

The executive committee of the Waban Improvement Society met at the home of President Angier Tuesday evening and failed to become alarmed at the prospect of the Grand Trunk coming through Waban, but the committee is to become active on other matters this fall.

Rev. Andrew W. Archibald, D. D. of Newton Centre will have as a guest on Sunday the Rev. Charles H. Cutler, D. D., recently pastor of the First Church, Bangor, Maine, who has accepted his host's invitation to fill the pulpit of the Union Church on Sunday morning.

Handicap mixed doubles in which there promises to be much interest displayed by the members, is the program at the Waban Tennis Courts for Columbus Day. The ladder tournament has failed to displace Rhodes Garrison and Alfred Turner from the top of the list although they have been challenged and played many.

The junction of Beacon and Chestnut streets which has been a dangerous crossing for automobiles, owing to the growth of shrubs on the corners which obstructed the view, has been made safer by the action of the Forest Commissioner Charles I. Buckman, in clearing the shrubbery, and giving a better view for approaching automobiles.

WHAT A VOTE FOR MR. TAFT MEANS

An Analysis Of The Present Situation By William J. Tucker LL.D.

EX-PRESIDENT OF DARTMOUTH

Says a Vote for President Taft Is a Vote for Political Veracity—Also a Vote to Maintain the Independence of the Presidential Office.

(Reprinted by permission from the Congregationalist and Christian World of August 22.)

Doubtless a many Republicans, now that the political situation is defined, are proposing to vote for Mr. Wilson—more, probably, than will eventually cast their vote for him. It will become increasingly evident, I think, as the campaign advances that such a course would be an evasion; if, that is, one should vote for Mr. Wilson to escape the alternative of Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt. The independent voter, who has always been a large factor in the Republican party, has never hesitated thus far to assert his convictions in the most direct way possible. A vote to escape a dilemma is not a genuine exercise of political independence.

I offer no criticism of those who are proposing to vote for Mr. Wilson with a view to identifying themselves with the Democratic party, or of those who, without this definite intention, believe that it is for the best interests of the country that the Democratic party should now be put in power. I would not affirm that it is not for the best interests of the country that the Democratic party should now return to power. The public takes the fortune of political parties and on the whole profits thereby. If the Democratic party returns to power through the popular acceptance of its distinctive principles, or because of popular confidence in its candidates, the return will be natural and may be beneficial. If the Democratic party returns to power through the impotence or fears of a considerable number of Republicans the result may not be beneficial, and will not be lasting.

My contention is with the intelligent and responsible voter in the Republican party who is disposed to evade the responsibilities which have fallen upon him by virtue of his party affiliations. It is the wrong time, as I reckon times and seasons in politics, to throw off party affiliations and responsibilities when the questions at issue within a given party are more vital than those which divide the parties.

Roosevelt's Personality and the Campaign

The injection of the personality of Mr. Roosevelt into the present political situation has entirely changed its character. It has made it something other than a political situation. Mr. Roosevelt is perhaps the only man in the country who could have effected such a change by the use of his personality. His responsibility to the country lies in the use of his personality, because therein lies his power rather than in the advocacy of well-defined political principles. One never thinks of Mr. Roosevelt first, if at all, in any representative capacity. He must, therefore, be judged politically by the use which he makes of his personality, by the manner of its use if not the motive, by the personal ends which he seeks to accomplish, and by the personal methods through which he strives to reach those ends.

When the leaders of the Progressives in many of the states turned over the movement to Mr. Roosevelt, or allowed him to come in and dominate it (it is not yet quite clear which was the actual fact), the whole issue was changed from Progressiveness to Rooseveltism. The present party alignment, outside the reform parties, is simply a question of Democracy, Republicanism, and Rooseveltism.

I make a distinction between Mr. Roosevelt and Rooseveltism. For Mr. Roosevelt at his best I have had very much admiration and respect. I had regarded him as one of our most valuable national assets, a man to be counted upon for constant and varied service to the country. When the whole issue was changed from Progressiveness to Rooseveltism, I was disappointed.

The observation of a great man with himself goes very far toward neutralizing his greatness, for it betrays and brings to light qualities which are altogether lacking in greatness. One result of the recent self-betrayal of the weakness of Mr. Roosevelt has been to bring out the strength of Mr. Taft; and this not only at the points of contrast, but at the points where Mr. Roosevelt had been counted strong. The splendid courage of Mr. Taft under attack and revolt, his indomitable optimism, his sturdy adherence to principles and his absolute straightforwardness are characteristics of which the country is beginning to be well apprised. They are making their impression. Mr. Taft may lack the training and the varied accomplishments of the political gladiator or "warrior," but not the red blood which under provocation stirs him to do "all that may become a man."

It is impossible to put aside the personalities of the campaign in view of the use which Mr. Roosevelt has seen fit to make of his personality. I will state, however, in general terms, so far as possible, the reasons which to my own mind justify my intention to vote for Mr. Taft. The statement of these reasons will call up incidents and events which, though recent, are in danger of being forgotten. Those ought to be kept steadily in mind to give the true perspective through which to view the political situation. We cannot afford, in the intent of truth, to allow the course of events leading up to present conditions to become covered over with the dust of the campaign. These events are an essential part of the campaign.

Independence of Presidential Office.

In the first place, I regard a vote for Mr. Taft as a vote to maintain the independence of the Presidential office. The attack of Mr. Roosevelt upon Mr. Taft, especially the manner of it, was a public dishonoring of a close personal friendship. For anything that appeared then or for anything that has appeared since, it was an unworthy act. It was a cowardly act contrary to Mr. Roosevelt's first honorable impulses, and to many of his friends gave evidence which could not be ignored that he was beginning to part company with his better self. To his enemies it was simply a continuation of their charges in regard to his unscrupulous friendships.

But the act had a much deeper significance. It was virtually the impeachment of the President by his predecessor in office, now assuming the role of dictator under the guise of a tribune of the people. The self-constituted tribune of the people is the new type of the political boss. We have had party bosses who were credited with having been the makers and unmakers of Presidents. The new kind of political boss deals with forces far more subtle and effective than those which have been within reach of the party boss; namely, popular prejudices, excitements and discontents, and those economic generalities which can be so easily made to serve political ends. The strong man armed with these resources can at any time constitute himself a tribune of the people. His special opportunity is at the time when the re-nomination of a President according to the accepted custom is pending.

Mr. Bryan will have such an opportunity at the close of Mr. Wilson's first term of office, should Mr. Wilson be elected. Will he in that event follow the precedent set by Mr. Roosevelt? This question of the independence of the Presidential office has been thrust upon us and may as well be settled now as ever. Better a single term, better even an open recall, than any enforced subordination of a legally elected President to a self-constituted tribune. The greatest danger thus far to the Presidential office grows out of the habit of selecting a candidate for his availability. A greater danger awaits the office in the selection of a man for his subservience.

Political Veracity Second Issue. In the second place I regard a vote for Mr. Taft as a vote in the interest of political veracity. Apart from questions connected with certain cabinet appointments, the sum of Mr. Taft's offending was his action on the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. That was the ground of progressive insurgency. The sincerity of Mr. Roosevelt in capitalizing insurgency based on this issue may be judged by considering his attitude toward the tariff, both when President and now as a candidate. Insurgency on this issue was utilized by him as borrowed capital. The primary campaign then inaugurated was run largely on borrowed capital. What original contribution to the Progressive program has been made by him except that of the recall of judicial decisions? Each item of the program has been taken up in turn, calculated, and utilized according to its exact political value. Everywhere the politician has been in evidence rather than the reformer; nowhere more conspicuously than in the adoption and utilization of woman's suffrage.

In like manner it is very hard to reckon the violent inconsistencies of Mr. Roosevelt simply as inconsistencies; hard, for example, to reconcile on this ground his tirades against bosses with his special instructions to the boss of Pennsylvania to take an active part in the preliminaries to the Republican Convention; hard to reconcile his denunciations of the political use of money by the trusts with his silence when questioned repeatedly by Mr. LaFollette regarding the financial support of his campaign. The whole atmosphere of the primary campaign was charged with exaggeration and misrepresentation, misrepresentations which could be met only by the specific corrections of the President in person. The constant appeals to the "honest people" came perilously near being political cant.

The Chicago Republican Convention.

As the time for the convention approached numerous claims in respect to delegates were made which were proved to be fraudulent in so great proportion as to cast doubt upon every claim presented. I believe that these fraudulent charges, urged with such vehemence by Mr. Roosevelt, cost him his nomination. Had the campaign been marked by strict political veracity the presumption would have been in his favor. As claim after claim was admitted to be fraudulent the presumption changed to his great moral disadvantage. Certainly the subsequent charges about stealing the nomination made little public impression, though there was a manifest sympathy with Mr. Roosevelt's disappointment in view of his large primary vote in the great Republican states. As the actual facts have come out, I think that the public is more and more prepared to acquiesce in the formal statement of Mr. Root to the effect that "Your title to the nomination is as clear and unimpeachable as the title of any candidate since political conventions began." That ought to be good authority to Mr. Roosevelt himself. It was Mr. Root who gave him a clear title to the Panama Canal.

It is not pleasant to reopen this chapter in our recent political history, but it ought to be reopened, and it ought to stand open throughout the campaign which is pending. It is an exhibit of methods which ought to be rebuked in the interest of political veracity. The present is no time for gross inconsistencies in the advocacy of political reforms, no time for exaggerations and misrepresentations. It is time for political candor of any sort, time for more politics. It is the time to speak and act the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

The People Versus Paternalism.

In the third place I regard a vote for Mr. Taft as a vote to protect the rights of the people as against the surrender of these rights to paternalism. The political record of Mr. Roosevelt, as told in the events of the past months, showing his steady assumption of the ways and methods of the politician, would awaken grave misgivings were this an ordinary political campaign. It is not an ordinary political campaign. The recent convention at Chicago did much more than to make Mr. Roosevelt a candidate, even a third-term candidate, for the Presidency. It virtually declared him, after the Roman fashion, to be the one man indispensable to the safety of the republic.

The keynote of Mr. Roosevelt's confession of faith was the centralization of power; the formula for the application of the principle was equally clear—Trust the power to me. And the response of the convention was only too well expressed in the campaign song introduced by one of the delegations and caught up, as reported, with great enthusiasm:

"Follow, follow,
We will follow Roosevelt
Anywhere, everywhere
We will follow on."

I do not make light of the movement inaugurated at Chicago. The danger from it is in exact proportion to its moral earnestness.

If good men and women, some of them among the best in the country, have become possessed with the idea of the indispensable man, it is the most unfavorable symptom yet to be found in the social and political condition of the country. The moment the theory of the indispensable man takes possession of a democracy it ceases to be a democracy. Reforms which cannot be carried out through the steady evolution of democratic principles are beyond the reach of democracy.

There is a fascination about the entrance of a new party into the political field—everything new, no inherited evils, no bosses, no corruption, no feuds, no pledges exact to the people. A program of promises is alluring. I am profoundly in sympathy with the spirit of the program of social justice outlined by the new party. Social justice is the present goal of all true progressivism. What guarantee does the party offer that it can maintain its pristine purity and fulfill its promises? The answer is Mr. Roosevelt. The answer is entirely fair, for it is evident that without Mr. Roosevelt the party has no existence. It is therefore as fair as it is necessary to analyze Mr. Roosevelt's recent political record, and if one finds there the signs of political deterioration to determine his own political duty accordingly. I have indicated the result of my analysis.

Mr. Taft Stands Four Square to Every Wind.

By contrast the course of Mr. Taft, as it appears under the light of the primary campaign, seems to me to show assured political advance. He stands today, as I see him, "four square," amid the diversities of political doctrine, holding the ground and marking the way of progress. Without doubt the natural gifts of Mr. Taft are judicial more than merely administrative, remarkable as was his government of the Philippines. His administration naturally began in the resolute endeavor to put the policy of his predecessor into law. Gradually but surely Mr. Taft has asserted his power in the enforcement of the laws for the protection of popular rights. Whatever mistakes he has made they are such as a politician would never make, but such as a statesman might make. The greater things accomplished, like his judicial appointments and the breaking up of objectionable trusts, and the greater things attempted, like reciprocity and international peace, will stand to his credit in history whatever the result of the campaign. In spite of popular discontents often fomented for political ends, in spite of party disaffections, the country has made steady political progress under his administration. The Republican party has never put forth so progressive a platform as that on which Mr. Taft stands for re-election. In fact, the controlling question in the coming campaign is simply this—What kind of progress do the people want? coupled with the hardly less serious question, In what assurances of progress do the people confide? My insistence in this article has been that the broad lines of cleavage are between Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt, not between the Republican and the Democratic party. The political purpose of Mr. Roosevelt is so clear that he who runs may read—to attempt to swamp Mr. Taft in the popular vote of 1912 with the moral certainty of thereby defeating Mr. Wilson or the Democratic nominee in 1916. A vote for Mr. Taft virtually covers two campaigns. I hold no brief for the Republican party. Party obligations in ordinary times sit lightly upon me. At the present time I am more than ready to travel the road of political progress, perhaps farther and faster than the Republican party may be able in the future to guarantee passage. I am not ready to be propelled or to be sidetracked into Rooseveltism.

ONLY ONE VETERAN LEFT NOW

Colonel John L. Clem Last of Civil War Officers on Army's Active List.

With the recent retirement of Major Daniel W. Arnold but one officer who had seen service in the civil war will be left on the active list of the United States army. This officer is Colonel John L. Clem of the quartermaster's department, now serving as chief quartermaster of the central division, with headquarters at Chicago.

Colonel Clem served as musician of Company C, Twenty-second Michigan infantry, from May 1, 1863, to Sept. 10, 1864. He entered the regular army as a second lieutenant of the Twenty-fourth infantry in December, 1871. He is a native of Ohio. He was born on Aug. 18, 1851, and may serve three years more on the active list if he wishes to.

Major Arnold, who retired because he had reached the age of sixty-four years, got his civil war service as a private in Company B, One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Illinois infantry, from May 14, 1864, to Oct. 25, the same year.

CLARK WRECKED HIS DESK.

Pounded Away One Entire Section in Nine Months, Repair Men Find.

Repair men in examining the furniture of the house discovered that Speaker Clark had used his gavel with such effect that virtually the entire top of the desk was wrecked.

One entire section had been pounded away, leaving a large hole concealed by the green felt that covers the desk. The speaker throughout the session made vigorous use of the gavel on all occasions. According to old members, no speaker since Thomas B. Reed had employed the mallet with such freedom.

ELECTRIC SHOW

"My! isn't it beautiful," said half a dozen people at once when they walked into Mechanics Building to see The 1912 Boston Electric Show Monday night.

"Why, land's sake! I never supposed that you could make this building look as beautiful as this," remarked several people as they came in together to see the Electric Show on the opening night, Saturday, the 28th.

Two other people from out of town took pains to hunt up the Manager of the Show, Tuesday, to tell him how magnificent they thought it was. One of them was a prominent business man in New York City; the other was a man familiar with the electrical business from its beginning. Both of these gentlemen said they never had imagined that anybody would even attempt, much less be able to carry out, the wonderful plans that have been adopted here.

It is truly a wonderful Show. The street illumination with its brilliant, blazing flame arc lamps of 2500 C. P. each, in colors of pink and green; the delicate tracery of the outlines of Mechanics Building with over 40,000 different colored lamps; the wonderful mosaic patterns and the brilliant electric sign of letters 20 feet high, make an amazing spectacle which sheds a glow of light far into the sky, and has caused many a query in suburban towns as to "what the fire is in Boston."

The interior of the building surpasses everyone's powers of imagination.

People, especially in suburban towns, should remember that this Electric Show in its interior beauty, the elaborateness of its lighting effects, and the completeness of its exhibits and programs of entertainment, is as good to see in the daytime as at night. It is even better to see, because there is not the great crowd that there is in the evening. There are thousands of people in the suburban territory who can come to this Show as conveniently in the daytime as in the evening.

Why not come, then, and leave the evening for the people who must be employed during the daytime, and can have no other time to see it than at night?

Never has so much in the way of beauty, delight and entertainment and instruction, been given for a single admission price of twenty-five cents. The great building with its 125,000 feet of exhibit floor space is filled with wonder working exhibits. It is full of instruction. Creator's great band is giving different musical programs every afternoon and evening during the first two weeks. Don't wait until later in the month. Go now, because you will certainly go a second time.

After you have had one visit, you will be like the man who, as he was leaving the Show Monday night, exclaimed as he gave a final glance around of the halls, "Oh, well! let's go home now, we will simply have to come again."

NEWTON WINS TWO

High School Football Team Victorious in two Hard Contests the Past Week

Newton High School football team maintained its clean slate during the past week by winning both contests in which it had engaged, emerging from the game with Wellesley High last Saturday at Wellesley 6 to 0, and overwhelming the Medford H. S. eleven on Clifton Field last Tuesday 21 to 0. The local eleven showed its superiority in both contests in all branches of the game, particularly in delivering and receiving the forward pass, which was worked with much success.

The game with Winthrop a week ago yesterday evidently tired out the local players considerably by their showing against the Wellesley team, as they lacked the usual snap which they display. The team, however, made up what it lacked in the Wellesley game against the reputed strong Medford team, rushing the visiting players off their feet, scoring three touchdowns, while the Medford team was held scoreless.

Many penalties were imposed on both Newton and Wellesley teams in their annual game, but the close score made the game very interesting from a spectator's standpoint. Newton scored its touchdown by straight line bucking, although the forward pass was the means of bringing the ball into their opponents' territory. The first quarter ended with a no score, and in the third and last quarter the local players were unable to add to the six points made during the second period.

The defeat administered the Medford team was a surprise to everybody. Medford so far this season defeated some of the best Greater Boston School teams, and many thought that a tie score would show Newton off in good style. The Orange and Black team, however, entered the contest with a fighting spirit and kept this up until the final whistle announced the game ended.

The first period ended with neither side scoring, although Newton kept the ball mostly in other sides territory. In the following period the local players recovered the ball on Medford's ten yard line, and on the third down with four yards to gain, the ball was safely carried over the goal line by Brady on a cross tackle play.

Two more touchdowns were scored in the following period, although holding by a Newton player brought the ball back to its former position again for play. On the very next rush a similar play was tried that proved successful previously, the forward pass being taken over the line this time by Capt. Wilbur.

A well directed forward pass from Hyatt into the waiting arms of Harris scored the final touchdown for the Newton team in the last quarter. Harris caught the ball in the middle of the field, and although several of the opposing players were close at hand, the fleet-footed end, soon out-distanced them, until safely behind the goal post. Brady kicked two goals from touchdowns, missing one by a few scant inches.

The visiting players used several foul tactics during the game, Kerr being banished during the second quarter for slugging. Van Buskirk was laid out for a few minutes during the last quarter, being kicked in the back, and earlier in the game received a slight cut over his left eye.

Tomorrow the local team will have as its opponents the Boston Latin School eleven, and this like the previous ones should be a good one.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Establish New Policy by Granting Pensions to City Employees—Interesting Debate on Laying Out of Streets

The usual bunch of hearings were held at the opening session of the aldermen Monday evening, and many of those attending the hearings, remained to watch the business of the board.

President Gray called the board to order but relinquished the chair almost immediately to Vice President Moore, who presided for the remainder of the session.

The only members absent were Aldermen Calkins, Hatch and Sullivan.

Mr. Gould represented the Edison Co. on its petitions for pole locations on Lowell avenue and Prescott street, and a letter of protest was filed from W. H. Eaves. Opposition developed on the petition of the same company for poles on Lake avenue, ex-alderman G. H. Mellen filing a strong protest from residents of the street. No one appeared against the matter of poles on Mt. Vernon street, nor on the petitions of Fred R. Hayward to keep gasoline on Centre street, of R. M. Clark to keep gasoline on Homer street, of Allen D. Craig to locate a stationary engine on Adams street extension, and of Manuel M. Enos to locate a stationary engine on California street.

The rounding of the corner of River and Lexington streets, the taking of land for a sewer in Warren terrace and changing a drain location on Hunnewell hill were unopposed.

Mr. J. R. Learned and Mr. W. S. Hayden spoke strongly in favor of the widening of Pearl street at Centre street, and Mr. Daniel O'Connell, who represented the Duggan estate, was the only remonstrant. Concrete sidewalks on Henshaw street were advocated by Mr. Reihalter and opposed by Mr. Trowbridge and Mr. Nelson. Concrete sidewalks on Bourne street were favored by Mr. G. W. Langley and by Mr. Adams.

Mr. Patrick Collins filed a written protest against the proposed sewer in Carter street.

Mayor Hatfield sent in the appointment of Stephen H. Whidden of West Newton, as chairman for three years. Mr. George Royal Pulsifer of Newtonville, for two years and Mr. Lewis H. Bacon of Waban for one year, as members of the recently constituted board of appeal under the new building code. The appointments were immediately and unanimously confirmed. The mayor also favored the suggestion of the City Engineer that the corner of Newtonville avenue and Harvard street be widened.

Alderman Jones was designated to draw four jurors for the Supreme Judicial Court and the names of Howard S. Knowlton of Richardson street, George H. Martin of Lowell avenue, Edward M. Hall of Henshaw street and George G. Symonds of Ferns street were drawn.

The school committee asked that its appropriation be given certain credits and transfers, the Street Commissioner reported the cost of Brooks avenue at $1650, and the resolution against the Grand Trunk location in Newton recently adopted in Newtonville were received.

Petitions of the Newton Upper Falls Drum Corps to parade during October, November and December, of M. S. Perlmutter for an auctioneer license, Edward M. Rumery for an auctioneer license and Joseph H. Thomas for a minors license, were granted. Other petitions were from members of the Fire department for an increase of pay, officers of the Police department for an increase of pay, Pasquale Umbrello to move building on Pine street, for the laying out of Delmore road, for the laying out of Exeter street extension, of the Upper Falls Boys Club over the proposed construction of these streets, where the abutments desired, on account of the peculiar conditions, a road bed only 20 feet in width instead of the usual 27 feet.

Alderman Murphy didn't see why everyone shouldn't comply with the ordinance, even after Mr. Slocum had explained that the ordinance referred to streets built by private owners and presented to the city for acceptance, and not to streets laid out under the betterment act, and built by the city after being accepted. Mr. Murphy voted alone against both streets, and incidentally a motion to lay on the table was defeated by a vote of 8 to 9.

The board adjourned at 9.31 P. M.

ized in certain appropriations, an advance of $1500, made on account of poor out of City Home, pensions granted Thomas L. Dolan of $37.50 per month, and to John Prior of $32.50 per month, hearings assigned for October 21 on the widening of Washington street at Wales street, and widening of Middlesex road, $900, authorized for change in drain location on Hunnewell Hill, the Telephone Company was granted attachments on Brookline street and Lincolnwood avenue, and pole locations on Jewett and Floral streets, the Edison Company was granted poles on Waltham and Central streets and conduit on Homer street, leave to withdraw was given the Telephone company for one pole on Jewett street, and on the petitions for licenses of Frank Negrotti as common victualler, John Fontecchlo for a liquor transportation permit, and Mrs. John R. Hugard for transfer of intelligence office to Tremont street. Licenses were granted R. L. O'Connor for an auto express, and to George Scott as a minor. Orders were also adopted laying out Los Angeles street at an expense of $804, and Allison street, for $823, and widening River and Lexington streets at an expense of $750, and for sewers in Carter street and Warren terrace.

Orders laying out Bishoptate road at an expense of $1,850, and The Lodges road at an expense of $2,000, caused a long debate, and consultations with the City Solicitor and the City Engineer. The trouble came over the proposed construction of these streets, where the abutments desired, on account of the peculiar conditions, a road bed only 20 feet in width instead of the usual 27 feet.

Alderman Murphy didn't see why everyone shouldn't comply with the ordinance, even after Mr. Slocum had explained that the ordinance referred to streets built by private owners and presented to the city for acceptance, and not to streets laid out under the betterment act, and built by the city after being accepted. Mr. Murphy voted alone against both streets, and incidentally a motion to lay on the table was defeated by a vote of 8 to 9.

The board adjourned at 9.31 P. M.

On recommendation of committees, $8,011.75 was granted for city expenses, $3600 for the purchase of road oil, transfers authority

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan A. Putnam of Newton Celebrate the 50th Anniversary of their Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan A. Putnam rounded out fifty years of a happy married life Saturday at their home on Newtonville avenue, the day having added significance, as it also marked the ninth anniversary of their daughter's wedding, Mrs. William P. Prescott of Claremont, N. H. and also was the date of the wedding of Mrs. Putnam's parents, who lived to celebrate their golden anniversary.

The couple were assisted by their two daughters, Mrs. Prescott and Mrs. M. P. Reid, who makes her home with her parents, in receiving the hosts of guests who gathered to pay their respects during the afternoon and evening.

The couple were married on Oct. 5, 1862 at Brattleboro, Vt. by the Rev. Dr. Webster of that city. Mrs. Putnam was before her marriage Miss Mary A. Clark, and both she and Mr. Putnam were descendants of old Vermont families. The couple have made their home in this city for the past few years, coming here from Roxbury, where they resided for many years.

Mr. Putnam was a former member of the Tri Mountain baseball team of Boston, and played with this organization until the entrance of the present Boston National League team in 1858, and was on the opposing team in the first game with the present nine. He was also widely interested in shooting, being chosen a member of the Massachusetts team sent by the governor to participate in a meet with the New York members of the militia. He was a member of the Roxbury City Guards at this time, and continued in that company for many years. He is a present member of the New England Fox Hunters Club.

Mr. Putnam has always taken a devoted interest in the Roxbury Charitable Society and the Roxbury Historical Society, and both he and Mrs. Putnam have been life long members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mrs. Putnam is president of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Newton M. E. Church, and also holds her membership in the Daughters of Vermont, and Mr. Putnam is at present a steward in the church.

Mr. Putnam still conducts a jewelry business in Boston, and both he and Mrs. Putnam look far younger than they really are, and both enjoy the best of health. Many beautiful gifts were showered upon the couple during the observations of the day, and telephone calls and telegrams brought words of congratulations.

MRS. STEVENS DEAD

Mrs. Emma Tower Stevens, the wife of Mr. Eugene A. Stevens of Waverley avenue, died quite suddenly last Saturday at the Emerson Hospital from the effects of an operation. Mrs. Stevens was the eldest daughter of the late Levi L. Tower of Newtonville avenue and the funeral services were held from the Tower residence on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Allan A. Stockdale of the Union Church, Boston, in which Mr. Stevens is a deacon, was in charge. The Mendelssohn Quartet sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Crossing the Bar" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a blanket of violets for the casket. The burial was at Cambridge. Mrs. Stevens is survived by her husband.

EMMA TOWER STEVENS

October 5, 1912, at Dr. Emerson's Hospital, passed from this earth to the realms of light and love, the beautiful spirit of Emma Tower Stevens. Emma Tower was born in Cambridge, Mass., being one of five daughters and two sons of the late Levi L. and Sophronia M. Tower.

Being possessed of an inquiring mind and intelligence beyond the average, she out-stripped her class-mates, always standing at the head of her class and graduating with high honors from the schools of Somerville, Mass. Her early life was devoted to teaching in Somerville and Fawcett, R. I. In all positions that she occupied she was looked up to and ever promoted to positions of honor and trust. Eighteen years ago, united in marriage at the residence of her father at 73 Newtonville avenue, Newton, to Eugene Augustus Stevens of Blue Hill, Me. Making happy homes in Cambridge, Somerville and Newton. She was always respected and loved by all who came in contact with her.

Soon after marriage she was afflicted by rheumatic trouble, which for a number of years kept her confined to a wheel chair. Always looking on the bright side of life and proclaiming to all that God was only love and goodness, she was a benediction to all who met her. A close student of the Bible, her daily walk was with God. Though she has passed from our earthly vision, her beautiful life will ever live in our memory. She is not dead, but lives in that home of peace and beauty, prepared for the blessed, ever working for the happiness of those she loved and cherished.

ALBEMARLE GOLF

Mr. H. H. Cook of the Albemarle club won both the gross and net scores at the open tournament last week of the Chestnut Hill Golf Club, and was awarded the net prize, not being eligible for more than one. Mr. J. G. Anderson of the same club, although playing from Brae Burn was awarded the best gross prize.

There were many favorable expressions last week from visiting players at the open tournament, on the splendid condition of the course and the greens. Ground Keeper Michael Connolly certainly knows his business and the links were never in better condition than this fall.

The weekly Calendar of a Unitarian church announced for Sunday an evening service at which there would be selections "by soloists and musicians."

MAY LOSE ROQUEMORE

Newton High Students Learn That the Clever Guard May Go to Milton Academy for Remainder of Year

That Richard Roquemore, the clever guard on the High School football team, was thinking seriously of withdrawing from High School and entering Milton Academy, caused a surprise to the High School when it became known last Tuesday.

Roquemore has received an appointment to West Point and thinks that he would be forced to study harder if he goes to some outside school, and that is the main reason for the change which he contemplates. The other members of the team are trying to persuade him to finish out the school term in the local school, but whether he will or will not is not definitely known.

For the past two years Roquemore has been one of the mainstays of the team, and Newton will miss his services considerably if he leaves school. Last fall he was unanimously chosen for guard on the various all-inter-scholastic elevens.

Col. Baden-Powell, when in West Africa, fell in love with a native saying, "Softly, softly: catchee monkey!" which, when Anglicized, is, "Don't hurry: patience gains the day!"

1912 BOSTON ELECTRIC SHOW

The 1912 Boston Electric Show in Mechanics Building has many practical novelties which appeal to visitors.

The electric farm is one of the new things. It is shown how the electric current will easily, quickly, efficiently and economically make the farming machinery move and do the work formerly done laboriously and slowly by hand power.

How a dairy can be operated by electrically moved machinery from milking to churning to refrigeration is illustrated in the electric farm. There are the electric milkers, the electric milk-coolers, the electric cream separators, the electric milk-testers, the electric churns and the electric bottle-washers.

The visitors see a model barn in which the power used is that of the current. There is an electric hay fork which unloads the hay from the wagon and stores it in the loft. There is the wood-saw and the wood-splitter, and then there are the electrically operated haywagons, truck-wagons, carriages and buggies—all for the 1912 farmer.

The farmer may also raise his poultry from start to market by electricity for the incubator, the brooder and the hen house heater are all in evidence in the model farm.

ARCHERY NOTES

The Scottish-Americans at Jersey City, N. J., have organized an Archery Club with twenty-five charter members, and are holding regular shoots on the grounds provided by the Park Commissioners of the city.

Miss Mary A. Brownell, member of the Newton Club, has assumed her duties as instructor in Archery and Fencing at Smith College. One hundred and ten girls have been enrolled in the classes in Archery.

The Archers of Boston, Jersey City and Pittsburgh have been invited by the committee on arrangements for the July 4th celebration at Wayne, Pa., to compete in the archery events of the occasion.

Ellis Spear, Jr., Secretary of the National Archery Association of the United States, has sent notices to all the members of the Association inviting them to participate in a team shoot on Columbus Day, October 12th, sending in their scores for tabulation.

LODGES

Palestine Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star is arranging for a Pop Concert at Temple Hall on Tuesday, November 12.

Garden City Encampment, No. 62, L. O. O. F., opened one series of concerts and dances which have been arranged by the entertainment committee for the winter months last Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows Hall, Newtonville, and a large gathering enjoyed the affair. A concert was rendered during the early part of the evening, after which dancing was enjoyed until midnight. The committee in charge consisted of E. H. Estelle, P.C.P., floor director, assisted by the following members of the committee: Charles W. Fowkes, P.C.P., Charles F. Dow, F. E. Perkins, H. W. Forbes, and E. M. Estelle.

DESIGNS IN DRAPERIES

STYLES OFFERED GIVE HOUSEWIVES A WIDE CHOICE.

For Summer Curtains, Coolness and Fresh Appearance is All Important—Cretonne or Chintz Sash Are the Present Favorites.

The city housekeeper who must stay in town all summer does not bother with draperies. Her sole need is air and if she be sensible she sticks to undraped windows and doors. For the suburban and country house, however, curtaining is all important.

Never has the choice of them been wider or more artistic than this season, and the woman who must recruit her house or furnish a new one is to be envied.

In selecting summer curtains two things are important: The fabrics chosen must be cool and fresh looking and they must be washable. Heavy draperies are inartistic, because they are inappropriate. This eliminates brocades, silks and satins, velvets and wool.

In curtaining a summer house choose nothing that will be ruined by open windows. Where double curtains are used they should be easily manipulated on the rods.

Unless a bedroom has plenty of windows double curtains should not be used. Some housekeepers prefer the cretonne or chintz sash curtains. These hang to the sill and work loosely on rods. While they shut out more air than the net or lace curtain they darken a room better, and if properly hung can be pushed into small compass at night.

There is a fancy now for the valance across the top of the window. This may be a ten-inch ruffle run on a rod; but the shaped and stiffened valance is enjoying quite a revival.

In treating any window or door, remember the simpler the effect and the straighter the lines the better taste. Puffed and much draped hangings are bad form.

For these heavy curtains or draperies are shown a variety of printed chintzes, taffetas—linen and cotton—and cretonnes of foreign and domestic make. The coloring of even the cheaper grades is artistic and one can find flowers, foliage and birds in any desired color. The English glazed chintz is especially effective and washes well. Its chief objection is easy wrinkling.

Yeast Cakes.
One quart thick buttermilk, one pint corn meal, one-half pint flour, one large yeast cake soaked in just enough water to cover. One-half teaspoon ginger may be added, but it is not necessary.

Put the buttermilk over the fire in a granite pan and bring to a boil, then stir in the corn meal and flour, which have been sifted together. If ginger is used it can be added as it is cooked also. This should be of about the consistency of mush when cooked. When lukewarm add the soaked yeast cake and set in a moderately warm place to sour, which should take from twelve to twenty-four hours. When it bubbles or smells quite sour, it is ready to be mixed with more meal, enough to roll out on a bread board. Then out and place when it will dry.

WARM WEATHER FOOD

LIGHT, APPETIZING REPASTS FOR THE HOT DAYS.

All Kinds of Delicious Salads That May Be Easily Prepared and Are Inexpensive—Stuffing for the Tomatoes.

As soon as the really warm weather comes in housekeepers are on the watch for anything that will be a change, or tend to tempt the appetites of those in her family.

Elaborate dishes requiring time and skill, to say nothing of their cost, she will pass by, but simple, inexpensive additions to the daily menu are sure to be welcomed, writes Elizabeth Lee in the Chicago Daily News. For instance, a salad made from toast and hard boiled eggs is not as well known as it should be.

To prepare it stale bread is toasted a light brown. The crusts are cut away and the square cut diagonally. One-half is piled with the grated yolk of egg, the other with the white finely chopped. The two are placed together and laid upon them may be boned sardine, a little salmon, lobster, or any fish at hand, covering with mayonnaise. The toast is transferred to a crisp leaf of lettuce.

As most housekeepers keep mayonnaise on hand this dish is quickly prepared, and at very little cost, too. For lunch this makes quite a substantial meal. Those who like peppers will find a sprinkling of the green shells both attractive and tasty.

Another inexpensive salad quickly prepared is made by mixing two ten-cent squares of cream cheese with enough cream or milk to form a paste. To this is added a small onion chopped fine, a half cup of any kind of nuts chopped, and salt to taste. This is piled upon lettuce leaves, each one garnished with a sprig of parsley.

In making chicken salad if one runs short of the meat a nice way of helping out is to inclose the salad in a ring of ham jelly. You make just a plain jelly with the gelatin slightly salted, and when almost cold beat in a little cream or the white of an egg and a half-cup of potted ham. Place in ring shape upon the dish and fill with the chicken salad, when you will have a most delicious and attractive looking salad.

Any bits of food left over in the ice box can be used up to make a stuffing of tomatoes. The inside of the tomato is taken out and mixed with almost anything at hand. I have tasted the combination of rice, a few nuts, a hard boiled egg, a sprig of parsley, and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley as a filling and found it very appetizing. Salt and pepper to taste are added and then the tomatoes are filled. They can be baked in the oven or put on the ice to chill just as one prefers the raw or cooked food. Both ways taste good.

Chocolate Gingerbread.
One cup molasses, one-half cup sour milk, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon salt; dissolve one teaspoon soda in a teaspoon cold water; add this and two tablespoons melted butter to the mixture; stir in two cups sifted flour; finally add two squares of chocolate and one tablespoon butter melted together; bake in three deep pie plates in moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Vanilla Icing.—Break the white of one egg into a bowl and gradually beat into it one cupful of confectioners' sugar. Beat for three minutes; add one-half teaspoon vanilla extract and when cake is done and still warm spread between and on top. This cake is best when eaten fresh.

Green Peas Waffles.
Boil the peas until tender or use left over peas; drain until very dry then mash the pulp through a strainer; pour a cup of boiling milk into a cup of strained peas, adding a generous tablespoon of butter, one of sugar and a half a teaspoon of salt. When the mixture cools add two eggs, yolk and whites beaten separately; two teaspoons baking powder, sifted with a full cup of flour. If too thin add more flour. Bake in buttered waffle irons; sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot with maple syrup.

Hominy Drop Cakes.
One pint of fresh boiled hominy (cold may be used and, if the latter break into grains as lightly as possible with a fork and heat in a double boiler without adding water); one tablespoon of water, two eggs, white and yolks beaten separately. Stir the yolks into the hominy first, then the whites; add a teaspoon of salt, if no already added; if so, half the amount. Drop by spoonfuls on well buttered tin sheets or pan and bake to a good brown in a quick oven.

Breadcrumb Pudding.
Two cups bread crumbs, one cup sugar, one cupful molasses, one-half cup raisins, a little salt and cinnamon and two cups sweet milk, bake one-half hour, stirring often, then add four cups sweet milk and bake two hours longer. It will whey and can scarcely be told from an Indian pudding. Serve hot with butter or cold with cream.

Sugar Pie.
One teaspoon sweet milk, one and one-half cups sugar, not quite half-cup flour or cornstarch, one teaspoonful of vanilla flavoring. This will make filling for one pie baked in large pie tin. Bake without top crust.

BEST TO AVOID MUSHROOMS

Really Have Little Value as Sustenance and There is Always Danger of Poison.

There are in this country more than one hundred edible species of mushrooms. The popular distinction between mushroom and toadstool is one of name only. Many of the supposedly inferior specimens have proved on careful examination to be harmless, whereas some of those which bear an extremely close family resemblance to favored articles of diet are the carriers of danger in the form of exceedingly powerful poisons. Let him, therefore, who lacks the training requisite for the unflinching detection and identification of species carefully refrain from excursions into a field of uncertainty so fraught with danger.

Mushrooms form an unusually nutritious and sustaining diet. A well-known botanist says that mushrooms might properly be called vegetable meat and used as a substitute for animal food.

It is doubtful, however, if this is true.

The more we learn of mushrooms the more it becomes apparent that they are scarcely different as regards dietary virtues from the general run of the green vegetables which have never achieved the distinction of any unique or superior nutritive properties. They belong rather to that large group of food materials which we consume for reasons quite apart from the body.

HONEYED WORDS IN TUBES

How the Modern Spanish Swain Finds a Way to Overcome Serious Obstacle.

In Spain, as is well known, a vigorous etiquette governs the business of love-making. A young man cannot interview his sweetheart without her parents' consent, and, indeed, all conversation openly carried on between the couple must be in the presence of the fair one's mother.

Many subterfuges are adopted by the lovers to overcome this difficulty, and the "reja," the ornamental iron-work on the windows of Spanish houses—has become one of the favorite trysting places. Modern life, however, has imposed fresh barriers. If a young man's sweetheart lives on the third floor of a city building he cannot very well meet her at the "reja."

In this, as in other spheres of life, necessity is the mother of invention. London Answers remarks, and some ardent lovers have brought speaking tubes to their assistance. The seniors, at the appointed hour, lowers this to her lover, and they are thus able to carry on their love affairs with the assurance that they are not overheard by the people on the intervening flats, as would be the case if the conversation were carried on without such aid.

Joy Bell.

A deaf woman used to tell this story on herself: At a reunion of Confederate veterans where she was officiating as hostess a man was brought up to her and reintroduced as a Mr. Blank, a former resident of her town, and one whom she had not seen for fifty years. He was so little changed by the touch of time and so free from any of the lines that care and anxiety set upon the face that she presently asked, "Mr. Blank, did you ever marry?" She thought she heard him say, "I married forty-five years ago." What he really said was, "My wife died five years ago." Then she, in view of his free, unabashed-of-fate look, said, "You don't look much subdued by the experience." Since then it has become her habit to hesitate for a significant second after the first salutation whenever she speaks of her damaged ears.

Ungrateful Brute.

It was a very hot day and a picnic had been arranged by the United Society of Lady Vegetarians. They were comfortably seated, and waiting for the kettle to boil, when, horror of horrors! a savage bull appeared on the scene. Immediately a wild rush was made for safety, while the raging creature pounded after one lady who, unfortunately, had a red parasol. By great good fortune she got over the stile before it could reach her. Then, regaining her breath, she turned round. "Oh, you ungrateful creature!" she exclaimed. "Here have I been a vegetarian all my life. There's gratitude for you!"

Hippopotamus Described.

Johnny, who had been to the circus, says the Youngstown Telegram, was telling his teacher about the wonderful things he had seen. "An' teacher," he cried, "they had one big animal they called the hipp-hip-hip!" "Hippopotamus, dear," prompted the teacher. "I can't just say its name," exclaimed Johnny, "but it looks just like 9,000 pounds of liver."

Most Southerly Industry.

What is probably the most southerly industry of the world, writes Consul Henry D. Baker of Hobart, Tasmania, is being carried on at Macquarie Island, about half way between Tasmania and the antarctic continent. In the capture of penguins for their oil. Macquarie Island belongs to the state of Tasmania and has an area of about 25,000 acres.

HEATH-COOMBS

An exceedingly pretty home wedding, which was witnessed by a large gathering of relatives and friends, took place on Wednesday evening, at the residence of Mr. L. S. Coombs on Walnut street, Newtonville, when his daughter Miss Nina Coombs was united in marriage to Mr. George Heath, son of Mrs. Thomas Heath of Mamaroneck, New York. The house was attractively decorated with palms, ferns and asters and the ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. James Watson Campbell, pastor of the Methodist church.

The bride, who was becomingly attired in a gown of white crepe meteor and duchess lace, wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Bertha Lux of Richmond Hill, N. Y., as maid of honor, who was gowned in white messaline with head-dress of pink and white and carried Bride roses. Little Theima Coombs of Winthrop, a niece of the bride, was flower girl, and was daintily dressed in white lace and carried a large basket of flowers. The groom was attended by Mr. Curtis W. Pierce of Middleboro, as best man. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Heath were assisted in receiving by the bride's attendants. Selections were rendered by an orchestra and a wedding supper was served. On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Heath will reside at 11 Chesley avenue, Newtonville.

If Your Voice Gets In, You Win

A Palmer (Mass.) subscriber told this story: "I got word of a possible big contract in Western New York, packed my grip, and started on the night train. All next day I waited around that city, trying to see the head of the firm. He was busy—busy. I couldn't get at him. When night came I went home disgusted. "As my eyes rested on the telephone in my office next morning, I said to myself: 'Wonder if you couldn't get me into that office—get my voice where I can't go myself.' "It could and did. Within a half hour from the time I put in the call, I was awarded the contract."

The announcement of a long-distance call usually will secure a hearing. Many busy men prefer to transact business by telephone. It enables them to concentrate, to escape the emphasis of personalities, and to make quick decisions.

FATE'S STRANGE FREAK

By BELLE KANARIS MANIATES.

Stephen left the city streets and wandered out into the country. He had but recently returned from abroad and he contemplated making a journey on the morrow to his sister's summer home. He had not seen her for three years, but the prospect of his visit to her was somewhat marred by the knowledge that among her guests would be the paragon of a girl whom she had "picked out for him," the glowing descriptions of whom he had deliberately omitted to read in the letters.

He began to realize suddenly that he had walked too far and that he was decidedly wearied, when he saw ahead of him in a runabout in which was seated a middle-aged woman. Both machine and occupant were motionless.

"Can you start my car for me?" she asked anxiously as he approached.

The trouble was a very simple one and he adjusted it for her deftly and courteously.

She invited him to ride with her, and he readily accepted. But when he had taken the seat beside her, to his surprise she quickly turned the machine around and speeded on into the country.

"I beg your pardon!" he remonstrated. "I was about to return to the city when I met you. Will you kindly let me out?"

"My boy, don't you know me?" she entreated. "I am taking you home."

The speed was increased. He recalled the story he had heard of a woman, demented by the death of her son, who lived in a beautiful home miles from the city. Presently he saw a touring car approaching at a rate of speed equal to his own. There was a simultaneous grinding of brakes.

"Doctor," said the woman, addressing the elder of the two men in the car. "This is my son!"

"I am glad he has returned," he said gravely. "I am Dr. Duval," turning to Stephen with a warning significant look, "your mother's physician."

"I met my mother," said Stephen, "and fixed her car, and she was bringing me home. We can all go on now."

A quick run of three miles brought them to a driveway leading into a private park beyond which was a smooth-faced, stone house. A tall, lithe girl came into Stephen's vision.

"Irene!" exclaimed the woman joyfully, "my son has come!"

"I am so glad," replied the girl, her face paling, as she extended a welcoming hand to Stephen. "But, Mrs. Goodwin, you must be so tired after your ride. Come and lie down before visiting with him."

"You acted very wisely," Irene said to Stephen, after Mrs. Goodwin had retired. "We are under great obligations to you, Mr.—"

"I said."

"I am Miss Mervue, and of course you see that Mrs. Goodwin is not in her right mind. She has a passing fancy that you are her son. She has gone to sleep now, and when she awakens she may have forgotten she met you, and again she might ask for you. If you can spare the time—"

"There are no demands upon my time," he hastened to assure her, and he proceeded to relate how he had met the unfortunate woman and accompanied her home.

"She has never tried to leave here before, so we were not on the watch. It was providential that you met her and comprehended the situation. She has insisted that I dine with you and then spend the evening with you."

"Will you?" she asked anxiously.

He assented eagerly. After dinner they went to Mrs. Goodwin's apartments. His task was not difficult. The poor woman was quite content to sit beside him and prattle glibly. Then Irene sang in a charming contralto voice. At 10 o'clock, Mrs. Goodwin's bedtime, she laid him a fond good-night and told Irene to show him to his room.

"It is too late for you to return to-night," said Irene when they were in the hall. "She will have forgotten you by morning."

At breakfast the next morning, Irene informed him cheerfully that Mrs. Goodwin had not mentioned his name. He felt an unaccountable disappointment.

"You might go in and see her. I will introduce you as a friend of mine."

"I hope you are!" he said ardently. She flushed slightly, and they went to Mrs. Goodwin in silence. She looked up as he entered without recognition.

After some desultory conversation they went out again.

"May I do what she asked—come to see you often?" he asked.

"I leave here tomorrow," she replied, "and you go to your sister's."

"I have decided not to go just yet," he explained. "And you—may I ask where you live?"

"I am not going home from here. I am going to visit a friend, Mrs. Meredith."

"Mrs. Meredith!" he exclaimed excitedly. "Where does she live?"

"She has a place, Ashcroft, near Helmsville."

"She is my sister!"

"I thought you must be her brother. She showed me a picture of you once."

"But why," he demanded, "did she not write me about you?"

"I am surprised that she didn't."

"She wrote me of only one friend or her, a tiresome girl, Helen Somebody."

She smiled mischievously. "Your sister is absorbed. My name is Helen. It is just a fancy of Mrs. Goodwin's to call me Irene."

Fate of Elfrida

Elfrida Mooner had been well brought up. Her mother had seen to that with the painstaking care of one who herself has learned through experience.

Elfrida knew at once when confronted by a bouillon spoon that it was not a cream scoop and she had a great scorn for a young man who walked on the wrong side of one upon the street. She always signed her formal letters "Most cordially yours," and spoke of her mother as "m-mah," and with the accent carefully placed on the last syllable.

So it is easily realized that tremendous self-control was required on Elfrida's part to endure the young man who sat next to her at the dance given by the Royal Order of Brothers of Something-or-Other in Elton Corners, where she was visiting some hitherto unknown cousins.

When the young man at the dance had broken the ice by saying that it was a pretty party Elfrida had recalled. He had not been introduced! Everybody seemed to know everybody else in this town and she could not get used to such a situation.

There was something familiar about the young man's face as Elfrida stared at him, but when the full sweep of recollection rolled across her and she recalled vividly that she had seen him in Reston's butcher shop Elfrida almost choked. He was a nice looking young man. Dimly she recalled that his father was Reston, who owned the shop. Perhaps this young man cut off steaks and sliced bacon!

"I think not," Elfrida said faintly when young Reston asked if she would dance with him.

"All right, the next one, then," he said as a matter of course. Then he went to hunt for another partner.

Elfrida's cousins listened wondering a moment later to her fire of questions and her tale of woe.

"Why on earth shouldn't Ned Reston ask you to dance?" they inquired. "He goes with every one, and we've grown up with him! He went to the college across the river and is good looking! Why shouldn't he go to the same parties as we?"

Her sense of being wronged was hard to maintain, because young Reston had proved himself a good dancer when he had come back and taken his waltz. Elfrida had touched his arm with the tips of her fingers and had tried not to breathe as she went through the ordeal.

The next night Ned Reston called and her cousins seemed to assume that the call was meant for their guest, for they gradually disappeared and left her the burden of entertaining him. Only a strict sense of duty to a guest under one's roof prevented her from rising and bidding him good night. She resolved in a kind of cold fury to have it out with her cousins after he left, and it was when she was taking out her hairpins later that she realized with a start that she had forgotten to do so. She had been thinking about a western story that Reston had told her. In angry disgust she admitted that he could talk well. Still, the taint of the butcher shop hung over it all.

Elfrida writhed the next day when her cousins frankly joked her about her "catch." She felt disgraced. When there were parties and other festivities to which every one went in crowds Ned Reston singled out Elfrida as a matter of course and no body acted as though it was in the least extraordinary. Nobody tried to help her evade him. It was impossible to make her cousins realize the line of distinction which made it right for her to evade him.

Elfrida felt her brain tottering, especially as it grew harder and harder for her to realize in Ned Reston's company that the situation was impossible for a well brought up young girl. Finally the young part vanquished the well brought up section of Elfrida's nature and with a little thrill of exquisite horror she realized that Ned Reston was making love to her and that she liked it.

It was some time after Elfrida's mother was told that her daughter was going to marry Ned, whose father was buying him a half interest in the leading hardware store in Elton Corners, that she discovered the dark fact that this affluent parent owned the village meat market.

"We'll never, never speak of it!" she gasped to Elfrida in anguished dismay. The tinselled was nearly finished and she really couldn't break off the match. "My poor child! How could you, how could you!"

Elfrida regarded her mother in meditative curiosity as though recalling the time when she, too, had felt that way. Then she laughed—not a well brought up laugh, but an amused chuckle.

"My goodness," she said recklessly. "Things like that don't seem to make a bit of difference to me now!"—Chicago Daily News.

EFFECT ON REAL ESTATE

Location of Grand Trunk Railroad Across Newton a Serious Menace

The following article from a recent issue of the Boston Transcript will be of interest to many residents of Newton.

What will be the effect on real estate values in Newton if the Grand Trunk builds a line across the city?

Since it became known that the railroad corporation had surveyed a line from Newtonville to West Roxbury this question has been discussed by leading real estate dealers and interested citizens and the consensus is that the advent of another railroad would, in the whole, have an injurious effect on Newton's future development.

Although the Nonantum and Upper and Lower Falls sections of Newton are manufacturing districts, the bulk of the city is purely a residential suburb of Boston and one that is justly famous for its natural beauty. The homes and estates of "The Garden City" are such as to compare very favorably with those of Brookline and other places once famed as attractive suburbs but now fast losing their natural attractiveness.

The line surveyed by the engineers for the Grand Trunk is about six miles in length, running from a point in Newtonville, not far from the Nonantum boundary, practically through the middle of the city from north to south, and at a point impossible to estimate the value of the land it cuts through, but an analysis of the territory crossed by the stakes may tend to show wherein the railroad would be detrimental.

Where the survey enters Newtonville from Watertown it runs through vacant land that is suitable for farming. It then cuts through a golf course in a district that seems destined to be laid out for improvement within a few years, and at a point less than a mile from where it enters the city the survey runs between two streets lined with pretty homes. After crossing Washington street and the Boston and Albany tracks the line continues through one of the best residential sections of Newtonville, at the base of the so-called West Newton Hill, and passes in the rear of two high schools, first cutting through the property of St. John's Episcopal Parish on Lowell avenue.

More homes are in the line of survey from this point until Commonwealth avenue is reached and once this thoroughfare is crossed the line passes through a section of the city now vacant but capable of development for home sites. In Newton Highlands much private property would be affected and some vacant land spoiled for building purposes, though this village is one of the exclusively residential districts in Newton. After skirting the Upper Falls the survey makes a turn and passes through large areas of vacant land in the Oak Hill section. Much of this territory is comprised in large private estates.

Industrial or Residential City

The opinion of a prominent real estate broker dealing extensively in Newton realty is interesting. His belief is that if a railroad line is a manufacturing city a railroad line in attracting manufacturing concerns and building up the area not well adapted for residences, but if Newton is to remain a residential city the proposed road would be a detriment.

According to this broker, many people who dwell in Boston and other places seem content to live in hotels or apartment houses lacking up, or adjacent to, railroads, and they make the best of it, in some cases their objections being lulled by promises of future electrification with less noise and no dirt or chinders. In Newton, people live for the sake of really living, with beautiful grounds surrounding modern homes and it is hard to get them to locate close to a railroad if they can afford to build elsewhere.

Building operations in Newton took decided jump during 1912, according to figures on the books of Public Buildings Commissioner Walter R. Forbush, and in the nine months just ended the number of permits issued for new buildings has been 229, or within five of the total of 236 issued in 1911. In that year, up to the last of September, but 152 permits for building were issued, aside from those applied for where alterations were to be made.

Many applications are certain to be made with in the next two months and there is every indication that the number of new buildings to be erected by the end of the present year will exceed the record.

The 236 new structures erected in 1911 had a total valuation of $1,110,000, or an average cost of $4,661. The new buildings erected so far this year have a total of $980,308, or an average value of about $4,280. These figures indicate not only that building is steadily increasing, but that a high standard of construction and location is being maintained.

Newton is essentially a city of homes and, though there is a demand for modern apartment houses, the predominant type of new building is the single-family dwelling of frame construction. In some sections of the city cement has entered largely into the construction work, but the bungalow and cottage of wood prevail.

The above figures, representing the steady growth of the residential part of the city would, undoubtedly, have been far smaller had the proposed railroad been nearer to a reality a year ago than it is to day.

Truck-Farm Facilities Good Now

Some of the estates in Oak Hill adjacent to the railway survey, are large modern truck farms. Undoubtedly a railroad would facilitate shipping produce to Boston but, on the other hand, that section is within driving distance of the best, the roads are of the best, the rapid rise of the motor truck is counting the need of a railway. The remainder of the city is amply supplied with railroad accommodations. Newton Upper Falls has a station on the line of the Woonsocket division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford system, which connects with the Boston & Albany circuit at Newton Highlands.

Newton Lower Falls has a branch line connecting with the main line of the Boston & Albany at Riverside. Woodland, Elliot, Newton Highlands, Newton Centre, Chestnut Hill and Waban are all on the Highlands circuit of the Boston & Albany, while along the main line are, Riverside, Auburndale, West Newton, Newtonville and Newton. Nonantum is within street car distance of Boston and also is within a stone's throw of the Bemis station of the Watertown branch of the Fitchburg line. In addition to the accessibility of railroads, the city has excellent street car service, and it is hard to figure just what would be the compensating advantages to the city would be in the event of the Grand Trunk building its line.

It is an ironical fact that, though the citizens are practically unanimous in their objection to the new road, no less than eight hundred of them signed the petition to permit the Grand Trunk to locate in the city, though it appears that sentiment and the local car service in monopoly played no small part in swaying their opinions at a time when the proposed road did not strike as near home as at present.

other rooms were in Killarney roses and smilax.
Rev. and Mrs. Maynard will reside at Peabody, where the groom is pastor of the Congregational Church, and they will be at home after January first at 20 Chestnut street.

NEWTON MAX WINN PRIZE

Mr. Charles Everett of Boston and West Newton has been notified by the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris, that he has been awarded the 500-franc prize and gold medal, the highest architectural diploma prize given to the graduating class of this school in Paris. His success has brought Mr. Everett general congratulation in architectural circles in Boston, as well as from other sources. He was graduated from Harvard in 1905 and afterwards studied at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and then was graduated from the Beaux Arts, after a four years' course of study. Since his return to Boston he has been connected with the architectural offices of Parker, Thomas & Rice, in State street. Mr. Everett of Newton Centre and the late Charles Everett, a Boston merchant, is accomplished as a linguist, speaking fluently French, German, Italian, Spanish and Russian. Mr. Everett is twenty-eight years of age.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Such a Little Queen," which will be next week's offering at the Castle Square Theatre, under the management of John Craig, is a bright and merry fantastic comedy. Its action takes place in New York, and its heroine is the dainty Queen of Herzegovina. There is no problem in "Such a Little Queen." It is merely a play, and it therefore should satisfy a multitude of the theatre-goers. At the Square the title role will be played by Mary Young, and Wilson Melrose will be seen as the royal hero. The other characters will draw upon the complete resources of Mr. Craig's company.

EDITORIAL

Judge Kennedy is acting wisely in imposing fines upon the boys who are being brought before him this fall by the police and the public would be better pleased if still heavier fines were levied. While there is some merit in guarding the young
from the effects of their own folly,
the citizens of this city are entitled to ample protection of their fruit and other property, and the past good policy of handling youthful delinquents has not been a great success. In many cases, too, it is the parents who are responsible for the acts of the children, and when the law is comprehensive enough to make the parent responsible for the acts of his children, we may look to some real improvement. At the present time, it is almost impossible, in the business parts of the city, to leave even an empty box outside, over night, and children, not over four years of age have been noticed tugging away at large pieces of wood and pulling carts loaded with lumber.
There can be no question, but what these children are sent out by their parents to steal fruit, and candidates for admission to our jails and prisons are thus educated. The remedy lies in fining the parents and not the children.

The many friends of equal suffrage in this city ought not to be misled by the specious promises and platform of the so-called Progressive party. Its leader during three years' service as governor of the great state of New York and for seven years as president of the United States, failed to lift either his pen or his voice in favor of votes for women. His only object in placing the equal suffrage plank in his platform is to catch votes, and planks of that sort are invariably forgotten after election. Beware of Progressive promises for equal suffrage.

Mayor Hatfield has made excellent appointments to the recently established board of appeal. Mr. Pulsifer and Mr. Bacon have both had experience in serving the city. Mr. Pulsifer as a member of the board of health and Mr. Bacon as a member of the board of aldermen and as a member of the commission which recently revised the building ordinances. In addition Mr. Whidden is a business man of wide experience, also this is his first public service for the city.

The city government entered upon a new policy Monday evening in granting pensions to city employees,
who were veterans of the Civil War.
While the general theory of civil pensions is a matter of considerable importance, I do not believe our taxpayers will make any protest against its application to those who served the country during the rebellion, and the two cases granted this week are most worthy.

An epidemic of street widenings seems to have struck our city government, and it might be well to observe, that while a little of this is a mighty good investment, too much of it will seriously affect the tax levy.

The aldermen should take prompt action to widen Pearl street, as work has already commenced on the new building which is to be erected at the corner of Centre street.

A large glaring liquor advertisement on a bill board in Nonantum square might be the subject of action
by our local W. C. T. U.

Nonantum evidently intends to be clean in the future, with two laundry firms obtaining permission to locate within its limits.

TAFT DOING THE WORLD'S WORK

"The country should stand by Taft," because he is a gentleman, a diplomat and a statesman; because he is doing the world's work; because he is not a liar, a bluffer, a blackguard;
because he does not use language to excess; because he is clear-headed, clean-hearted and patriotic; because he does not throw his into statutes and call the result legislation. Because he never threw a friend, scuttled a ship, nor made a punie.
Because he is not a demagogue, striving to mislead the people, does no
blue lodge work in the Annapolis Club, but is the defender of constitutional liberty and the champion of representative government. Because he knows the people's rights and knowing, dares maintain."
—Congressman Bede.

COURT ITEMS

Antonio DeStefano of 886 Chapel street, Nonantum was hauled into court yesterday morning to answer to the charge of assaulting Henry Murphy of Watertown, and a fine of $35, was imposed by Judge John C.
Kennedy from which he appealed.
Both young men are employed at the Saxony Worsted Mill at Nonantum, and after a short argument,
Murphy alleges that DeStefano stabbed him in the leg, a little above the knee. Dr. Robert E. S. Kelley, who attended Murphy took the stand
and told of the nature of the wound, stating that it was three inches long and an inch and a half deep, which necessitated the taking of four stitches to close it up. On his appeal DeStefano was ordered to recognize in the sum of $300, for his appearance before the Superior Court.

The Police Department in their efforts to put a stop to the raiding of apple orchards in this city, succeeded in capturing ten offenders
last Sunday afternoon, and in court Monday morning fines aggregating $50, were collected. Of the ten offenders, eight of this number comprised a group of Cambridge lads, and in each case a fine of $3, was imposed upon each. The remaining two constituted an automobile party, who were making a stop in the Oak Hill section long enough to fill a large box in the machine with the stolen fruit. After having the box well filled, patrolman Sartwell arrived on the scene, and escorted the party to headquarters, but were later bailed out. Judge Kennedy imposed a fine of $8, upon each. The latter two themselves came to the police as Ernest A. Whidden of 14 St. James street and Charles J. Wreth of 608 Massachusetts avenue, Boston.

The police were asked on Monday morning to assist in locating Lewis F. Brody of River Ridge street, Lower Falls, who had been missing from his home since the previous Saturday. Brody was employed as a gardener in the Lower Falls section, and when he left home had a considerable sum of money in his possession.

Patrolman Bannan had a lively chase in the Oak Hill section last Monday morning in capturing Arthur Allen, 12, of 39 Webster street, and Robert Gorgan, 9, of Harrison avenue, Roxbury, both runaways, who were later turned over to the police of Station 19 of Roxbury and given to their parents. The two lads, one dressed in overalls and a light waist, and the other with his bare feet, were first located in Wellesley the day previous. The police of that town placed the boys on a Boston train, but later in the day they were found again near Wellesley College.
The police again went through the same program, but the lads apparently did not care to return home so soon. They got off the Worcester car near Dudley road, and spent the night close to nature, sleeping in the tall grass off Boylston street.
In the morning the lads were told by neighbors that the lads were asleep in the field, and after the patrol came to a stop a short distance away, they woke up all of a sudden and gave patrolman Bannan
a good chase before he caught them both.

After court adjourned yesterday morning Judge Kennedy gave a long and interesting talk to 25 members of the Newton Technical High School, who witnessed the session. The judge went into detail on the jurisdiction of the various courts, and also explained the different departments connected with the court,
where the money goes that is collected from offenders and numerous other points of interest to the students.

NEWTON POLICE LONE CHAMPIONSHIP

While the Red Sox and Giants were fighting for the World Championship on Fenway Park last Wednesday, the Newton police nine were engaged in combat with the Metropolitan Park Police team on the National League Grounds for the State Championship, losing the deciding game of the series 16 to 9.
Every police officer from both squads, not on duty, witnessed the game, each eager for their team to capture the contest. Newton played ragged ball during the contest, and at no stage of the game displayed their usual vigor. Three pitchers were used by the home team, Mahoney, Clancy and Hannon, but the numerous errors behind them sent run after run across the plate.

Larribee on third base was the only Newton man to show his usual form, the other members dropping easy flies, missing slow grounders and failing to connect with the ball at opportune times. The Metro-pol-itan police excelled in every department, although by no means displaying championship form.

POLITICAL NOTES

The first democratic open-air rally was held last night on Watertown street, Nonantum. The speakers were John J. Mitchell of Marlboro, candidate for Congress from the 13th District, James S. Cannon, candidate for the Senate; John C. Madden, Bruce R. Ware and William Mullen, candidates for Representative and T. D. Murphy of Newton.

WINS FLAG

Newton Union Has Largest Gains in Massachusetts W. C. T. U.

Newton women were well represented at the very successful and largely attended Massachusetts Woman's Christian Temperance Union, held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at the Tremont Street Methodist Church, Boston. There were over 400 delegates present and the greatest interest and enthusiasm shown in the progress of the work,
since the need for aggressive work along these lines is now acknowledged not alone by this organization of courageous women (numbering 10,000 in Massachusetts alone) but by all the forces working for the betterment of humanity, ministers, laymen, social workers, and the general public.

The president, Mrs. Katherine Lentz Stevenson of Willard street, Newton, presided with grace and dignity, never once being tripped up in her parliamentary rulings by any of her audience, many of whom are trained parliamentarians themselves. There were reports from superintendents of the twenty-five or more lines of work done by the organization, which added interest and variety to the sessions.

On Tuesday morning Mrs. W. E.
Birdsall, who is state superintendent of franchise, read her report for the year, which received much commendation. In the afternoon Mrs. F. W.
Simpson of Newton, who has charge of the Flower Mission work for the entire state, gave a report of the work done in this department. On Wednesday afternoon, when the awards were made and flags presented to the individual Unions, Counties and Branches showing the largest gains, Mrs. S. L. Eaton of Newton Highlands, president of the four-leaf Newton Union, was called by the president to the platform, and amid bravos, handshaking and applause, was presented with a beautiful flag to be held by the Newton Union for the year. This is of especial interest, as the Newton Union is one of the youngest, and the Newtons are so scattered it is difficult to weld them together into any one organization. Mrs. Eaton responded fittingly with thanks and the hope that the Newton Union might retain it for many years.

Many of the visiting delegates hurried off at once Thursday morning to take the train for Chicago to connect with the through train to the National Convention to be held on the 12th of October at Portland, Oregon.
The World's Convention, Countess of Carlisle, president, meets in Brooklyn, N. Y. next year.

MILLER-LEEMAN

The wedding of Miss Jennie Fawcett Leeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Leeman and Mr. Arthur Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs.
James Miller of Cliftondale, took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents, 24 Richardson street, Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James W. Campbell, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Newtonville, the couple standing in front of a bower of hydrangeas, autumn leaves and potted plants.

The bride was attended by Mrs.
Charles B. Wickin, a sister of Fort H.
G. Wright, N. Y., as matron of honor and the best man was Mr. William Burnham of Everett. The flower girl was the niece of the bride, Miss Avis Wickin and the ribbon bearers were Miss Jennie Gordon of Newton, Miss Glad Green of Oak Bluff, Miss Mildred Horton of Canton and Miss Evelyn Snow of Woburn.
The bride was gowned in white mesaline and wore a diamond pen-dant set in platinum, a gift from the groom. She carried a shower bou-quet of bride's roses and her veil was caught up with her diamond engagement ring and orange blossoms.
The Matron of Honor wore a lilac green and carried pink carnations.
The little flower girl wore a white French Swiss muslin over turquoise blue silk.

Following the ceremony the couple assisted by their parents received guests who came from Brookline, Somerville, Canton, New York, New Jersey, Cliftondale and Dorchester.
The ushers were Mr. Arthur J. Wilkes
Thompson, Comm. Mr. Fred J. Mac-Mackin of Albany, N. Y. and J. Luther Roll of Boston.

After an extended wedding trip
the couple will make their home in Virginia.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

It may interest the patrons of the "Colgate System of Rug Renovation" to learn, that owing to the enthusiasm aroused, last spring, by Brookline and Newton housewives, for our services, we have considered it advisable to open a branch office at 1347 Beacon street, Brookline, with Miss Ayer of the Circulating Library.
The outcome of this arrangement,
we trust, will prove as encouraging as is anticipated both with respect to making it more convenient for patrons and ourselves to make and full appointments, also to promoting business in general.

Our highest aim is to secure your confidence. To verify the fact that we are daily adding new names to our list of patrons, kindly let me refer to our statement for September, 1912, which shows an increase of 47
per cent over that of July.

For the benefit of prospective patrons, I will say that the Colgate Services consist of Oriental rug work by native workmen, vacuum cleaning and the selling of rugs at wholesale prices through wholesalers. Kindly watch our advertisements in the "Graphic".
Anticipating an opportunity to introduce our services in one form or another, into every home in the Newtons, I remain

Very truly yours,
WM. HOMER COLGATE.

HOME CIRCLE

The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, October 17th, at 2 P. M. in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville.
Program of winter's work and pleasure to be arranged. A full attendance is desired.

WALDRON-ROGERS

Among the most brilliant wedding of the early autumn season was that on Wednesday evening at Beverly, of Miss Mildred May Rogers daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rogers, of Mr. Chauncey Worcester Waldron of Newtonville, son of Mr. Charles E.
Waldron of Hyde Park. The cermony took place in the First Unitarian church, which was converted into a bower of palms and yellow chrysanthemums. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock by Rev.
Benjamin R. Bulkeley, the double ring service being used. The bride, who was exquisitely gowned in ivory
white satin trimmed with rose point lace, wore a tulle veil with coronet of orange blossoms and carried a full shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The organist rendered Wagner's bridal chorus from Lohengrin, as the wedding party assembled at the chancel, the bride being escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage. The bride was attended by Miss Bertha E. Rogers as maid of honor, who wore a handsome gown of pale green champagne trimmed with Venice lace, court train, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and violets. The matrons were Mrs. Edward H. Winslow of Beverly and Mrs. Dexter S. Andrews of St. Louis, Mo., and the Misses Ruth H. Bay of Melrose, Mary N.
Stoddard of Columbus, Ohio, Rhoda L. Nickerson of Chatham were the bride's maids, all wearing yellow marquisette over yellow mesaline with touches of black velvet and carrying yellow marguerites.

The groom was attended by Mr.
Edward Allen Boyden of Bridgewater,
as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Ralph L. Waldron of Hyde Park, Harold B. Waldron of Brooklyn, N. Y., Arthur C. Burr and John Alden of Hyde Park, Merton R.
Alden of Readville, Dr. Arthur J.
Eames of South Framingham, Jasper
T. Palmer of Everett and Herbert H. Merrill of Lynn. Mr. Waldron is a teacher in the Newton Technical High School, and the bride is a graduate of Wellesley class of '07.

Following the ceremony a large and brilliant reception was held from 8 until 10 at the family mansion on Hale street fully 800 guests being in attendance. Japanese lanterns lighted with electric bulbs, were festooned throughout the grounds and on the spacious veranda, and a wedding supper was served in a large tent on the lawn. The interior of the house was elaborately decorated with yellow marguerites, gladioli and American beauty roses, a color scheme for each room being carried out in the flowers. Music was furnished by the Salem Cadet Orchestra, and the young couple were the recipients of many costly and beautiful gifts of silver and cut glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldron received in the drawing room which was decorated with a profusion of American Beauty roses. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W.
Rogers, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Waldron of Plainfield, N. J.
Guests prominent in social life were present from New York, Beverly, Bridgewater, St. Louis, Hyde Park,
Columbus Ohio, Melrose and Newton.
On their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron will reside at 197 Linwood avenue, Newton-ville.

AUTOMOBILE ABANDONED

A large touring car with two men and two women occupants, bound east along Commonwealth avenue, was in collision with a west-bound electric car of the Boston & Middlesex Street Railway about midnight Wednesday, at the corner of Auburn street, Auburndale.
The automobile was badly damaged,
and its occupants left it and according to witnesses, boarded an electric car bound for Boston a little later.
One of the women, it was stated, limped a little and seemed to be slightly injured.
The electric car was not damaged
beyond some scratches to the paint on the right side, where the automobile struck it. The license number on the automobile is 8258, which the registry gives as that of Mrs.
Frances E. Pratt, 319 Beacon street, Boston.

VETERANS PENSIONED

Mr. John Prior, who was pensioned
this week by the city government, following many years' service as night watchman at the City Hall, had a splendid record as a soldier in the Civil War. Born in Rhode Island in 1844 he enlisted in the Rhode Island Volunteers before he was 17 years of age, and served with a re-enlistment until the close of the war in 1865.
During that time he participated in the battles and engagements of Roanoke Island, Newbern, Camden, Fort Macon, Antietam, Fredericksburg, and Fort Fisher. He was wounded three times in the foot, in the hip,
and in the groin, and was captured with his regiment and confined in Libby Prison.

Mr. Prior is married and has one son, Mr. Andrew Prior, the sealer of weights and measures of this city.

Mr. Thomas L. Dolan, who was granted a pension this week, enlisted in Co. K, 32nd Mass. Volunteers, in what was known as the Newton Company, at the age of eighteen, and was discharged about a year later on account of disability. Mr. Dolan was shot thru the lungs at the battle of Gettysburg, and placed in the docent for burial, when some one noticed signs of life and he was then taken to the hospital and recovered. For the past fifteen years Mr. Dolan has been the driver on the patrol wagon
of the police department.

COMING LECTURES

The Education Committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs propose to give the following courses of lectures if a sufficient number of ladies signify their intention to purchase tickets.

These Courses will be held in Newtonville and we hope that as many as possible will avail themselves of this opportunity and by their support enable us to carry out this valuable program.

Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 22, Oct.
29, Nov. 12, Nov. 26 and Dec. 10.
Lectures by Mrs. Frances M. Greene,
M. D. on Sex Hygiene. Mrs. Greene is the wife of Prof. Greene of Harvard and is she who pleased the Hospital Aid Assn. last spring by her straight forward and refined way of handling her subject.

Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 30,
Nov. 13, Nov. 27 and Dec. 11.—Lectures by Miss Helen Louise Dyer on How to Appreciate a Play. Miss Dyer has made a long and serious study of the Drama and comes to us well recommended for scholarly work.

FIRST MEETING

The Unitarian Club of Newton will hold its first meeting of the season
next Thursday evening at Channing Church, Newton, when the usual dinner at 6.30 P. M. will be followed by an address at 8 P. M., to which the public is invited, by Rev. Chas. W.
Wondie on Seventeen years in California, illustrated with stereopticon views.

MOTHERS' REST ASSOCIATION

The Annual Meeting of the Mothers' Rest Association of Newton Centre
will be held in the parish house, Trinity Church, Thursday, October 17, at 3 P. M. The record of the summer's work for tired mothers and their little children will be given. All are invited.

FOR DINNER IN WOODS

VARIOUS DAINTIES THAT BELONG TO THE PICNIC MENU.

Veal Loaf Always a Faithful Standby—Deviled Eggs Preferable to Plain Hard Boiled—Fried Potatoes
Add Zest to Meal.

A veal loaf is always appetizing in the woods. An excellent recipe is: Three pounds and a half of finely chopped veal—the leg is best—mixed with three well-beaten eggs, into which is stirred a grated nutmeg, a table-spoon each of black pepper, thyme and salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice and a dash of cayenne. Add three table-spoonfuls of cream and three water crackers rolled fine. Mix in a long loaf, dot with butter and bake about an hour in a moderate oven, basting frequently.

Veal loaf may be sliced thin and packed in paraffin paper in a flat box, but dries out less if taken to the picnic whole. Carry a sharp carving knife, as thick slices are unappetizing.

Deviled eggs are usually more popular than plain hard boiled ones. Boil the eggs fully half an hour, throw at once into cold water and do not shell until chilled. Cut the eggs in half lengthwise, run the yolk through a sieve and mix to a paste with a salt spoon of mustard, cayenne pepper, salt and a teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley to a dozen eggs. Oil or melted butter can be used for mixing the paste.

Deviled eggs carry better if both halves are filled, then put together and each egg wrapped in waxed paper. Or they can be put in a shallow tin box, with waxed paper between the layers. On hot days keep the box near the ice on reaching the picnic grounds.

If each one brings a certain allotment portion, one could take fresh eggs for scrambling—allow three for each person—a small preserve glass of butter, salt and pepper and a skillet or a chafing dish, whichever is more convenient.

Nothing is better than fresh scrambled eggs at a picnic, unless it is fried potatoes. Boil the potatoes at home—in their jackets—and take a good supply of butter for frying. A pound can be carried in a tin kettle with ice packed around it. Have a sharp knife for slicing and a fork or short cake turner for stirring.

Leftover cold chicken or veal makes an excellent hot dish for a picnic. Cut the meat into small cubes at home and wrap in waxed paper. Make a white sauce from a tablespoonful of butter and one of flour to every point of quart. This is the allowance for a quart of meat. Season lightly with salt, pepper and a little onion juice.

An appetizing sandwich for a picnic is made from slices of brown bread on which is spread a mixture of chopped green peppers, to which is added a can of sweet peppers or pimentos, a little minced parsley, bound together with a highly seasoned mayonnaise.

Where a hot sandwich is liked for a picnic, have two thin slices of white bread buttered; spread one with a little chutney, the other with grated Parmesan cheese. Fry an egg, place it on the cheese, and press the other half well over it.

iced BEEF TEA IS EXCELLENT

During Hot Weather It Will Be Found More Acceptable Than the Hot Beverage.

Where beef-tea is required on a hot summer day it is sometimes more acceptable to the invalid if served iced, and in condensed form. Prepared as follows it is quite palatable: Cut up a pound of lean, juicy sirloin steak in pieces of about two inches square. Grease a clean pan with butter and put it on a fire of red-hot coals, and as soon as ever the pan is hot toss the pieces of steak in it, turning them rapidly this way and that way with a fork until seared on every side.

See that not a drop of juice is in the pan, and that each separate square of beef is thoroughly heated through before you finish your work.

Take the pieces now, one by one, and squeeze through a wooden lemon squeezer which has been standing in boiling water into a cold bowl. Extract all the juice from the piece, and you will have the finest beef essence. Set the bowl in a pan filled with cracked ice. The coldness of the beef essence—which you serve in a tumbler, having added the necessary salt, and with a tiny triangle of toast—does not affect its qualities.

Refreshing Beverages.

Any fresh fruit makes a delicious drink when the juice, squeezed from it, is strained, sweetened and filled with cold soda or aerated water. Or a syrup can be made to be kept on hand by boiling the juice with sugar. To make the drinks use a few spoonfuls of this syrup and fill the glass with water, plain or carbonated.

The most delicious lemonade or limeade can be had at a moment's notice if the juice of the fruit be kept on hand, mixed with sugar to taste. It is simply itself to pour water over this and the drink is ready.

Mashed Potato Doughnuts.

Take two table-spoonfuls of butter, one cup of mashed potatoes, one and one-half cups of sugar, one cup of sweet milk, four cups of flour, two eggs well beaten, with a little salt, two spoonfuls of baking powder and fry in hot lard. These are delicious.

Any iron worker can make a box with a fire in one end and call it a cooking stove.

It may in outward appearance impress you favorably—and—if you want a cooking stove merely to look at it may be satisfactory.

But—if you want a cooking stove that will cook your food perfectly, that banishes toil and trouble, that is so easy to manage and so sure in results that cooking becomes a joy—its name is Crawford.

The Single Damper (patented) regulates better than two dampers; the curved Cup-Joint flues heat the oven in every part alike; there is an Ash Hod instead of the clumsy old ash pan. These are not found in any other range.

RIDER-DAVIDSON

Miss Louise Allen Davidson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forest Davidson of Auburndale, and Mr. Joseph Scott Rider of the same village, were married Wednesday evening in the Auburndale Congregational Church, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Dr. William C. Gordon, assisted by Rev. Edgar E. Davidson of Newtonville.

The wedding took place at eight o'clock, the organ program being in charge of Mr. Howard Barton of Newton Centre.

The bride wore white satin crepe meteor with lace, and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Mary R. Davidson of Auburndale was the maid of honor and was in gold embroidered white chiffon over yellow satin and carried yellow roses. Miss Myrtle F. Davidson, Miss Marion E. Knowlton, Miss Margaret E. Goodrich of Auburndale, and Miss Helen W. Davidson of Newtonville were the bridesmaids and wore yellow crepe de chine, caught up with roses, over yellow satin, and wreaths of marguerites. Miss Pauline Allen of Lawrence, Kansas, was the flower girl.

Mr. Robert O. Rider of Glastonbury, Conn., was the best man and the guests were seated by these ushers, Messrs. Edward Allen of Presque Isle, Me., Stuart W. Rider and Harold Knowlton of Auburndale, Henry Oiler of Bethel, Conn., C. Henry Brackett of Newton, and John T. Beach of Bangor, Me.

A reception followed at the home of the bride, 41 Hancock street, Auburndale, which was attractively decorated with smilax, chrysanthemums and marguerites. Mr. and Mrs. Rider were assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin Rider, parents of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Rider will reside at 208 Larch road, Cambridge.

READ FUND LECTURES

Trustees Announce a Course by John Henry Frome on the Earth

The trustees of the Read Fund have arranged for an interesting course of lectures for the 28th season, to be given on Monday evenings in Bigelow school hall. The lectures will be given by Mr. John Henry Frome and will be illustrated with lantern slides. The subject will be the Earth and the Progress of Evolution. While the lectures are free to the public, tickets will be issued to teachers and high school pupils, entitling them to admission when the doors are opened at 7.15 P. M., the public being admitted at 7.30. The lectures will begin promptly at 7.45 P. M. The lectures will be given as follows:—

On November 4. The Earth as a Planet. Its Origin as a star, how its rotation was slowed down. Its astronomical future.

On November 11. The Dynamics of Earth Building. How gravity prevents loss of atmosphere and water. Earthquakes. The lost Atlantis. Comparisons with the moon and Mars.

On November 18. Extinct Plants and Animals. The dawn of life. Reptiles, pouched animals and mammals. Plants, bacteria and the survival of the fittest.

On November 25. The Natural History of Man. Modern and cave dwelling man. Discovery of use of fire. Doctrine of evolution. Science of race culture.

On December 2. The Migration and Distribution of Mankind. The cradle of the race. Primitive inhabitants. Comparison of modern human types.

Each lecture will be followed by an opportunity to question Mr. Frome or to discuss the subject of the evening.

SWEATT—FOGWILL

The wedding of Miss May Louise Fogwill, the daughter of Mrs. Susan Fogwill, and Mr. William Arthur Sweatt of Auburndale, took place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride on Washington street, West Newton, which was most attractively decorated with palms, potted plants and cut flowers for the occasion. The ceremony, which took place at 8 o'clock, was performed by Rev. Robert W. Van Kirk, pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton, assisted by Rev. George G. Phipps of Newton Highlands, and the double ring service was used.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Uriah Fogwill of West Newton, and wore a gown of blue and white, trimmed with shadow lace. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. William Harry Allen of Allston, was matron of honor and wore old blue foulard with marquette drapery. The Misses Susie May Fogwill and Florence Malinda Fogwill, of West Newton, neices of the bride were bridesmaids and wore light blue Japanese silk, trimmed with pink rose buds and carried pale pink carnations. Another niece, Mildred Florence Beardsley of Auburndale was ring bearer.

Mr. Horace William Sweatt of Newton Highlands, brother of the groom was the best man and the ushers were the Messrs Albert Edward Fogwill, Clarence Kellon Fogwill, Stephen Thomas Fogwill, of West Newton, Frederick William Sweatt of Natick and Maurice Edgar Beardsley of Auburndale.

A reception followed until ten o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Sweatt being assisted in receiving their friends by Mrs. Fogwill, mother of the bride, Mr. William U. Fogwill and Mr. Horace W. Sweatt.

After a wedding trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Sweatt will reside at 1497 Washington street, West Newton, where they will be at home after December first.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

At three o'clock, Wednesday, October twenty third, Mr. C. D. Meserve of the Classical High School will address the Womens' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. at the Association Rooms. His subject will be "Home and School Problems." As the meeting promises to be of unusual interest a large attendance is desired.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER

D. A. R. Members Are Entertained at Brookline

On Monday afternoon, members of Lucy Jackson Chapter D. A. R. were entertained at the Beaconsfield, Brookline, as the guests of Mrs. Benjamin W. Hackett, Mrs. Henry Hull Haskell, Mrs. Edward F. Hamlin and Mrs. William B. Herrick, assisted by the regent, Mrs. Charles D. Meserve.

Following an informal, but charming reception, the members and the invited guests listened to a delightful talk by Dr. Arthur W. Pierce of Dean Academy on his experiences on a trip around the world. His life and travels in India, Java and Japan were related with most entertaining accounts of the customs, the country and the natives. Dr. Pierce spoke with deep feeling of the Taj Matral, saying it was the most perfect building in the world.

A group of songs by Miss Marguerite Harding, who was accompanied by Mrs. David E. Baker, was feelingly rendered, and added much to the pleasure of the afternoon. Miss Harding sang "O, for a breath of the Moorlands" by Whiteley, Schumann's "Sonnenschein" and "Indian Summer" by Cadman.

A social hour and four o'clock tea followed. Mrs. Lena A. Hackett and Miss Alice Morton poured and the following daughters of "The Daughters" ushered, Miss Gladys Chandler, Miss Gladys Pemberton, Miss Florence Walworth and Miss Eleanor Pratt.

SILVER WEDDING

Columbus Day marked the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Smith of Webster street, West Newton. An informal reception, partly a surprise was given them by the following daughters of "The Daughters" ushered, Miss Gladys Chandler, Miss Gladys Pemberton, Miss Florence Walworth and Miss Eleanor Pratt.

A man is apt to find more fault with himself than he lets on.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR

Channing Church Alliance Entertains Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lutz

On Tuesday evening the social session of Channing Church was auspiciously opened with a reception tendered the Rev. Harry Lutz and Mrs. Lutz by Channing Alliance. The church parlors were attractively decorated with autumn foliage, cut flowers and potted plants. In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Lutz were Mrs. Isabella W. Hardon, president of the Alliance, and Mr. and Mrs. George M. Nash, representing the Standing Committee of the church. During the evening several selections were rendered by the Alliance chorus under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Wetherbee with Mrs. Harry Stebbins at the piano. Two scenes descriptive of the work of the Alliance were presented by the Cheerful Letter and Sewing Circle committees respectively and a humorous poem on the Post Office Mission work was read by Miss Helen Wells. Selections by the Lafayette Male quartet were also much enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by a committee of ladies with Mrs. F. W. Stoebe as chairman.

AMONG WOMEN

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands has for subjects under consideration at its next meeting "Prose and Poetry," "Simple Lessons from Nature's Text Book," "A Discussion," "Is the Sportman a True Lover of Nature?" also Report of Newton Federation. Hostess Mrs. Marshall.

The Shakespeare Club began its year's work, Oct. 5. Mrs. W. M. Mick was the hostess for the afternoon and Miss Mary Sweeney had charge of the lesson, acts one and two of Macbeth. The next meeting will be held Saturday with Mrs. W. E. Sanders, Dedham, St., Newton Centre. The work for the afternoon continuing the study of Macbeth will be conducted by Mrs. S. L. Eaton.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, on Monday, October 21, at 10.15 A. M.

On Tuesday morning, October 22, at 10.15 A. M., the Parliamentary Law Club will open its season at the home of Mrs. W. D. Tripp of Boyd street. Mrs. Electa M. Sherman will as in previous years conduct the parliamentary practice.

RECEPTION

Mrs. Gardner I. Jones Holds a Charming At Home

Mrs. Gardner I. Jones entertained a large company of her friends at a handsomely appointed reception on Tuesday afternoon from 4 until 6, at her residence on Valentine street.

The large reception rooms, with their beautiful outlook, were artistically adorned with flowers for the occasion, a color scheme of yellow being carried out in most of the decorations. In the living room were yellow chrysanthemums and marguerites, and the den was bright with salvia. The dining room where refreshments were served was glowing with the sunshine of yellow blossoms, a large basket of marguerites effectively arranged with ferns forming a centerpiece for the table.

The servers were Mrs. Herbert Cole, Mrs. J. Linfield Damon, Jr. and Mrs. Arthur Safford. The powers were, Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer, Mrs. George P. Bullard, and Mrs. Ernest F. Lovejoy. In the den where trappé was served, the table was presided over by Mrs. Sydney Cook, Miss Marian L. Cutler and Miss Louise Lovett, assisted by Mrs. Harold Sherman, the Misses Ethel Jaynes, Margaret Merchant, Eleanor Pratt, Gladys Chandler, Ruth Stutson and Ruth Baldwin, all charmingly gowned, and wearing picture hats.

Mrs. Jones wore an imported gown of blue and white and carried a large bouquet of Killarney roses; she was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. J. Linfield Damon, Jr. of Brookline, wearing an imported gown of white silk and black lace with a large picture hat. There was a representative gathering of society numbering 200 present from Boston, Brookline, Melrose, Hingham, Franklin and the Newtons.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Blanche E. Hyde, who has been the very efficient Head of the Household Economic Department of the Technical High School for the past four years, has accepted an editorial position with the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Hyde has done splendid pioneer work in instituting the department of cooking and sewing at the High School, and has been a most capable supervisor of the girls' handwork in the grades.

She will bring to her new work ability and training, and will take with her the best wishes of a host of pupils, parents and teachers.

The lecture on Hygiene at the High School last week was by Dr. Jack upon the subject "What Makes Good Blood?"

Yesterday Dr. Baker talked upon "Water as a Means of Preserving Health."

VILLAGE NIGHT

Auburndale Improvement Society Entertains Five Hundred Residents of That Village

Auburndale held its first village night on Monday evening and fully 500 residents and guests were present at the Burr school hall.

The affair was under the auspices of the Auburndale Improvement Society and was a pronounced success.

The exterior was decorated with Japanese lanterns and the hall was gay with palms and pinks.

The many guests were received by Dr. G. M. Winslow, president of the society, and Mrs. Winslow, vice president, and Mrs. G. M. Fluke, and vice president and Mrs. W. J. Spaulding. Music was furnished by an orchestra and the kitchen committee was composed of Mrs. C. A. Drake, Mrs. A. H. Wiggin, Mrs. G. F. Nudd, Mrs. N. L. Grant and Mrs. G. S. Gordon. Miss Jessie Macmillan, Mrs. Chas. L. Hubbard, Mrs. Albert Palmer, Mrs. Harry W. Greenleaf, Mrs. Adam P. Holden, Mrs. H. R. Turner, Mrs. W.

F. Hadlock, Mrs. E. F. Hillbourne and Mrs. F. W. Young poured. The ushers were W. W. Heckman, F. C. Eaton, John F. Norton, Ralph E. Keyes, Norman T. Miller, Roy M. Miller, Leroy P. Hurd, Harold W. Knowlton, Arthur E. Quilly and Egerton B. McNear.

The waitresses were the Misses Gertrude M. Bourne, chairman, Olive E. Bourne, Ethel Brewster, Edith A. Jacobs, Rosa Allen, Ruth Allen, Florence Herrick, Eleanor Eaton, Isabel Eaton, Mildred Dane, Dorothy Gore, Mabel White, Margaret Goodrich, Evelyn Fuller, Miriam Herron, Luella Eddy and Charlotte Reid.

The waiters were William Herrick, Marlborough Smith, Phil Lamond, Lester Walling and Harvey Barnes and dancing followed.

The affair reflects great credit on the entertainment committee of which Mrs. Mary B. Herron was chairman.

MISS SOUTHWORTH MARRIED

A notable event of the past week was the wedding of Miss Constance Southworth, daughter of Mr. Robert H. Southworth of Brookline and Mr. Roy Jackson Cram of Boston, formerly of Newton, which took place on Saturday afternoon at the Church of Our Saviour, Longwood.

The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Daniel D. Addison, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church Brookline, assisted by Rev. Dr. Reginald H. Howe, rector of the Church of Our Saviour. Guests numbering fully 1000 assembled at the church which was attractively decorated with ferns and palms.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and looked charming in a gown of ivory white satin. She wore a tulle veil caught with a spray of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Mrs. O. H. Halsey, of St. Louis, as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Margaret Pope of Concord, Ruth Faxon, Dorothy Tufts and Alice Edmunds of Brookline, all becomingly gowned in white and carrying large bouquets of maiden hair fern.

The groom was attended by Mr. John Pace Cotton of Boston, as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Frank M. Sawtelle, Joseph W. Lund, Charles M. Davenport, Philip G. Carleton, J. Bradford Hardon, Ralph May, William S. Feibinger of Boston, and Mr. William Wadsworth of New York. A largely attended reception followed at the residence of the bride's father, 25 Kent square, guests prominent in society being present from New York, Boston, Brookline and the Newtons. The reception rooms were elaborately decorated with white and yellow roses backed by greenery and a wedding supper was served.

Mr. Cram, who is a graduate of Harvard 1902, is a brother of Mr. Albert Bartlett Cram of Newton Centre, Mr. George W. Cram of Cambridge, and Mr. William S. B. Cram of Brookline, former residents of Shorecliffe road, Newton.

On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Cram will reside at 80 Lanark road, Aberdeen, and will be at home after December 1st.

NEW PRESIDENT

At the annual meeting of the Newton Catholic Club, Wednesday evening, Mr. Joseph J. Curran, vice president last year, was unanimously elected president. Mr. Curran has been very prominent in the affairs of the club ever since it was organized having served on the board of directors for two years, chairman of the entertainment committee two years, toastmaster at the club banquet two years ago and has taken an active part in the various lawn parties the club has held. The following officers were also unanimously elected: Mr. Thomas J. Noone, vice president; Mr. John P. Connors, recording secretary; Mr. Joseph A. Edwards, financial secretary, and Mr. Charles Laflie, treasurer.

The board of directors consists of the following 15 members: Messrs. John P. Connors, E. M. D'Arcy, J. A. Edwards, W. H. Mague, William McBride, James F. McInerney, William Sprout, Thomas Hendricks, Roy Early, Fred Cahill, Robert P. Barry, William Cahill Jr., Joseph J. Curran, Charles Laflie and Thomas Noone.

The crowds which have thronged to Fenway Park all thru the summer and particularly during the past week, ought to show the B. & A. management the desirability of establishing a railroad station in that vicinity.

The travelling public, which has been sadly inconvenienced by the inevitable delays on the Elevated lines caused by the hundreds of extra cars demanded to handle the crowds, would welcome the relief which the railroad trains would bring.

The proposed electrification of the Boston & Providence railroad will ultimately demand the electrification of the Boston & Albany either with or without legislative compulsion.

The restoration of the familiar abbreviation B. & A. on our railroad trains will flatter the local pride of Massachusetts.

Look out for the paper "JUST THIS ONCE."

AMONG WOMEN

In order to avoid conflict with the large entertainment for the benefit of the Mothers' Rest, which will take place during the last week of October,
the Newton Centre Woman's Club will hold its opening meeting at Bray Hall on Thursday afternoon, October 24, at 2.30. The program will be furnished by the Boston Quintette composed as follows: Walter L. Anderson, John E.
Daniels, Robert Nichols, Dr. Arthur
Gould and Augustus T. Beatey. A reception to the officers and new members will close the afternoon. The club calendar for the coming year promises much in wide compass of significant subjects and in its list of distinguished speakers.

Mrs. G. A. Clapp of Walnut street, Newtonville, opened her home on Tuesday afternoon of this week for the annual reception of the Newton-ville Woman's Guild. In the reception line with the hostess were Mrs.
Irving O. Palmer, president of the Guild, Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan, president of the State Federation, Mrs. G.
H. Wilkins, president of the Newton Federation, and Mrs. Pesenden, secretary of the Guild. An orchestra of three pieces dispensed music during the afternoon. The tea room was in the hands of the social committee,
under the direction of Mrs. F. E.
Mann, chairman. An unusually large number were present and all pronounced it a delightful affair.

street is touring the Berkshires and is now registered at The Weldon at Greenfield, Mass.

—Mrs. Lillian Pike Everest of Plattsburg, N. Y., has been a guest the past week of Mrs. J. W. Cone on Linder terrace. Mrs. Everest is a reader of unusual ability and those who heard her on Saturday evening at a parlor recital were given a treat in tragedy, pathos and comedy, all were equally good.

Newton Centre

—Prof. John M. Barker of Ashton Park has gone to Kansas City, Kansas, on a business trip.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Donham of Hobart terrace are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

—Mrs. Parkinson of Cottage City is visiting her son, the Rev. Geo. M.
Parkinson, of Lake avenue this week.

—The Y. P. S. C. E. of the First Baptist Church will hold a Hallowe'en Social in the chapel next Wednesday evening.

—Mr. George F. Richardson has returned to his home on Marshall street after spending a few days' vacation at the Cape.

—Mrs. Wendell H. Brayton who has been ill at her home on Beacon street for several weeks is again able to be out.

—Mr. Frank Frith who was in the hospital for several days, the result of a bad automobile accident, is again able to be out.

—The alarm from box 731 Tuesday evening was for a chimney fire at the residence of Mr. W. B. Phillips on Grant avenue. The damage was slight.

—Mr. Sidney R. Porter is a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association, the convention being held this week at Lawrence.

—At the evening service of the First Baptist Church next Sunday, Rev. M.
A. Levy will speak on "The Capacity for Courage." There will be bass solo by Mr. Albert L. Smith.

—At the meeting of the Sunday School officials of the Methodist Church last Thursday evening, Mr.
Chandler was unanimously elected superintendent, to take the place of Mr.
George F. Richardson who resigned.

—Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Fowle and their daughter Mrs. Boylston L. Williams of Homer street have returned from a summer sojourn in Europe.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fowle are registered at the Woodland Park Hotel, Auburn-dale, for the winter season.

—The first social of the season was held in the chapel of the First Baptist Church last Wednesday. The representative company enjoyed the program consisting of tenor solos by F. E. Wolfe and violin selections by Mr. H. H. Rohrbach, followed by an interesting test of musical memory.
Refreshments were served in the dining room.

—The Ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Church will give a basket luncheon on Monday at the parish house, the proceeds of which will go toward replenishing
the funds of their treasury. It will be rather a unique affair, each lady will bring two luncheons and one invited guest, and a very pleasant time is anticipated.

—The first social and supper of the season was held in the parlors of the Methodist Church last Wednesday evening. After the supper had been eaten, those present were entertained with the following program: A vocal solo, "The Mighty Deep," by Mr. B. V.
Degen; readings, (a) "Bed Fellows,"
(b) "The Spoiled Child," by Mrs. C.
D. Miller; a piano solo, "Humoresque," by Miss Joyce Pollard; a violin solo by Miss Glennys Pollard, and a piano solo by Mr. Ringenberger.
There was a large number present.

—Mr. Stanton H. King, superintendent of the Sailors' Haven, Charlestown, will make an address to the Boy Scouts of Trinity parish and their friends this evening at 7.30 o'clock. Mr. King was born in Barbadoes, West Indies, and went to sea
as a cabin boy. He was twelve years before the mast, both with the merchant and naval service. His Sea Stories are stirring. Several years ago he held the boys of Trinity parish spellbound for nearly an hour. All the young men and boys of the parish are invited. Ice cream and cake will be served.

READERS!

Take Notice

That I have fifteen

HORSES and MARES

that must be sold, as I am replacing them with Auto Trucks I will have no further use for them. They are a fine lot of good healthy horses that have been used around the city and would be suitable for Grocer, Butcher, Baker, Milkmen, Truckmen, Farmers,
or any general business purposes.
They weigh from 11 to 14 hundred each, ages 6 to 9 years. In the lot are two mares that are in foal. It would pay any one that is in need of any horses to call and look them over. Call at the Express Office and ask for the manager, Mr. T. Boyle.

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

Illustrating Some Very Good Reasons for the Great Popularity

OF A

Popular Department

IN A

Popular Store

With a reputation for selling the best medium priced hats in New England, this department exposed upon the Fall Season of 1912 with the most varied and extensive assortment of popular hats in its ca-

It was here that "Trimmed Hats at $4.98" originated, and at once became famous as the best hat be sold within the five dollar limit. By this we mean the best in style, workmanship and the quality material used.

Although we claim to give the best values in medium priced hats, we wish to emphasize the fact it is here, also, that the higher grades, including the exclusive model hats of Georgette, Raboux, Can-Roger, Royant, Lewis and others are sold at prices relatively as low.

It is here that hats selling in many stores at from $18 to $25 are marked from $10 to $15, whilbut one of the many advantageous possibilities of our cash methods. We call particular attention to elaborate showing of these hats.

The children's section is one of the leading features of this famous department, and it was here Saturday—"Children's Day"—was conceived, introduced and promoted along lines that have made unday a great trade day the city over.

All in all our Millinery Department is one of the foremost of its kind in New England, and a resources and conveniences are at your service. We think we can help you in the selection of your Hat, and at a price within your means.

ONE WEEK OR LESS

The idea of one week's time for cleansing is not a new one. We always return goods in one week or less except in the very busy season on certain lines of work. Occasionally a very badly soiled article requires extra care and longer time to treat satisfactorily. Our prices are absolutely fair for the highest quality of work. High class help. Fireproof and sanitary buildings ventilated by air cooling systems. Everything is done to safeguard our patrons and give them the same of good work.

It has never been necessary for

Upper Falls

—The Newton Mills have closed for the remainder of the week, owing to the main shaft breaking on Thursday morning.

—On Monday evening, at Foresters Hall, Kensington Lodge, O. S. S. C. entertained forty members from the Boston Commandry, No. 2, Uniformed Sir Knights.

—In the vestry of the Methodist Church, October 24, Rev. Wm. O. Stumitz will lecture on "Glimpses of California," the first of a series of Radio-phon lectures which have been arranged by the Ladies' Aid Society.

—The annual meeting of the W. F. M. S. was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edwin Thompson at High street. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Edwin Thompson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. O. E. Nutter, and Treasurer, Mrs. T. E. Lees. After the business meeting an interesting talk on China was given by Mrs. Thompson and light refreshments served.

—Mr. John Nagle, a resident of the village the past 35 years, died at his home on High street Sunday morning after a short illness. He was 56 years of age and has been day watchman at the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Co. for the past 20 years. Mr. Nagle is survived by a wife. Funeral services were held from the Church of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Tuesday morning, the Rev. D. H. Donovan celebrating requiem high mass. Burial was at the Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline. The pallbearers were former shopmates of the deceased from the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Co., and the Shacco-Petee Machine Works.

Newtonville

—Mrs. Amanda W. Wood, the widow of Henry B. Wood, died on Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Gaudelet on Bowers street, at the age of 78 years. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, Rev. J. T. Stocking officiating and the interment was at Newton Cemetery.

—The Central Club opened its season with a very interesting meeting last evening at the Congregational Church. Messrs. Dr. D. E. Baker, E. K. Hall and E. W. Greene led the discussion on "Why I Shall Vote for President." The meeting closed with an elaborate collation. There was an unusually large attendance of members and their friends.

Look out for the paper "JUST THIS ONCE."

CAMPBELL-BAILEY

Miss Mabel Elizabeth Bailey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Bailey of Boyd street, was married, Wednesday night, to Mr. Raymond Foster Campbell of Malden, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. Grant Person of Elliot Church in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The house was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage and chrysanthemums and the bride couple stood in a bow of green. The bride was gown in white satin crepe meteor with pearl trimmings and Chantilly lace. She carried white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Charles Durrell of Spencer was the matron of honor and Mr. Edward Whittemore of Roslindale was the best man.

Auburndale

—The engagement is announced of Miss Margaret Goodrich of Central street to Mr. John Norton of Woodland road.

—The Misses Edith and Ellen Fuller gave a baby costume party Tuesday evening at their home on Lexington street. It was a very unique affair and attended by 25 young ladies arrayed in infants' clothing, who presented a very droll appearance. A fine collation was served, but there was no Mellin's Food on the menu.

West Newton

—Miss Anna Bond of Otis street is entertaining friends from Brooklyn, New York.

—Mrs. Rutter of Lawrence, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Pelton of Highland avenue.

—The Interchange Book Club met Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Charles P. Wyman on Temple street.

—Miss Katherine H. Ames entertained at bridge Wednesday afternoon at her residence on Highland street.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Witherbee of Berkeley street have registered at the Brae-Burn Club for the winter months.

—The Score Club will hold its first meeting of the season Monday evening at the residence of Miss Tolman on Hunter street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Leatherbee, of Mt. Vernon street, entertained at dinner followed by bridge on Wednesday evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Gibson of Bigelow road left this week on Wednesday, for Denver, Colorado, to be absent about a month.

—Dr. D. W. Wells of Putnam street gave an address at the Evans Memorial Building in Boston, Tuesday night on "The Care of the Eyes."

—The annual sale and luncheon for the benefit of the West Newton Day Nursery will be held on Thursday, Oct. 31st at the Nursery on Elm street.

—A reception will be tendered Rev. and Mrs. J. Edgar Park on Friday evening, October 25th from 8 until 10, at their residence on Winthrop street.

—The alarm from box 334 yesterday afternoon was for a slight blaze in a barrel of papers in the cellar of Mr. H. B. Patrick's residence on Putnam street.

—Mrs. David Washburn Wells has sent out cards for an "at home," to introduce Miss Vera Burkhardt, on Tuesday afternoon Oct. 29 from four until six, at her residence on Putnam street.

—Mrs. Lawrence Allen and her children have returned from a two weeks' visit to Mrs. R. A. Allen of East Freetown, and Mrs. Allen is now on a short visit in Hartford and Northampton.

—The clam supper of Crescent Commandery of the Golden Cross was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. William H. Rand, Austin street. This is an annual feature much enjoyed by the members.

—The West Newton W. C. T. U. will meet Monday evening at 7.45 o'clock with Mrs. Charles Earnest, 10 Peabody street, Newton. Reports of the County Convention at Winchester and the recent state convention at Boston will be given.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.—The most notable engagement of a season thus far replete with extraordinary attractions is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, when Mrs. Langtry, (Lady De Bathe) returns to America after an absence of ten years. For her tour this season over B. F. Keith's Circuit, Mrs. Langtry has selected a one-act comedy written by Percy Fendall and herself, and entitled "Helping The Cause." Mrs. Langtry has the role of an English noblewoman, arrested for stone throwing and incarcerated in the Holloway Jail for two weeks. Mrs. Langtry will head an excellent vaudeville bill, including Charles and Fanny Van in their new act, "The Stage Carpenter's Experience;" "Rube" Dickinson, the funny monologist; Bobby Heath and Ruby Raymond in "The Good Old Summer Time;" Richard Walley a celebrated European billiardist and juggler; the Three Mori Brothers, and a number of others yet to be announced. Mrs. Langtry's engagement is for one week only.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.—These are days of great activity at the Boston Opera House, for in every department there are signs of the industry and preparation which herald the approach of the opening of the season. Even the added space gained by the erection of the Annex, is being taxed at all hours in order that accommodation may be found for all those who are rehearsing. While several of the more noted artists still tarry on the other side, many are here already and each ship that docks adds to their quota. "The Tales of Hoffmann" and "Louise," the two novelties to be presented during the first fortnight of the season, both call for unusually long casts. In "Louise" alone there are forty roles to be assigned and for each part there must be alternates and understudies, and so it will be seen readily that the full strength of the French contingent will be pressed into service. And because of the multiplicity of its roles, "Louise" is an opera which offers great opportunity to the younger singers. Meantime the season ticket sale goes briskly on and the management again wishes to urge all intending subscribers to make an immediate choice of location, for after Saturday Nov. 2, the sale of single seats will open.

Mr. Roosevelt had seven years in which to do things. Now he wants four years more—eleven in all—in which to really do them. (The Commonwealth.)

CASLE SQUARE THEATRE.—"The Man of the Hour" will be acted at the Castle Square during the coming week. It has been played before large audiences all over the country, and it has never failed to be listened to with rapt attention and to receive tumultuous applause. Its engagement at the Castle Square Theatre is for only one week, and it will be acted by the entire strength of John Craig's company, including Wilson Melrose and Mary Young. After "The Man of the Hour" on Monday, October 28th, Mr. Craig will present a new and original drama called "Butterfly Barometer," for the first time on any stage.

DANCE
 The Jongl Club, composed of a number of popular Newton Centre young ladies held a very delightful dancing party last week on Friday evening, in Bray Hall. The hall was attractively decorated with palms and ferns, and a very pleasing program of music was furnished by King's full orchestra. There was an attendance of about 100 couples. The affair was under the direction of the following young ladies:—the Misses May Foley, Margaret McInerney, Mary White, Clair DeRusha and Priscilla Vachon.

PARK THEATRE.—I have been in to see Rose Stahl again in her new play by Charles Klein, called "Maggie Pepper," and this second visit makes positive my conviction that in this play our foremost comedienne has a character which will outlast and outshine her Patricia O'Brien in "The Chorus Lady." Evidently the playgoers hereabout think so, too, for although the piece is now in the midst of a long engagement the house has been filled at every performance. As a matter of fact and record Rose Stahl has scored in "Maggie Pepper," the only real success achieved by a drama in Boston this season and at present writing there is no piece in sight which will share honors with her. The acting of Miss Stahl is simply great—we all know what an artist she is—but one of the delightful surprises of the performance at the Park is that Mr. Harris has surrounded his star with a company of splendid players and Miss Stahl is considerable enough of them and their ability to allow opportunity for the display of their talent. Therefore "Maggie Pepper" is one of the best acted plays we have seen on our stage in many days. MARIE D'ASCOMBE.

Crawford Ranges

One very remarkable fact in connection with Crawford Ranges is that nobody ever willingly changes from a Crawford to a range of any other make.

There must be a reason—we believe there are several. The Single Damper (patented), the scientific Cup-Joint Oven Flues that heat the oven in every part alike; the Ash Hod (patented), instead of the clumsy ash pan; these are some of the Crawford time and trouble savers.

If you will carefully examine and compare the Crawford with any or all other cooking ranges you will see why Crawford's do better work, with more comfort for the cook and less waste of time and money. Send for the illustrated pamphlet.

Newton Has Made Splendid Record of Success

ALBERT H. WAITT AND PAUL J. BURRAGE

Well Known Real Estate Brokers and Agents of Newton—Offices 406 Centre St.

One of the busiest and best equipped real estate firms of Newton is that of Messrs. Waitt & Burrage, 406 Centre Street. For several years the business was operated alone by Mr. Waitt, but two years ago he associated with Mr. Burrage, who was at that time the local representative for Alford Bros. & Co., together they continue to represent this concern in this section.

The members of this Newton realty firm are experts in all matters relative to real estate in this section. They do a strictly brokerage business, offering all local properties direct to their clients so that a buyer may receive all advantages offered. In addition they assume full charge of estates and of properties for absentee owners.

They are New England Agents for the Wahl-Messer Realty Co., Inc., of Duluth, Minnesota, real estate investments, this concern was established in 1887 and have enjoyed a wonderful advancement. Few people here realize that at the end of Lake Superior, her back doors filled with the treasures of the earth and with a developed empire about her, that Duluth is destined to be a great and important city. With the new Erie Canal connecting Buffalo and the Lakes to the sea, and the United States Steel Corporation devoting over twenty million dollars to the erection of the most modern steel plant in the world at Duluth, it offers to the real estate investor opportunities seldom equalled. Today the steel men the world over believe that Duluth will be a second and perhaps greater Pittsburgh.

WEST NEWTON SAVINGS BANK

A Splendid Institution, Ably Managed, with Ample Resources. Total Assets of $1,754,481.22. Deposits Have Increased Considerably During the Past Year

Organized in 1887, just a quarter of a century ago, the West Newton Savings Bank has enjoyed a career of uninterrupted success and prosperity ever since. Today it is rated among the most substantial savings institutions in the Commonwealth. It is one of the most conservatively managed savings banks in New England, yet so wise has been its investment that it has not passed a single dividend since its inception. It is officered by shrewd financiers and its trustees are among the most successful business men of Eastern Massachusetts.

Deposits in sums from $1 to $1,000 will be received and interest allowed. Persons who wish to deposit who cannot conveniently call in person, may send checks or money orders by mail. This arrangement has been a decided boon to many of the bank's out-of-town depositors who number many. Interest allowed is always that prevailing in other like institutions of the state.

Today the West Newton Savings Bank has total resources of over $1,757,000. Of this amount there is due some 4,700 depositors the sum of over $1,696,000, or an average of about $360 for each individual account, which speaks volumes for the thrift of the people of this section. At the present time there is a guaranteed fund of $54,200, a profit and loss account of $43,304.56 and interest of over $4,000.

The officers of the West Newton Savings Bank are George P. Bullard, President; Charles A. Potter and Frank E. Hunter, Vice-Presidents; Roland F. Gammons, 2d, Treasurer; J. Ellis Gammons, Assistant Treasurer and Edward C. Burrage, Clerk. The Board of Trustees includes the president, vice-presidents, treasurer, and clerk, also John C. Kennedy, Charles E. Hatfield, Jarvis Lamsom, John S. Alley, Charles W. H. Strongman and George P. Hatch. Of the above named, Messrs. Bullard, Potter, Kennedy, Hunter and Hatfield comprise the Committee of Investment. Several of the Trustees of the West Newton Savings Bank are Directors in the First National Bank and other well-known financial institutions and business enterprises. Mr. Gammons, the treasurer, is also identified with the United States Electrical Signal Co., a busy Newton manufacturing concern that ships its product to all parts of the world. He is also a Justice of the Peace. Mr. Gammons, the assistant treasurer, is a Notary Public.

So, receive immediate and careful attention. The Luther Paul Co. was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, some three years ago. The officers are Luther P. Paul, president, and Irving C. Paul, treasurer and manager. He is also a member of the Board of Investment, of the Newton Centre Savings Bank of this city.

Unquestionably this is one of the oldest, largest and best equipped enterprises of the kind throughout the Newtons. Established nearly thirty five years ago, then on a very limited scale, they have a trade today that is second to none in this vicinity. For the purpose of handling this extensive business they maintain on Paul street modern coal pockets and sheds, and an electrically operated plant for sawing and splitting wood for fuel purposes. Between 4,000 and 4,500 tons of anthracite and bituminous coal can be stored here at a time. The elevator is connected with the main line of the B. & A. R. R., by a private spur, greatly facilitating shipping and unloading.

The Luther Paul Co. handles only the very highest grade of all-rail coal, and make it a point to carefully screen the product, before delivery. Orders of any size are handled expeditiously. About a dozen single teams make it possible to render a very efficient delivery service to all parts of the south side. Lowest possible prices are at all times quoted, and a superior article of fuel is delivered. Wood in any quantity and at any desired size can be purchased here at very moderate rates. Orders by phone 590 N.

Newton Is the Ideal City for the Home Seeker

The home seeker has the greatest variety from which to choose in the many villages which from this "city upon a circumference," as a noted wit has termed us. In Newton, one finds the main library, the beautiful Farlow Park, the Y. M. C. A., and its many attractions, and rapid, convenient and cheap communication with the metropolis.

Newtonville boasts the High School, the new Technical High School and that splendid bit of philanthropy, the Claffin Field.

West Newton, seated in beauty upon its hill, is the centre of civic government and dotted with many fine estates.

Auburndale, quiet and still beside the winding Charles is an ideal summer home. It is also a busy trading centre for a growing population.

Waban, beautiful Waban, the queen of villages, has the most delightful social life of the city—a place where each one knows everybody else for a neighbor and friend.

Newton Highlands is another Waban of larger growth and vies with its little neighbor in the extent and warmth of its village life.

Newton Centre, with its placid lake and fine playground, has broken down the walls of exclusiveness and sectarianism and through the line work of its Improvement Association leads the entire city in deeds of civic righteousness. Last, but not least is the rural hamlet of Chestnut Hill, nestling amid the trees and rocks, surrounding Hammond's Pond, the home of those who can boast the best blood of both Colonial and modern days.

It is such a galaxy of attractions that Newton, the Garden City of the Commonwealth, welcomes all who can and will add to its standard of civic virtues.

best quality of all-rail coal from the best mines of Pennsylvania. The product is carefully screened before delivery. It will pay you to place your orders now, for Mr. Chadwick has a fine supply for immediate delivery, at lowest possible rates. Also, he will be pleased to quote prices on kindling or cord wood in quantities. Orders by telephone, 21-2 N. So. will receive immediate and careful attention.

In addition to the above there is carried here large stocks of masons' supplies of all kinds, particularly best grades of cement, brick, lime, hair, etc. As special agent for the celebrated Atlas cement he disposes of large quantities to leading builders and others in the city. Lowest prices always prevail.

WHITE'S PHARMACY
A Splendid Up-to-Date Drug Establishment of Many Years Standing—Established in 1896, 301 Elliot Street, Newton Upper Falls.

This part of the Newtons is particularly fortunate in the possession of such a splendid pharmacy as the one conducted by Thomas W. White, one of the best known business men and citizens of the city. He has the utmost confidence of all the leading physicians of this section, and makes a specialty of the accurate compounding of prescriptions, maintaining for this purpose a fine laboratory. In the store proper there is carried all descriptions of druggists' sundries, toilet and fancy articles, leading proprietary remedies, sick room requisites of all kinds, etc. A pleasing feature is made of a fine soda fountain, and a department for choice confections, cigars etc.

Thomas W. White is a registered pharmacist. He is one of the active members of the Massachusetts Pharmaceutical Association, and of the N. E. Retail Druggists' Ass'n, and the Boston Association of Retail Druggists. For several years he was a prominent member of the Newton Board of Aldermen. In fraternal circles he is popular in the F. & A. M., the I. O. O. F. and others. He is a member of the Newton Club, treasurer of the Odd Fellows Building Ass'n, and Vice-President of the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Society.

Mr. White now is representative to the Legislature from Newton.

UPPER FALLS

C. A. CHADWICK

Long Engaged in the Coal, Wood and Munitions Supply Trade of Newton, Yards and Office, 107 Oak Street, Newton Upper Falls.

For upwards of 45 years this concern has been regarded as one of the most reliable enterprises of the kind throughout the Newtons. After some changes in the personnel of the concern, Mr. Chadwick became proprietor in 1907, since which time he has added much to the patronage and prestige of the establishment. He has splendid facilities for the receipt, sale and prompt delivery of the products handled. Both a retail and a wholesale business is done, goods being delivered to all parts of Newton and vicinity.

The yards cover an area, 80 x 237 feet in dimensions, with adjoining property affording storage facilities of more than 35,000 feet more. Mr. Chadwick solicits trade for the very splendid list of over 500 residences alone, including individual houses, apartments, tenements, etc. Those who are seeking homes, modest or otherwise, will do well to call at Mr. Cozens' office where they will be sure to be suited, at just the rent one wishes to pay for desirable quarters. Also, the business man will find it to his advantage to consult Mr. Cozens and his associates, for they have a great number of splendid business properties in this city, which can be leased on very favorable terms.

Mr. Cozens buys, sells, rents and exchanges all classes of city and suburban property, improved or unimproved. He takes charge of estates and the property interests of absent owners in a most conscientious and business-like way.

As insurance agents the Cozens agencies are local representatives for some of the strongest companies in the world, among them the Royal, the Northern Assurance of London, the Niagara, the Queen, the Security, the Sun of London, the Hartford and others. They also represent the Globe Liability and other similar companies, whose resources amount to millions, and who are noted for prompt and liberal adjustment of losses, when they occur.

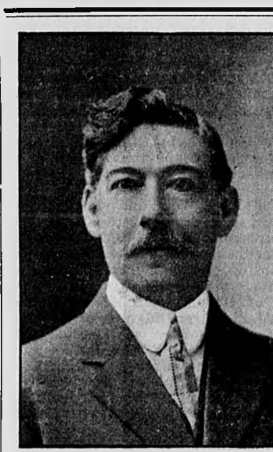

William J. Cozens is a native of Canterbury, England. He signed his naturalization papers in Detroit, Mich., in 1890, but has resided here many years, his home being at Newton Highlands. He is a member of several social and fraternal societies and is regarded as one of the most progressive business men of the city. It is well to mention here that in addition to his own realty interests, Mr. Cozens is the local representative of Harold G. King, of 200 Devonshire street, Boston, the well-known real estate man.

WILLIAM J. COZENS

Active in Real Estate and Insurance Circles—Offices at Newton, Newtonville and Newton Highlands.

The growth and development of the Newtons during the past few years has brought to the city the services of several experienced and practical realty men. Among the most active of these we mention William J. Cozens, who commenced business here three years ago, with offices at 303 Centre street. He now maintains other offices at 793 Washington street, Newtonville and at 1159 Walnut street, Newton Highlands. About two years ago he secured as associate, E. M. Rumary, a well-known real estate expert, who is manager for Mr. Cozens at the Newtonville office. At Newton Highlands Theodore P. Pratt is in charge. At the main office at Newton Corner Mr. Cozens is ably assisted by his son, William J., Jr., recently a graduate from the East Greenwich Academy.

Today, the Cozens' Agency is one of the largest and best equipped in the city, their lists containing desirable residential and business property in all parts of the Newtons and vicinity. At this time they have a

THE MOYER CAR--1912 MODEL

Gives Best of Service and Satisfaction--In Use in All Sections of the Country Over All Kinds of Roads and Under All Sorts of Conditions--Incorporates Many Desirable Features--The Ideal Touring Car--Furbush Bros., Agents, West Newton, Owners, Furbush Garage

The past year has very forcibly demonstrated that the constructive features of the MOYER automobile are thoroughly practical and desirable, so that it has not been necessary to make any radical changes in its design and construction; in fact, the changes that have been made are simply to make the car still better and keep it right up-to-date along the best Motor Car lines, rather than on account of any weakness or fault that has developed.

The cars have given all owners and drivers the very best of service and satisfaction in use in all sections of the country, over all kinds of roads and under all sorts of conditions, so that they have voluntarily testified in the very highest manner to their reliability and satisfaction. The cars have proven to be my very best advertisement and their users cannot say enough good things for them, but in order not to stand still and to keep abreast of the times I am continually studying new improvements to make the car still better and have designed and developed several new features. Nothing has been added to the cars in any particular that has not been thoroughly demonstrated to be practical in every respect and that will cause the cars to give still better service without adding any complicated, untried mechanism that is liable to cause trouble.

The principal new feature is the MOYER T. Head, long stroke, three-point suspension motor, 4x6, 30-40 H. P. This is a very handsome, clean, smooth, well designed motor desirable and obviates still further the need of anything in the way of a Shock Absorber. This combination of Distance Rods and Spring Suspension are unquestionably the greatest construction ever put under an Automobile and the most expensive as well.

A very fine little "Six" has also been added, which makes no change in the Models, except that they have 5-inch longer chassis and 35x4 1/2 tires. The same Bodies and Equipment are used and these cars have a beautiful T. Head, long stroke, 4x5 motor, 40 to 50 H. P., cylinders cast three on a block, which makes a very compact, clean, powerful motor. These Six-cylinder cars possess the same desirable features as the Four-cylinder cars and are very light; the Six-cylinder Touring Car, completely equipped weighing only 3,100 pounds. New designs of Bodies will be seen illustrated that make the cars exceedingly attractive.

The regular equipment now includes Dual Ignition System and Presto Starter.

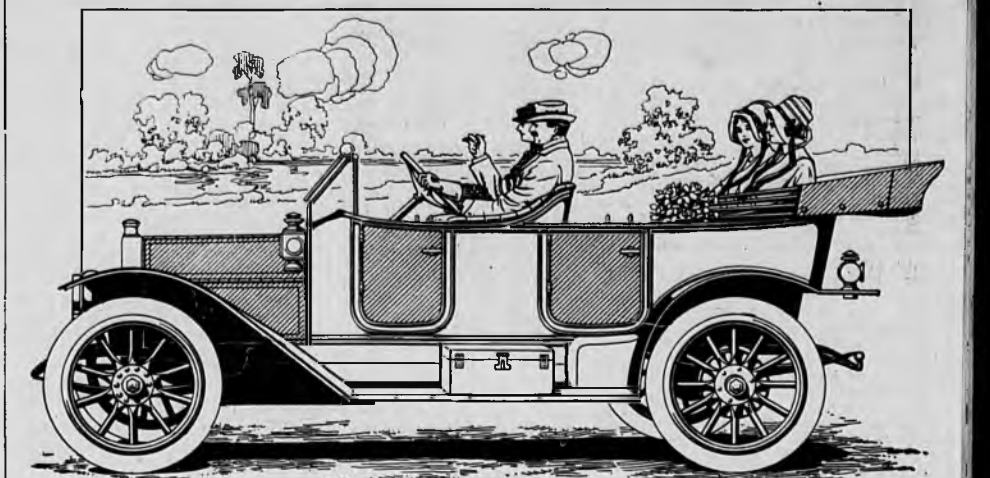

A close study of the different Models, as well as the comprehensive detailed description of all of the principal features, will certainly show the discriminative purchaser that there is more actual "merit" and value in the MOYER than can be found in any car on the market at anywhere near its price. When style, quality, fine workmanship, finish and everything is duly considered, the purchaser is getting actual Automobile value for his money that does not include a large percent for overhead expense, such as advertising, high salaries of department heads and a large and expensive organization.

The cars are finished in a large range and variety of colors and trimmings, and every detail of construction and finish is carefully inspected before the car is allowed to go out so that the purchaser has a car completely ready for use, properly equipped and adjusted, and has not to go through a large expense for necessary equipment.

The MOYER is built along sensible and practical lines, as simple as possible, and to produce a thoroughly reliable car that will give the purchaser the long and satisfactory service that an expenditure of the amount entitles him to receive.

Furbush Bros., West Newton Agents (East of Worcester) for the MOYER Car. They will be pleased to demonstrate its superior merits.

section of the Newtons. While an old established enterprise, it was incorporated in 1906, the officers being John Dolan, president; J. A. Early, vice president and H. E. Cahill, treasurer. The company is in order to maintain a large and growing trade throughout this region, have two yards and coal pockets, one in the rear of their office and the other, and larger one on Concord Street, their combined storage being upwards of 7,000 tons. Both anthracite and bituminous coal is handled, also wood in any size or quantity. A most superior grade of hard coal is delivered for household purposes, the product being carefully screened before delivery. Household and others will find it economy to place orders with this "old reliable" concern. Orders by mail or telephone will be given instant and every care of full attention. In order to maintain a prompt and efficient delivery service to various parts of the city and suburbs, the company has over a dozen single and double teams. Now is the time to place your orders for coal or wood, before the winter rush sets in.

At their attractive store they carry an unusually splendid line of imported and domestic wall papers and wall hangings of many kinds. Also, they deal extensively in paints, oils and varnishes, room mouldings, plaque rails, and kindred supplies. This line is especially full and complete and well worth looking at, especially at the moderate prices asked. As painters and decorators, they do strictly first class work.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS

VARNY'S DRY GOODS STORE

A Popular Shopping Place at Newton Highlands—Splendid Values in Every Department. Lincoln Street.

Under the liberal management of Lewis P. Varney, this up-to-date dry and fancy goods establishment (formerly conducted by M. E. Chase) has become one of the best patronized places of the kind in the city of "Newton." This is as it should be, for "Varney's" is a shop of splendid values. The stocks are new, attractive and of best quality,—yet, sold at prices that compel the attention of shrewd and critical buyers. In their various departments will be found seasonable stocks of dry and fancy goods, hosiery and underwear, ladies' and misses' furnishings, toilet articles, notions and small wares in endless variety. Still other lines embrace fine stationery, toys and games, post cards and novelties too numerous to mention.

Mr. Varney has had many years experience in this business, and is almost a daily visitor to the great marts of the dry goods trade in search of novelties. He has a thorough knowledge of the special requirements of the local trade, and sees to it that his establishment is attractively stocked to meet these special needs. Why go to the larger cities, if you can do as well, if not better right at home. Just stop in at "Varney's" when next this way,—you will be pleased with the goods carried, their quality, style and variety,—and, reasonable prices.

NEWTON CENTRE

T. G. FULLER

Splendid Building Work Done By Him in Various Parts of the City—Office and Shops, 28 Union Street, Newton Centre.

Last year one of the important contracts awarded here was that given for the building of the large and splendid additions to the famous Mt. Ida School. In competition with many of the largest building firms in and out of the city, the contract was awarded to T. G. Fuller, of Newton Centre. The work was completed to the satisfaction of all concerned, in four months. His shops and office are at 28 Union street. He will be pleased to submit estimates for the entire construction of any class of building, for residential, commercial or manufacturing purposes, or work bid on alteration or jobbing work all kinds. He also is a dealer in builders' hardware.

Among the fine residences erected under contracts awarded to Mr. Fuller we mention those of C. S. Chapin at 935 Beacon street, the Reed residence on Rock Ridge road, also the Gen. Draper room in the tower of the 1st Corps Cadet Armory. He also remodeled the Brewer Block, corner Devonshire and Franklin streets for the John Hancock Co.; also the Hor Savings Bank and London Harney Co., and others.

In the season from 15 to 20 men are employed. T. G. Fuller is well and favorably known in the city, and lives at 52 Ripley road.

NYE PARK INN

A Year Round, Strictly High-Class Family Hotel, on Grove Street. Special Rates to Permanent Guests. Two Minutes from Depot

Auburndale is the location of one of the most delightful family hotels in Boston's great suburban district. We refer to the popular Nye Park Inn. It is delightfully situated, and is a strictly high-class, all year round family hotel. Rooms are arranged singly or en suite, with private baths, open fireplaces, electric lights, steam heat, hardwood floors, and all other modern improvements, the house having been completely remodeled and refurnished within a year and a half. The dining room which is most attractive with its weathered oak rafters and wainscoting, small tables, and large open fireplace, commands a magnificent view of the surrounding country. The dining room and kitchen are on the top floor, and thereby eliminates all odors of cooking from the rest of the house. The kitchen has the most modern equipment and the entire house is supplied with continuous hot water by Rund instantaneous heaters. Special attention is given to the table, the cuisine, and excellent service being all that could be desired. One of the originalities of the management is a high-class private house cook, instead of a hotel chef.

NYE PARK INN, AUBURNDAL

There are broad piazzas on three sides of the house. All rooms are exceptionally large, light and airy. With all these splendid facilities and other conveniences the Nye Park Inn is a delightful and comfortable home for people who enjoy the freshness of the country, but who must be near the city. It is just two minutes from the Auburndale depot, trains arriving and departing every few minutes during the day and evening. There are accommodations for transients, but Nye Park Inn is chiefly a family hotel for permanent guests. The management will be pleased to send a booklet to any one interested.

Nye Park Inn, formerly the "Nye Mansion," is one of the landmarks of Auburndale. In 1887, owned, remodeled and occupied by Alfred B. Darling, the proprietor at that time of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York City. Mr. Darling's architect, who personally supervised the remodeling, was the late Stanford White of the firm McKim, Mead & White. The fine material (mahogany, cherry and quartered oak, standing finish) and workmanship which were used in the house at that time is still in excellent condition and will show for itself.

MIDDLESEX & BOSTON STREET RAILWAY SERVICE

Newton for many years, has, been fortunate in having excellent street railway service,—especially so since the advent of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co., organized in 1901, and now controlling 822 individual companies formerly operated throughout the Newtons. The consolidation of these roads has resulted in a splendid, uniform service to all parts of the city and surrounding points, making it possible to make direct connections with cities and towns in all directions.

Newton was one of the first cities to adopt electricity as a means of solving the transportation problem. In June 1891 the first electric car made its appearance on the streets of Newton, operating between Newton Corner and West Newton, on Washington street. By the following September, through service was inaugurated between Newton Corner and the City of Waltham. Since that time the development has been rapid, until at the present time there are in operation 127 miles of track serving a community of 39,806 people in Newton. At one time there were five separate and distinct companies but through the careful and economical efforts of our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. James L. Richards, these companies have been incorporated into one operating company known as the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co., connecting nineteen cities and towns on the West and North of Boston.

Under the same management is maintained and operated Norumbega Park at Auburndale, on the Charles River. This splendid pleasure resort is a source of pride and satisfaction to every Newtonian. Norumbega is the last word in Summer Parks. It has the most magnificent open air theatre in the world,—entirely constructed of steel and concrete, with a seating capacity of 3,500—where high-class vaudeville and musical comedy is presented during the summer months. The garden-riding effects are beautiful and its Zoo is the finest east of New York City. Norumbega Park is ideally located on the famous Charles River, the "Canoe River of the World." On Summer afternoons hundreds of canoes are continually passing by this beautiful and popular sylvan rest.

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co. was organized on July 2nd 1907. At that time the company took over the stock of the old Middlesex Railway Co. to the value of $300,000, which was sold at receiver's sale on July 1st, 1907. On December 1st 1908, the Westboro & Hopkinton Street Railway, and the Natick & Cohasset Railway Co. were absorbed. On July 1st 1909 the Newton Street Railway Co. also was consolidated with the "Middlesex." Still later, in October of the same year they acquired the Newton & Boston Street Railway Co. In July of the present year the Lexington & Boston Railway Co. was also taken into the consolidation. The capital stock of these combined companies, under the name of the Middlesex & Boston Railway Co. is $1,987,000. The total number of miles of track in use up to September 30th last was 127 miles. The principal towns and cities covered by this company are as follows:—

City or Town.	In 1910
Arlington,	11,187
Ashland,	1,882
Belmont,	5,000
Bedford,	1,231
Billerica,	2,789
Concord,	6,421
Frammingham,	12,948
Hopkinton,	2,452

Lexington,	4,918
Natick,	9,866
Needham,	5,028
Newton,	38,806
Sherborn,	1,428
Waltham,	27,834
Wayland,	2,206
Westboro,	5,446
Wellesley,	5,413
Watertown,	12,875
Woburn,	15,308

Power used on all sections of the Middlesex & Boston Railway Co., except the Lexington line, is supplied by the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. The company operates 116 box cars of the latest pattern and 148 open cars. In all upwards of 500 people are employed, the pay-roll averaging over $350,000.00 per annum. For the year ending June 30th last, the number of passengers carried approximated 17,570,000. The company's gross earnings for the same year approximated $905,000.00.

The officers of the Middlesex & Boston Railway Co. are James L. Richards, President; Edwin M. Richards, Treasurer, and George M. Cox, General Manager.

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co. is ready at all times to cooperate with the public to maintain and operate the best service possible. The management is always ready to investigate complaints and to confer with the public as to improvements in service and operation. Any information that anyone may desire at any time will be gladly given either by telephoning Newton North 780 or calling at the office at 797 Washington street, Newtonville. Also special cars may be chartered at reasonable rates, anywhere, for Lodge meetings, outings, picnics or dancing parties by conferring with the Special Car Dept. at the aforementioned Offices.

THE WABAN MARKET

A Splendid Food Supply House Operated by John J. Hurley, Who Also Conducts a Fine Market at Lower Falls

John J. Hurley is practically a new-comer in the commercial field of this city, but, nevertheless he has met with splendid success, the result of giving his patrons the best products of the markets, at prices that compel the careful attention of shrewd and critical buyers. The Waban store is at 1645 Beacon street, while the one at Newton Lower Falls is in the center of the business district on Washington street. Both stores have become very popular with the housewives of these sections. Specialties are made of the very best in fancy and staple groceries of every description, leaders being made of condiments, canned and bottled goods, and the choicest table luxuries. The freshest fruits and vegetables always are on hand as soon as they appear in the Metropolitan markets. In the matter of dairy and creamery products you have only to try those carried at these establishments to be convinced that none better could be had anywhere. The same remarks apply to the splendid meats and provisions carried. In addition by buying of Mr. Hurley you always are assured of a prompt and efficient delivery service. Orders by phone receive immediate attention. John J. Hurley is one of the best known and popular young business men of Wellesley and Newton; where he is held in the highest regard by all who know him.

NEWTONVILLE

QUINLAN'S PHARMACY
Corner Washington & Walnut Streets, Newtonville. Formerly "Partridge's."

In the Quinlan Pharmacy at Newtonville this city has one of the best equipped places of the kind this side of Boston,—one that is admirably managed. It is centrally located at the corner of Washington and Walnut streets, opposite the waiting station.

At the Quinlan Pharmacy a leading specialty is made of the compounding of physicians' and surgeons' prescriptions, and family recipes. For this purpose a splendid laboratory is maintained, equipped with every safeguard and device that will insure accuracy and promptness. In the sales department it is to be found druggists' sundries of every possible description. Specialties are made of fine toilet articles and toilet preparations of all kinds; sickroom requisites, physicians' and surgeons' supplies; reputable proprietary remedies, etc. Also, there are splendid lines of choice confections and smokers' articles. Also, a pleasing feature of the store is a superb Onyx soda fountain, at which is dispensed delicious seasonal drinks, stationery, school supplies, etc. For those who like current literature, Mr. Quinlan operates a private circulating library, containing all the new books as they are published, the charge being but two cents a day.

Personally, Mr. Quinlan is a progressive and hustling business man. He is a registered pharmacist, having graduated from the Mass. College of Pharmacy in 1909 receiving the degree of Prof. Pharmacy. Later purchasing the business from E. F. Partridge in October 1910, since which time the store has had a steadily increasing trade. He is a member of the Royal Arcanum and is held in the highest esteem by all who know him.

GEORGE E. THULBON

A Leading and Reliable Painter and Decorator of Newton Centre—Shops and Office, 43 Langley Road.

Mr. Thulbon has had many years practical experience in his exacting branch of the building trades. He has splendid facilities for handling the largest and most important contracts, and his fine work will be found in a great number of the finest residences, business blocks and public buildings of Newton and vicinity. At his shops at 43 Langley road he has a modern equipment and the best of materials. He takes contracts for house painting, interior decorations, hard wood finishing, tinting and kalsomining, ceiling work, fresco work, etc. He also does excellent work as a paper hanger and in wall decorations of every description. He carries samples of the finest productions of paper manufacturers of this and foreign countries, and will be pleased to submit them to those who want the best and most artistic creations. All work is fully guaranteed, while prices at all times are moderate. For strictly first-class work. Orders by telephone will receive prompt attention.

F. T. BURGESS

One of Best Known and Most Expert Plumbing and Heating Experts in Newton—Many Important Contracts Completed by Him. Office and shops Bank Building, West Newton.

This building review of the Newton would be incomplete without reference to the facilities possessed by the heating and plumbing concern operated so many years by F. T. Burgess in the Bank Building. Established over a quarter of a century ago, there are not many buildings of consequence in this vicinity in which does not appear the splendid work of the Burgess Shop of West Newton. An expert in sanitation and ventilation himself, Mr. Burgess employs from 3 to 12 skilled workmen on the various jobs underway. Scores of the finest residences in this and adjoining cities bear witness to the thoroughness of the work completed by him. Not only does he specialize in residential work, but he also has facilities to enable him to undertake plumbing, heating or ventilating in the largest building structures. During recent years he was awarded the plumbing and heating contracts for public buildings for the city of Newton, among them the Mason, the Bigelow and the Horace Mann School buildings, and others.

Personally F. T. Burgess is well and favorably known here. He is a member of the I. O. O. F., Knights of Honor and the Veteran Firemen's Association. He is Treasurer of the last named organization, and one of its most active members. Their old hand-tub "Nonantum" of West Newton has played an important part in the affairs of the city. In Chelsea in August last at the New England Firemen's Muster, the good old "Nonantum" defeated the "Hancock" of Brockton by a safe margin in throwing a stream 250 feet, 7 1/2 inches, bringing home the prize, much to the elation of the Newton Boys.

COLUMBIA PHARMACY

Under The Management of W. G. Colligan Has Become West Newton's Popular Drug Store. Located in Post Office Building.

Centrally located, admirably managed and up-to-date in every department the Columbia Pharmacy in the Post Office Building, at West Newton is one of the best patronized and most popular drug establishments in Newton. Formerly operated by Albert F. Wright the business for the past two years has been conducted by W. G. Colligan, a registered and experienced pharmacist, of many years standing in the profession. He takes much pride in maintaining a splendid laboratory, in which a specialty is made of prescription work. Leading physicians recommend the Columbia Pharmacy to those in need of prescriptions, or sick room supplies of any description.

In the sales department of the Columbia Pharmacy you will find an unusual fine line of toilet articles and preparations; all the really dependable proprietary remedies; perfumes and extracts; novelties and souvenirs in great variety, etc. Also, the choicest confections, imported and domestic cigars, etc. A popular feature, too, is the superb soda fountain at which is dispensed delicious beverages, summer and winter.

OTTO A. THEURER

Newton's Largest Contractor For Granolithic Walks, Drives, Curbs, Etc., Office, 6 Washburn Street, Newton.

One of the important items in the building of a home, or structure of any description, is the sidewalks, drives, etc., surrounding or fronting the building. And, in these days of modern ideas and reasonable cost of artificial stone, there is little excuse for crude walks of any kind. Newton's leading granolithic and artificial stone contractor is Otto A. Theurer of No. 6 Washburn street. Thousands of feet of walks and drives in this beautiful residential city have been put down under his supervision. He has been established here only seven years, yet for five of these he has been awarded a considerable amount of the public work, as well as many of the most important contracts for private work in various capacities. He has also done considerable sidewalk and other work for Needham, Watertown, etc., including floors and walks for the Watertown High School; floors for the magnificent "Tech" School of Newton; sidewalks for the Catholic Church of Our Lady of Newton; sidewalk and yards for the Fire Department at Watertown; he also has contract for building 3 story re-enforced concrete factory, also all granolithic floors, etc., for the Roper Brothers at Needham Heights and many others, including especially fine residential work in various parts of the Newtons, etc. Mr. Theurer is an expert in this line, and will be pleased to submit estimates for granolithic sidewalks, drives, curbs, copings, and all kinds of artificial stone work. He fully guarantees all work done, and charges very reasonable prices. Orders by phone 156 M. N. will receive careful attention.

T. ARTHUR NELSON

Now One of the Busiest Building Contractors in the City—Office, 58 Henshaw Street.

T. Arthur Nelson has been in business here in Newton for only three years, yet, is today one of the busiest in his line in the city. During this period he has been given a number of notable contracts, and the completion of these jobs has proven satisfactory to all concerned. He has every modern facility for the handling the largest contracts. At this time he has under way no less than six fine residences in various parts of Newton, Wellesley, Brookline and other points. Among these a large place on Hammond street. He has built several fine homes on Abbot road, Livermore road and Arlington road, Wellesley Hills. Mr. Nelson will be pleased to receive inquiries from intending builders anywhere in Eastern Massachusetts. He is a close estimator, and in accepting a contract makes it a point to live up to the specifications. Both office and shops are located here, with telephone connection. Special attention is given to remodeling, alteration work and general repairs, charges always being quite reasonable.

SAMUEL K. BILLINGS

For 25 Years a Prominent Carpenter & Builder of Newton—Jobbing A Specialty—198 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

Possessing every facility for undertaking the largest as well as the smaller contracts for building, Mr. Billings, for twenty five years has been regarded as one of the leaders in his line in the Newtons. He has erected scores of the prominent buildings and residences throughout this and adjoining cities. Mr. Billings has always excelled in the construction of fine residences. In this respect he has no superiors in

The Big Department Store of Waltham.

The P. P. Adams Big Department Store of Waltham has won a name and place for itself in the hearts of Newton people thru its splendid service, immense stock, courteous attention and low prices.

From small beginnings, Mr. Adams has brought his store to its present proud position as the leading store of Waltham by an unswerving policy of cash business and a prompt return of money in cases of any dissatisfaction. Indeed, the motto of the store, is "Money Refunded if not satisfied."

The store now occupies 12,000 feet of floor space, on Moody street, directly opposite the Waltham Post office. With immense windows for display purposes and unrivaled illuminating facilities it is the best lighted store in Waltham either by day or night. Recently the store was completely renovated, and equipped with most modern fixtures, such as all glass show cases, telescoping and revolving clothing and garment cabinets, etc., in addition to many other pleasing innovations. Also every comfort and convenience has been provided for patrons. An additional feature to Mr. Adams' Department Store is the new men's outfitting department, the finest ready-to-wear clothing, hats, caps, furnishings and footwear to be had here at most reasonable prices.

It is worthy of special mention that this is not only Waltham's largest and best equipped mercantile establishment, where employment is found for upwards of 100 people, but it also has the distinction of being the only place in Waltham or vicinity where men, women and children can buy under one roof, every article of wearing apparel.

From the beginning, Mr. Adams has been a firm believer in advertising,—honest advertising,—and his great Waltham establishment is the result of a persistent adherence to the policy of publicity and honorable business methods.

This particular class of building, he not only puts up the complete residence, but also makes a specialty of remodeling, alteration and job work in general. He will be pleased to submit estimates to intending builders or those who have it in contemplation. Those who have stores, offices or buildings in which alteration or job work is to be done, will do well to consult Mr. Billings before placing contracts elsewhere.

Personally, Samuel K. Billings is a Native of the Pine Tree State, but has resided in Newton almost all his life. He is popular in the R. A. the I. O. O. F. and other fraternal and social organizations.

To be healthy and vigorous, children need the freedom of movement promoted by the

NEWTON TRUST COMPANY

One of the Most Substantial Trust and Banking Companies in Eastern Massachusetts—Has Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits of $476,240.89, with Total Resources of Over $3,000,000

No phase of the development of the Newton Trust Company during the past few years presents so many attractive features as does the growth of the banking facilities of this city, and the large increase in the volume of business transacted by these institutions. There have been large demands made upon the banks of Newton, especially during the past decade, but there has been such a rapid increase in the facilities for the handling of business that no difficulty has been encountered. In fact, there is no point in the entire make-up of a live, hustling, progressive city in which Newton is stronger than in her banking institutions, and it may be further stated in this connection that nothing has contributed more forcibly to the up building of this section of the state than her unequalled banking facilities.

The largest banking institution here is the Newton Trust Co., formerly known as the Newton Centre Trust Co., which was organized in 1894. Messrs. Dwight Chester, Mellen Gray, Brastus T. Colburn, Albert F. Hayward, Seward W. Jones, Charles A. H. Edward, H. Mason, George H. Ellis and Austin W. Benton forming its first board of directors. Dwight Chester was elected the first president of the Trust Company, continuing to hold this office until its consolidation with the Newton National Bank. During his incumbency the institution increased from $10,000, at the close of the first day's business, to $1,220,000 at the time of consolidation, forming the Newton Trust Company. Its surplus has increased from nothing to $122,000, and its time of organization to $122,000. At the date of consolidation. During the same period its dividends were increased gradually to 8%—nearly 100% of the original capital having been either distributed in dividends or accumulated in surplus during that time.

The Newton National Bank, first the Newton Bank, then the National Bank, had been doing business on the site of the present building since 1840, and was therefore one of the oldest banking concerns in the state. The magnificent structure, occupied, was erected in 1898, and is conceded to be one of the finest and best equipped bank buildings in the Commonwealth. The Trust Company, then the Newton Savings Bank, occupied the entire triangle formed by Washington, Hall and Centre streets, forming a natural protection against fire from nearby property.

The Newton National Bank closed on April 18th 1908, when it merged with the Newton Centre Trust Co. to form the Newton Trust Company. Francis Murdock, for many years president of the National Bank, was made vice-president of the Newton Trust Co., which office he still holds. Dwight Chester was elected president of the combined institution and under his leadership the business of the bank has grown to its present splendid proportions. Deposits have increased from about $1,600,000 to an average of about $2,600,000, and its future prospects were never brighter at present.

The Newton Trust Co. affords splendid facilities for banking. In 1911 the quarters were remodeled and enlarged, many improvements then being installed, for the convenience and protection of patrons. At the same time the safe-deposit vaults were built in the basement, and are reached by a short flight of marble stairs exceptionally well lighted.

THE SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS

The principal safe deposit vault in which the safe deposit boxes are located, was constructed under the supervision of Mr. Frederick S. Holmes of New York, a recognized authority on burglar-proof construction, and exemplifies the latest ideas in modern bank vaults and their protection.

The walls of the vault are almost three feet in thickness, and consist of an outside wall of solid masonry about two feet thick, within which are solid concrete walls reinforced with steel rails five inches in thickness, placed close together, and finally a steel lining which also forms the inside finish of the vault. A modern system of electric protection completely covers its walls, floor and roof outside of the concrete steel rail construction, and inside the masonry. Should one of these wires be broken, the great burglar-alarm outside the building would immediately be set off. The alarm will ring over thirty minutes, and can be heard several hundred yards.

This construction renders the walls of the vault absolutely secure from attack.

The great door and vestibule are masterpieces of the steel makers' art. Together they weigh over twenty-two tons. The door alone weighs over fifteen tons, and has, including bolt frames, etc., a thickness of twenty-two inches. It is one of the strongest doors in Boston or suburbs. Its construction will defy every known device of the burglar. It includes in its construction ten and one-half inches of drill-proof steel, a five inch bed of carborundum and concrete, reinforced with drill proof jail rods. The Harveyized steel bolts which hold the door in place when closed are each three and one-half inches in diameter. The locks are controlled by a modern triple movement steel lock, which renders it impossible for anyone to open the door after it is locked at the close of business, until banking hours begin the following business day. The system of electric protection completely covers the door and vestibule as well as the body of the vault.

The vault contains 605 safe deposit boxes of different sizes, renting from $5.00 per year and upward. A commodious high, three and one-half inches high, five inches wide and twenty-four inches deep, rents at a lower figure.

For the accommodation of patrons convenient coupon rooms, well-appointed and lighted, are provided, in which contents of boxes may be examined privately, and in comfort. A larger room in which committees, executors or trustees may meet, is also provided.

THE CITY OF NEWTON

Our Trade Edition Indicates Its Resources and the Extent and Variety of Its Splendid Retail Establishments

Comprehensive Sketches of the Merchants of the City, Showing Their Ability to Adequately Serve the Residents of Every Village

While Newton has been appropriately named "The Garden City of the Commonwealth," and has for many years been famed for its residential beauties, it is, nevertheless, a city whose business interests are of considerable volume. The fine water power developed by the falls in the Charles river attracted early manufacturers, and Newton Upper Falls, Newton Lower Falls and Nonantum continue to be the manufacturing centres of the city, altho water power is but little used, at present.

The following pages of our special trade edition will tell in eloquent language the extent and diversity of the business which is transacted in this city, and there can be no excuse hundred and ten miles of sewer conduits and pipe. The sewage is discharged into the trunk sewers of the South Metropolitan System. There are moreover, sixty miles of drains or drainage pipes for the removal of surface water.

Protection against loss by fire in Newton is afforded by an efficient department with automobile and horse-drawn apparatus. Good order is preserved in Newton by the will and morals of the inhabitants, but any necessary protection of person and property is given by an excellent police force suitably officered with an adequate number of uniformed men. Other departments of the government are alert in enforcing measures in-

The schools of Newton commend themselves to the residents as they should to all interested in the true welfare of the men and women of the future. The continuing debt of the city to itself in this respect is well met, and its obligation fulfilled to enable its children and youths to fit themselves to bear their parts well in life and to become useful members of the community.

Within Newton are over four acres of the Hemlock Gorge Reservation with its very remarkable natural beauties and over one hundred and ninety acres of the Charles River Reservation with its driveways tree-lined and so pleasantly surrounded. In addition the city maintains over

Newton Banks Have Resources of $14,000,000

In the future for purchasing in Boston, for the merchants of Newton are amply able to serve all its inhabitants with economy, variety and dispatch.

The total valuation of the city this year is $79,363,445 of which $54,169,900 is real estate and $25,193,545 is personal estate. It had a population, in 1910, of 39,806 and is growing rapidly in every direction.

Water of purity attested by careful and authoritative analyses is supplied throughout Newton. By means of the works owned by the city the water, in generous quantity is made available by all but a very small fraction of the population. The pressure maintained throughout the twenty-four hours never varies more than a few pounds. The supply is from artesian wells near the banks of the Charles where this forms the boundary line between Newton and the town of Needham, while a large reservation protects the water from any possible contamination. Thence it is pumped directly to the circulating system, the surplus reaching a reservoir on Waban Hill, while the distributing pipes have an aggregate length of one hundred and forty-eight miles. The city is well protected by sewers, for there are one tended to protect the interests of the city and the general welfare. Due inspection is made of milk and supplies and weights and measures. The erection of dwellings or other buildings so notable in number and amount during recent years, proceeds only after due investigation and the issue of permits. Under direction of the Forest Commissioner the stately and beautiful shade trees and the woodland areas are protected from the ravages of moth and other insect pests. Moreover in Newton the unfortunate and the poor have such enlightened care as may be extended without pauperizing them and the Board of Health is active in its protective duties.

The streets and roads of the city, in their character and condition, may be regarded as important among the good reasons for extended civic pride in Newton. At the beginning of this year there were one hundred and forty-two miles of accepted streets and seventy-six unaccepted. The surfaces of these streets are varied to best adapt them to bear the expected traffic, but all are so maintained as to enable them to perform their useful purpose as avenues of communication or to serve as pleasant driveways in picturesque or beautiful surroundings.

one hundred and seventy-three acres of parks or playgrounds. Farlow Park is a beautiful and duly improved city pleasure ground, at Newton. At the Newton Centre playground, at Cabot Park and Clavin Field, are fields for base-ball and foot-ball, running tracks and apparatus for athletic exercises, all providing enjoyable as well as healthful occupation for the leisure of the students and youth of the city.

Not least among the many advantages of Newton is the fact that its people have had the good fortune to obtain, or have been wise enough to secure, a government composed of public-spirited men heartily interested in the present and future well-being of the city and representing the finest civic aspirations. In turn, the elected and appointed city authorities are fortunate in that in their efforts to advance as they may and to protect the best interests of the community they are duly sustained by proper public opinion and worth-while influence. No less, they are fortunate, as was acknowledged in a recent address of importance, "in being called to official duties in a community where only the highest motives of service are expected."

concrete construction, absolutely fireproof and electrically protected, affords ample accommodations for silver, trunks and other more bulky valuables. During business hours when the storage vault is opened, there is always an attendant present.

BANKING AND TRUST BUSINESS

The Newton Trust Company does a general banking and trust business. It receives deposits subject to check and allows interest at two percent on daily balances of $500, or more. The company also discounts commercial paper for its business customers, and loans money on approved collateral security.

Also, it may be mentioned, the Newton Trust Company executes trust of every description, and acts as administrators, executors and trustees of estates, also, as transfer agent, registrar and trustee under mortgages. The buying and selling of foreign exchange, and furnishing letters of credit form another part of the business carried on here. Depositors carrying accounts with the Newton Trust Company are protected by a guarantee consisting of capital, surplus, undivided profits and statutory liability of stockholders of the company, amounting to over $550,000. Customer's rooms at each office furnished with telephone, stationery, and other conveniences are features much appreciated by many patrons of the institution.

The last available official statement of the Newton Trust Company reveals total resources of $2,981,956. 29. In investments, time and demand loans and mortgages they had represented the sum of $2,507,705. The capital account of $175,000 is further augmented by a handsome surplus and undivided profit account of $301,240.89. In deposits of all classes there was $2,505,715.29. The company's assets have shown a most gratifying increase during the past year or two, on account of the progressive yet conservative policy it has pursued toward all classes of patrons. The outcome of this policy has redounded not only to the benefit of the institution but to that of the business men and of the people in general of Newton and vicinity.

The very names of the officers and directors of the Newton Trust Company including some of the best known men in Newton, are a guarantee of the institution's staunchness and responsibility. They are as follows, viz:—

Dwight Chester, President, Chester & Hart, General Agents of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. William F. Bacon, Attorney, Albion R. Clapp, Formerly of Billings-Clapp Co., Manufacturing Chemists. Frank A. Day, R. L. Day & Co., Bankers. Frank J. Hale, General Agent, Saco-Petee Co., Manufacturer of Cotton Machinery. Sydney Harwood, George S. Harwood & Son, Manufacturers of Woolen Machinery.

James H. Hustis, Vice President & General Manager B. & A. Railroad. George Hutchinson, Clark-Hutchinson Co. Jobbers. Boots & Shoes. Seward W. Jones, Jones Brothers Co., Quarries. Edward H. Mason, Vice President, Lawyer. Francis Murdock, Vice President, Finance Committee, Newton Savings Bank. James L. Richards, Pres. Boston Consolidated Gas Company. Pres. Middlesex & Boston Street Railways, Director, Boston Elevated Railroad. G. Fred Simpson, Simpson Brothers Corporation, Boston. John W. Weeks, Vice President, Hornblower & Weeks, Bankers. Member of Congress, Representing 12th Mass. District.

The treasurer of the Newton Trust Company, Frank L. Richardson, connected with the Trust Company for many years, is a recognized expert in matters financial. The correspondents of the Newton Trust Company are the First National of Albany, N. Y., the Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston, the First National of Boston, and the 4th Street National of Philadelphia. In addition, many of the directors of this company are largely interested in the Newtonville Trust Co. of which company Dwight Chester is president and Frank L. Richardson is treasurer.

BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY

Renders Excellent Service to the City of Newton with a Five Cent Fare and Subway and Transfer Facilities. Thru Cars from Connecting Lines Into the City of Boston

Newton excels in street railway facilities. It has direct connection with Boston over the lines of the Boston Elevated Railway Company. The service is frequent, the equipment excellent and the running time is short for the distance travelled. A single five cent fare carries one to Boston over any one of several routes and enables passengers to reach any part of the great system which the Boston Elevated Company has operated since late in 1897. The rapid transit needs of Greater Boston are peculiarly diversified, and the result has been the building up hereabouts in the past fifteen years of a unique and remarkable transportation system.

This system has been scientifically laid out, equipped, operated, and expanded. Every move made is in accordance with a well defined design in which is considered three cardinal requirements—good engineering, efficient service, and economical management. And each requirement is considered not alone with reference to present circumstances but with full regard for the future—that important factor which the last generation so often left out of account altogether, but which this generation, profiting by the experiences of its predecessors, anticipates so far as human judgment can.

It is just about 25 years since the introduction of the trolley car. That event marked a new era in street railroading and a new era in city living. People are bound to live within riding distance of their work, and riding distance means the number of blocks or miles, an individual can cover in the length of time he is willing to devote to going to and from his labors everyday. Horse cars restricted the territory of a street railway system to the distance a horse could go in the allotted period. By greatly reducing the running time for a given distance the trolley enabled a large number of people to make their homes correspondingly further from the business centre than they used to be, and this started a migration from the centre outwards from Boston to suburbs like Newton and from the heart of each suburb to its outlying districts.

When the Boston Elevated Railway Company took charge of the car lines in Greater Boston, nearly fifteen years ago, it found a serious situation. Boston, receiving, day in and day out, hundreds of thousands of people from its surrounding cities and towns, was threatened with serious transportation congestion. It was evident that to remedy this, and insure against similar conditions in the future, every branch of the transportation service must be laid out scientifically, particularly in regard to extensions, and the system existing at the time was rearranged and improved with that in mind. The first step toward breaking up the congestion was to bisect the congested district by means of a north-and-south rapid transit line, utilizing the subway, already in existence, and connecting it by an elevated structure with central distributing points, for the northern and southern suburbs, one in Charlestown and the other in Roxbury. To give further relief the Atlantic Avenue elevated line was constructed. In the same way the plans from the beginning provided for relieving the congested district on its eastern side by the East Boston tunnel and on its western side by the rapid transit lines to Cambridge, which were put in operation this year. The trunk line to the western suburbs, which specially interests Newton, was the most puzzling feature of the general layout. The territory to which it would be the main artery of travel is growing rapidly. After long study and controversy it was decided to construct another rapid transit route to the west from Beacon Hill. This is now being built under Boylston street.

When the Elevated began operating the system in 1897 the total amount that had been invested in transit facilities was $26,000,000; it is now more than $100,000,000; and when the subways and elevated railways now being built are finished it is said that more than $120,000,000 will have been invested.

The Elevated people had some peculiar difficulties to meet in carrying out their scientific scheme. The old street car system, even after it came under unified management, was a patchwork of what had been several distinct lines converging upon a common metropolitan centre. Many of the suburbs were connected with each other only through the "city proper," people riding "into town" on one side and out on the other, in order to get from place to place. To break up the additional congestion thus caused, cross connecting lines were opened between numerous suburban points, and free transfer points were established in both the city and the suburbs. The number of surface lines from the congested area outward was increased practically to the capacity of the highways. Not only were more cars provided but larger cars, that each might accommodate more passengers, and faster cars that the carrying capacity on the different routes might be increased by shortening the time necessary to cover them. Where it could be done satisfactorily, arrangements were made for bringing the cars of other companies into the city on the Elevated's tracks in order to save passengers from the annoyance of changing cars.

This was only the beginning of the work of development, however. This was laying the foundation of the system, the grows year by year and must keep on growing as long as Greater Boston does.

If the increase in traffic were uniform all over the metropolitan district the transportation experts would have a comparatively simple proposition before them. It would then be a matter of providing proportionately larger facilities every year, which might not always be easy but still would involve no uncertainty. Unfortunately, however, there is no way of telling in advance how the increase in traffic will be distributed over more than 500 miles of track in the system, and at this point the most scientific kind of judgment must be brought to bear on innumerable questions. "Preparedness" is the watchword of the men who have in hand the upbuilding and extension of the Elevated Company's great system—preparedness not merely for the emergencies but for the permanencies.

It is obvious, however, that there is a limit to the undertakings that must be financed by a comparative fixed income. During the past fifteen years, transportation facilities have advanced eight times as fast as the population and five times as fast as the wealth.

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK

Organized Over Eighty-Three Years Ago, It Has Resources of $6,000,000 -- Nearly 15,500 Depositors--Splendid Growth During the Past Decade

The thrifty habits of New England people, and more especially of Massachusetts people, have long been proverbial. It is not wonderful, therefore, that the savings bank system has been here brought to its greatest perfection, reckless speculation prohibited and the strongest possible safeguards thrown around these institutions for the protection of depositors, the statutes of Massachusetts for the regulations of savings banks embracing in their provisions all that can be desired, and providing a model upon which those of other states are framed. In Massachusetts the prosperity of these institutions is always taken as an index of the prosperity of the people. If they abound and the depositors are numerous, and if the deposits are large we are prone to believe that business must flourish. Deposits are made by wage earners, as a rule, and again wage earners are borrowers, securing here the means for building homes, etc.

This becomes particularly evident when it is shown that the Newton Savings Bank has over $3,000,000 invested in substantial real estate loans. The industrious mechanic, the widow, the orphan and others place their surplus savings here for investment without hesitation or misgiving of subsequent loss.

The Newton Savings Bank was organized in March, 1829 and was duly incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts two years later. About that time the institution had but 17 depositors whose combined savings aggregated only $478.36. It is one of the oldest savings banks in the states of New England. That its growth has been steady and substantial is evidenced by the following record of depositors and deposits, viz:—

Year	Depositors	Deposits
1830	17	$478.36
1860	179	20,520.44
1870	916	140,802.22
1880	3045	744,746.85
1890	7033	1,793,454.96
1900	11583	4,961,647.72
1912	15432	5,813,704.47

When the Newton Savings Bank was originated in 1829 it was the avowed purpose of its founders that it "afford a safe and profitable mode of investment and encourage the practice of prudence, industry and economy." Semi-annual dividends, promptly begun, have since continued without interruption. The figures above indicated show how well the purpose of the founders have been realized. For, today the Newton Savings Bank is one of the strongest, as well as one of the oldest, in the country.

NONANTUM SQUARE

THE VENDOME BAKERY

A Strictly Modern and Sanitary Establishment at 358 Centre St. M. A. McCormack, Proprietor and Manager.

In these days of adulteration of food products it is a pleasure to refer to an establishment that has built up a very large trade in this city through its policy of making absolutely pure and wholesome products. We refer to the Vendome Bakery, formerly Stoddard Brothers, but now operated by M. A. McCormack a practical baker of many years experience in the best establishments of the kind in New England. When he assumed management last November he made many improvements to the place, installing many new appliances and in every way making it a model bakery. Throughout all parts of the manufacturing department, order and cleanliness are scrupulously observed, and the breads and pastries, for which the place is now popular, are baked and baked under ideal sanitary conditions. A specialty is made of "Our Bread" a welcome visitor to hundreds of Newton homes. Also, there are produced dainty rolls, buns, cookies, pies and cakes in great variety. In the store at 358 Centre street these goods are attractively arranged and find a ready and popular sale with shrewd and critical housewives. They furnish large numbers of the workers of the Newtons their bread and other products. It is also well to mention here that Mr. McCormack has built up a fine reputation for his famous Boston Baked Beans and Boston Brown Bread, ready every Saturday at 4 P. M. Try them as others have, and you will decide that they will have no others. Orders for any of the products of the Vendome Bakery can be sent by mail or telephone with the assurance that they will receive immediate and careful attention.

WALKER SHOE COMPANY

Newton's Dependable Footwear Establishment—Stylish Boots and Shoes at Economy Prices. 267 Washington Street.

For the past three years this establishment has steadily grown in popular favor in this section. It is one of the best equipped footwear establishments this side of Boston, where splendid values are assured. Newton people find it every day economy to trade here. There are stylish boots and shoes in all sizes, widths and shapes for men women and children. And, what pleases patrons, is the fact that the stocks are in sufficient variety to enable a person to secure a perfect fit, in just the style desired, and at just the price one wants to pay for a desirable article. Mr. Walker does not wed himself to any one make of footwear. On the contrary he has many different makes in stock, each representing the finest from the leading manufacturers of the country. For instance he makes a specialty of the popular "Wauker" shoe for men and youths; the famous "Grover" soft shoe for ladies and misses. The celebrated "Clarke" is another fine shoe for women. Then too he has thoroughly dependable school shoes for the children. These makes and others are strictly high-grade, and sold at prices that compel the pleased attention of shrewd and critical buyers. Here, too, a specialty is made of "Custom Made" boots and shoes. Orthopedic work also is done, many prominent Boston surgeons sending patients here. In addition to fine footwear, Mr. Walker carries an especially select line of hosiery for both men and women. "McCallum's" silk hosiery for ladies, and Lord & Taylor's popular "Onyx" hosiery, also for ladies, and the "Stronghose" for men are the leaders in and in which a large trade is now done. The "Stronghose" at 25 cents per pair cannot be excelled at twice the money. These products are absolutely guaranteed.

T. C. Walker is too well and favorably known to need extended comment on our hands. He has been a long-time resident of the city, where he has the esteem and regard of all who know him.

NEWTON GARAGE AND AUTO CO.

One of the Finest and Best Equipped Garages in the City. R. H. Evans, General Manager, Well Known in Auto Circles. 1 and 3, and 24 Brook Street

The rank of the Newton Garage & Auto Co. in the automobile trade of this section is as far advanced as its name indicates. It is undoubtedly the largest and best equipped place of the kind in the Newtons, and as such has the best class of patronage as it could have.

The active man in the concern is Mr. R. H. Evans, well and favorably known to the trade in all parts of New England. He is popular with hundreds of motorists in this and other sections, who make this their headquarters, when in Newton. As treasurer and general manager of the Newton Garage & Auto Co. he directs the management of a splendid organization. The general service which this garage offers owners of autos is first-class, whether for storage, repairing, care and furnishing of auto requisites. Fifty cars can easily be accommodated at a time, and while here they are in the keeping of competent men. The mechanical department tolerates none but machinists of demonstrated skill and the highest priced car can be left here with the assurance that the work performed will be on a par with that which would be possible at the factory itself. The garage is a fine two-story brick building, each floor being connected with a large elevator. The ground floor is fully cemented and there is every facility and convenience at hand. There is a splendid department for the re-charging of batteries, and special provision is made for the safe-keeping of gasoline and other inflammable material. Every precaution is taken against fire and other accidents. At Nos. 1 and 3 Brook street, Mr. Evans conducts, on his own account a complete, modern repair shop. Any make of car can be handled here satisfactorily. While work done is of the very best, the charges are very moderate.

In addition to the garage business the company is local agent for a number of the finest automobiles made in the country, among them the famous "E. M. F.", the celebrated "Flanders" and the ever popular "Bordoli" cars, than which there are none better, at the price, on the market. Mr. Evans has placed a great number of these cars in Newton, and will be pleased to demonstrate the superiority of these makes to intending purchasers.

The Newton Garage and Auto Co. has one of the best locations in the city, convenient to owners and drivers who have need of a strictly first-class establishment. Mr. Evans' success is well deserved, as he seeks to advance only in serving his patrons' interests as well as his own. He is prominent in F. & A. M., I. O. O. F. and B. P. O. E. circles and has a host of friends and acquaintances. They carry a complete line of automobile accessories. They also have a complete plant for charging electric vehicles. The only one between Boston and Worcester.

ing specialty always has been made of fresh crop teas and "Old Government" Java coffees, at lowest possible prices. While carrying many brands of excellent flour, Mr. Airth makes a leader of the ever popular "Lotus" brand.

SACO-PETTEE COMPANY

Manufacturers of Cotton Machinery With Immense Plants at Newton, Mass., and Biddeford, Maine—Largest Industrial Plant in the City.

Newton has achieved an enviable reputation for a number of large growing and thriving industrial establishments of national fame. Among the largest and most important are the great plants of the Saco-Pettee Co., located at Newton Upper Falls. The company recently celebrated its 80th birthday in the manufacture of cotton machinery. The business originally was established in 1831 by the late Otis Pettee. After the death of Mr. Pettee, the business was continued by his sons, Otis and George, and his son-in-law, Henry Billings, under the firm name of Otis Pettee & Co.

During the year 1880 Henry Billings bought out the interests of the Messrs Pettee and continued the business under the name of Pettee Machine Works. Two years later the enterprise was incorporated as a stock company, with a paid-up capital of $200,000. Henry Billings was the president. At this time there were about 200 names on the pay-roll.

In 1897 the Pettee Machine Works was consolidated with the Saco Water Power Machine Shop of Biddeford, Me., under the name of the Saco and Pettee Machine Shops, with a capital of $800,000, and organized under the laws of Massachusetts, with main office at Newton Upper Falls, and the management of the new corporation under the same control as that of the Pettee Machine Works. From this time on the business of the combined concern steadily increased as the merits of its productions became known in all sections where cotton machinery was in use. The Newton plant has several times been enlarged. In 1910, in order to take care of the constantly growing business, the corporation increased its capital to $1,600,000, at the same time changing its name to the Saco-Pettee Company. New Buildings and improvements have been added to its plants here and at Biddeford, and the Company is, today, one of the first in the cotton machinery business in the country. The officers of the company are, Henry S. Shaw, president; R. P. Smelling, treasurer and Frank J. Hale, general agent. In the plant at Newton about 700 hands are employed.

Mr. Milliken will be pleased to give the benefit of his knowledge to those who invent various contrivances, but who are not practical machinists, etc. From 10 to 12 skilled men are employed in the works.

C. H. Milliken is a native of the state of New Hampshire and has been connected with his trade for over 35 years. From 1894 until he located here in 1909 he was engaged in the general machine business at Brooklyn, N. Y. He is prominent in the F. & A. M. and Royal Arcanum and is regarded as a progressive and active business man here.

ERNEST W. PAINE

A Prominent Master Builder of Newton, With Many Important Contracts to His Credit--Now Very Busy On Several Fine Residences--Office and Shops at 5 Hovey Street.

In Brookline, in Newton and in other nearby towns and cities there are scores of the finest residences which have been erected under contracts awarded to a well-known Newton contractor, Ernest W. Paine, of 5 Hovey street. He commenced business, as a master builder, in Brookline in 1904, locating in Newton in 1907, although he has been a resident of this city for the past 17 years. Mr. Paine has every modern facility for undertaking the whole contracting for all classes of building construction. He personally devotes his energies to carpentering, subletting the other parts of the contract to dependable firms. One of the secrets of Mr. Paine's success is in the fact that he always gives his close personal supervision to the completion of all contracts awarded to him. He not only lives up to the specifications of the contract himself, but also sees to it that the sub-contractors do likewise. He will be pleased to submit estimates for the erection of fine residences, public and private buildings, business blocks, and other classes of structures. A specialty, however is made of residential work. Just at this time he is building several splendid homes in various parts of this region, including one for Mr. Knowles, Lake street, in Brighton; one for Mr. Flye, Hull street, Newtonville; one for Mr. Spencer, at Waban; one for Mrs. A. E. Dunning, of Brookline; two stucco houses for T. B. Munroe, of Somerville; and a large contract on Brandon Hill, Brookline. Others are in prospect. From 10 to 20 men are employed, according to season.

Ernest W. Paine is a native of Dover, Mass., and learned his trade with his father, one of the best known builders of his day in Dover. He is prominent and popular in Masonic circles. He is also a Knight Templar. In addition, he takes an active part in the affairs of the I. O. O. F., the A. O. U. W. and the Independent Order of Heptasoph.

WEED'S NEWTONVILLE GARAGE

One of The Best Equipped Auto Garages This Side of Boston. Specialty of Fine Repair Work. Automobile Supplies, Etc. 791 Washington Street, Newtonville.

This splendid automobile garage is operated by George C. Weed, well and favorably known to hundreds of automobilists of this and other cities, a recognized expert in all that pertains to automobile construction. The Newtonville Garage is modernly equipped with every appliance and convenience, and a complete repair and machine shop in which any make of automobiles may be repaired. There is over 6,000 square feet of floor space, with facilities for storing between 30 and 35 machines. Skilled machinists and helpers are in attendance, day or night, ready for emergency work at all hours. In fact there is every facility at the Newtonville Garage for storage, repairing, washing and polishing. In addition there is a department where automobile supplies and accessories of almost any description may be had at very moderate prices. It is well to mention that Mr. Weed is local agent for the ever popular "Fiske" tires, best ever made. There is also a renting department. Three fine automobiles are maintained for parties, weddings, touring or shopping purposes. The service is all that could be desired, while the rates of charge are extremely moderate. Orders for this service receive prompt and careful attention, experienced and careful chauffeurs being provided. Send for rate card or telephone, 39-3.

George C. Weed is a hustling, progressive and able business man. He is highly regarded by all who know him, and his splendid garage is one of the best patronized in the city, as it should be.

WILLIAM J. McCLELLAN

An Expert Merchant Tailor of Newtonville--Cleansing and Repairing A Specialty--Masonic Building.

Few merchant tailors of the Newtons have a better reputation for stylish garments than has William J. McClellan of the Masonic Building, Newtonville. He has the pleased and continued patronage of a great number of the most critical dressers of the Newtons. He is a close student of prevailing fashions in the great Metropolitan centers, and being, withal, an expert cutter and fitter, it is not to be wondered that he has much business in this section. His salesrooms and shops are attractively fitted up, and splendid lines of samples of the patterns in vogue are to be seen here. It is worthy of mention that Mr. McClellan is agent for the ever famous and popular "Shackamaxon" guaranteed fabrics, none better made anywhere. McClellan garments are noted for their style, fit and finish and nobby materials, also reasonable prices. It will pay you to have your clothes made here,--it is a positive saving. In addition to making new garments, the McClellan establishment does an extensive trade in cleansing, pressing and repairing. He has a number of expert workmen and personally supervises all work entrusted to his shops. They have a splendid equipment, the work done is of the best and the prices are those that compel the attention of the most economical.

Personally William J. McClellan, is one of the bustling, up-to-date business men of the city. He is active in I. O. O. F. and R. A. circles and is popular with his patrons.

VAN WART'S MARKET

A Place Where You Can Get Splendid Values in All Kinds of Food Supplies. Elm & Washington Streets, West Newton.

For scores of families in this part of the city Van Wart's Market solves the question of keeping living cost down to a reasonable figure. The splendid stocks which they carry are of first quality, fresh from the finest markets, daily, but the volume of business is such that Mr. Van Wart buys in large quantities. He thus obtains concessions from producer and manufacturers which he applies for the benefit of his own customers. Briefly, Van Wart's Market is where you get the best for the least money. The stocks here are large and more varied than most other similar places, yet the prices and qualities are such as to compel the favorable attention of all shrewd and critical buyers. All staple and fancy groceries, and meats and provisions are carried here. Specialties are made of table delicacies of every description, including condiments, finest canned and bottled goods, all kinds of home made jellies and preserves, prime dairy and creamery products, etc. In the meat department you will find every thing in season, including poultry and game.

The Van Wart Market has set the pace for similar enterprises of Newton, by maintaining a standard of products and fair prices that tend to retain home trade. Mr. Van Wart is a hustler, and a progressive business man and citizen.

THE TAFT ADMINISTRATION

Congressman Weeks States Many Reasons Why President Taft Should Be Re-elected.

In response to an inquiry of Congressman John W. Weeks for a statement of reasons why Republicans should support President Taft for a re-election, I have received the following reply:—

Oct. 22, 1912.

Dear Mr. Brimblecom:

I take pleasure in replying to your request for my reasons for advocating President Taft's re-election. It is always good public policy to re-elect a President when he is a candidate for a second term, if his service during his first term has been satisfactory.

But you ask has Mr. Taft been a satisfactory President?

To this my reply would be that I believe any intelligent examination of his record will demonstrate that if accomplishment is the standard on which to base satisfaction, then I believe it should be most satisfactory.

No President in the history of our Government has succeeded in getting so many party platform promises on the statute books in the Congress succeeding his election as he. Your space will not permit me to go into detail in enumerating the successes of his administration which include:

A sane conservation of natural resources.

A positive advance in Forestry Legislation.

A successful attempt to obtain accurate information to be used in connection with tariff revisions.

A thorough overhauling of department organizations bringing about large economies.

A foreign policy which has combined firmness, moderation and skill to such a degree that many critical situations have been adjusted in such manner that the prestige of our country has been greatly advanced and we are on the most friendly relations with all nations.

Postal Savings Bank Legislation, which has produced results far in excess of those anticipated by its most enthusiastic advocates.

He, in spite of great opposition, secured amendments to the Interstate Commerce Commission to safeguard the public interest and provide for the creation of a Commerce Court, a measure of great importance to both railroads and shippers.

A stock and bond commission has been created and has reported a met-od to be applied to future issues of railroad securities.

Collecting customs duties has been reformed and many rich smugglers have been obliged to disgorge.

Publication of election receipts and expenditures has been decreed by Act of Congress.

An income tax amendment has been brought to a successful issue.

The President has thrown his great influence in favor of broadening the scope of the Hague Tribunal and has consummated many arbitration treaties.

The Bureau of Mines has been established, the scope of the safety-appliance act has been widened, the enactment of the boiler inspection law and the workmen's compensation and employers' liability acts have been advanced;—all of these being of special value to the wage earner.

These are only a few of the acts of the administration which have received general approval, in addition to which the President has enforced the laws as he has found them and has obeyed the laws himself.

The United States is in an unusual condition of prosperity. After a very careful investigation in the District which I represent in Congress I fail to find any people unemployed who are willing to work and in pretty nearly every industrial center there is an active demand for more labor.

It is not the workman who is walking the streets today; it is the employer looking for more labor. I hope all Republicans before voting will take pains to investigate the records of their candidates and especially the record of the Republican Party itself.

In a great country like this it is not possible to satisfy everyone, either in legislation or administration, but I feel that there never has been a time when the Republican Party has made a stronger or more successful effort to respond to the demand of the times in both of these essentials.

I see nothing but disorder and disappointment in the New Nationalism and I have no sympathy whatever either with the recall of the Judiciary, or worse, of Judicial decisions. I believe in representative Government based on principles, not persons, and in an independent Judiciary; without these the stability of our Government is gone and we sink to the level of Mexico or even more unstable States.

JOHN W. WEEKS.

DECISION SUSTAINED

Saco-Petee Co. Unsuccessful Before New Board of Appeal

Appeals from the decision of Public Buildings Commissioner Walter R. Forbush made by the Saco-Petee Co. were heard last week by the recently created Board of Appeals.

The Saco-Petee Co. asked to be allowed to build two additions to their present plant, and also to erect a hotel that would contain 50 rooms and a dining room with a seating capacity of 100. One of the additions would be a foundry building and the other to be used as an automatic room.

The reason that was given for the refusal of the permit to build the hotel was the fact that the plans called for frame building of over 40 feet in height. This would be in violation of the city's building ordinances.

Permission was refused to erect the foundry building because the drawings showed that it was to be of frame construction whereas the law requires that the walls should be of incombustible material or of mill construction, also that a portion of the external surrounding walls are shown on the drawing as eight inches in thickness while the ruling calls for at least a thickness of 12 inches.

The reason for refusing the permit for the automatic building was the fact that the enclosing walls are to be extended beyond the limit without necessary cross walls.

At the meeting a representative of the Upper Falls company asked if the hotel could be erected with a flat roof, thereby reducing the height to the limit prescribed by law. This would be allowable according to the board, and permission would be granted if the company saw fit to build a hotel that was not more than 40 feet from base to roof.

The decision of the Commissioner was sustained in each case by the board.

DEATH OF MRS. WEBSTER

Mrs. Nellie E. D. Webster, wife of George G. Webster passed away Sunday at her home on Walnut street, after a long period of failing health. The deceased was the daughter of the late Nelson H. Brown and had resided in Newtonville for many years, where she had endeared herself to a large circle of friends. The funeral took place on Tuesday at the chapel in the Newton Cemetery, where impressive services were conducted at one o'clock by Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's Episcopal church. Appropriate selections were rendered by a male quartet and the interment was in the family lot.

PUSH CART MARKET

Mothers Rest to Hold Unique Affair in Bray Hall

Bray Hall, Newton Centre will be transformed into a foreign market place the last two days of this month when the M. R. A. will hold a unique affair in aid of their summer work for mothers and children from the city tenements. A Belgian Fair, with its quaint architectural effects and scenes from peasant life, will greet the eye as one enters, and everything, from books to dolls, and from household supplies to candy, will be on sale in carts and booths, "just like the real thing."

An up to date Restaurant will supply luncheon and supper each day in the small hall, and a tea room, copied from a Belgian Inn, will dispense refreshment afternoon and evening. Wednesday evening, Oct. 30th there will be a short but brilliant vaudeville, when the Misses Harrington will dance. Thursday evening, Oct. 31st there will be Halloween festivities under the able direction of Mrs. Frank C. Hatch. Each afternoon Signor Briganti will entertain children and grown-ups with sleight of hand, and there will be fun in every corner all the time.

The first evening a special supper will be served, for which tickets may be obtained from Mrs. A. J. Harwood, 554 Beacon street, Newton Centre. Telephone for your supper tickets as the number is limited. Get your Halloween Dance tickets from Mrs. Hatch 123 Grant avenue, and above all buy and read the paper published in connection with the market called "Just This Once." For sale now on the news-stands.

CORRESPONDENCE

Oct. 22, 1912.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:
Some weeks ago, commenting on the meeting of the citizens of Newton, at the High School building, which you generously reported in full: in an editorial, you expressed doubt as to the efficiency of any attempt to accomplish the result desired, and if I remember correctly, characterized the effort as "puerile."

That word has been biting me ever since. If the sober second thought of the people of Newton will send our representatives back to the State House this year, where we can have their valuable assistance, and the people of Newton will rouse themselves to show their antagonism to the entry of another railroad through Newton, and if you will give the influence of your paper to the cause, I have faith that we can accomplish what we desire.

In their dismay at the passage of the act permitting a railroad through Newton, people overlook all the good which our representatives have done, and the increased power they will have by reason of their long experience in the Legislature. The Chairman of the Railroad Committee in particular will have a great influence, which we should retain for our own good.

At this time when so many good citizens are working for a change which promises to put Fitzgerald in the United States Senate and possibly a Democrat in place of one of the ablest men in the House of Representatives at Washington, Hon. John W. Weeks, let us at least keep sane as to local matters and elect men to the State House who will preserve to us inviolate our Garden City of Newton.

C. F. AVERY.

October 23, 1912.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic, Newton, Mass.,

Dear Sir:
Appropos of the criticism of Mr. Geo. H. Ellis and his colleagues in the House, in the matter of the Grand Trunk Act, I wish to call to the attention of all who are interested, that had it not been for Mr. Ellis, who is Chairman of the Committee on Railroads, legislation much more serious in its consequences to Newton than the present Act would most readily have become law.

I have been told by members of the Legislature that Mr. Ellis is by far the ablest and most influential man on the Railroad Committee; that almost any kind of a bill, once out of the Committee, would have gone through, so pronounced was the sentiment for new rail connection with the west; and that the safeguards in the Act and the substitution of a possible connecting road through Newton for the main line (which was in the original bill, and which so many influential property owners of Newton advocated) were due to the fight in the Committee made by Mr. Ellis to make the Act less injurious to Newton.

So overwhelming was the sentiment in favor of the Grand Trunk that in no position, except from representatives of the New Haven, appeared at any of the numerous hearings and the bill went through the House on a vote without discussion. Mr. Ellis, one of the fairest, ablest, and most conscientious men who ever served our city (and I know this from my experience with him in our Board of Aldermen), fully realizing the situation from both the local point of view and the popular demand for the Road, got the best bill possible.

I was present at the meeting of protest and I think we owe our representatives a vote of thanks that we are not menaced by a more serious situation than now exists.

CHARLES D. CABOT.

BAD FIRE

Residence of Mr. W. R. King Gilted by Fire

The first fire of a serious nature in this city for several months totally destroyed the beautiful home of Mr. William R. King, 36 Lenox street, West Newton, last Friday night, while the members of the household were visiting in Boston. Nothing except jewels belonging to Mrs. King, which she rescued herself, were saved, entailing a loss of $20,000.

The interior of the house presents a curious sight, the fire having burned a hole right thru the centre of the building from the cellar to the roof. It is possible to stand on the second floor and look down into the cellar and upwards to the sky.

The fire was discovered by neighbors, the lower floor of the house then being in flames. They communicated with Fire Headquarters, and a second alarm was sounded shortly afterwards, bringing apparatus from distant parts of the city. At that time the fire had gained such a headway that the department were able to do little more than to keep the blaze from spreading to surrounding dwellings.

Mr. and Mrs. King reached their home to see it fast being consumed by hot flames, and Mrs. King was allowed to save her jewels after the fire was under control.

The fire broke out in the cellar, probably from some oil rags placed in the paper barrel. The maid left the house shortly after 6 o'clock, nearly three hours before the fire broke out. For a week there has been a fire in the heater, but two days previous it was allowed to become very low and no coal had been put into the heater since then.

The house contained 12 rooms, and was built by Mr. King 14 years ago, although it was remodeled some 4 years ago. The house contained many heirlooms which had been in possession of the family for many years, some dating back to the 17th century, all of which were destroyed as well as the furnishing and personal effects.

A valuable horse attached to Hose 8 fell on Watertown street, Newtonville, in answering to the alarm and broke its leg, which necessitated its being shot. A horse from a passing team was quickly put to use which then made the hard uphill climb to the fire.

While there has been some criticism as to the delay in answering the alarm, the facts show that the rumors are unfounded. Twelve minutes elapsed from the time the fire was first noticed before the apparatus arrived on the scene, not a long time when all the circumstances are taken into account. The first alarm was rung in at 8:41 and the second alarm was sounded on the ground by the Chief, himself, five minutes later.

EVENING SCHOOL

A Trade School Will Be Established With Exceptional Opportunities For Instruction

An exceptional opportunity will be presented the trade workers of this city in the opening of the Newton Evening School for trade workers, which takes place next Monday evening in the Newton Technical High School.

Courses will be given at regular sessions which will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week and which will be open to men and women over seventeen years of age who are engaged in different lines of trade work during the day. The purpose of these courses is to afford such workers the opportunity to increase their efficiency in their particular line of work, also to assist those young women who wish to fit themselves for the future care of the home.

These courses are given by the city free of all expense and while preference will be given to such residents of Newton as are qualified to profit by this sort of instruction, non-residents may attend, at the expense of the city or town in which they reside, provided such courses are not maintained in their place of residence.

While the courses are free, nevertheless a deposit of one dollar will be required at the time of registration which will be returned at the end of the term to all who return the instruments and books which are loaned them, without unnecessary injury.

Those desiring to avail themselves of this great opportunity to better their condition and fit themselves for larger work may register at the school on Oct. 23rd (if they have not already registered), make their deposits and attend to necessary arrangements for commencing work on Monday. Those, however, who cannot register by Oct. 23rd, may, if there is room for them, register later and enter the school Monday night. The sessions will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. The following classes for men will be conducted:

1. Machine Drawing and Blue Print Reading.

This class for machinists, "machine hands," and pattern makers. The aim of this course is to enable men employed in the machine trade to read blue prints and to make such machine drawings as will enable them to "lay out" work.

2. Shop Calculations.

This class is for men who are employed in machine shops, and the aim will be to teach the arithmetic and calculations necessary in machine shop operations, such as milling machine work, screw cutting, taper turning, etc. Lack of previous school training in arithmetic need not prevent men who are otherwise qualified from entering this class.

3. Bench Lathe Work.
This class is limited to fifteen, the number of bench lathes which are available. This course covers all the operations which can be performed on the Bench Lathe. The members of last year's class will be given preference provided they register on the night specified.

4. Machine Shop Practice and Tool Making.

This class is limited to twenty-five, and only those who are now specialists on machine tools. All applicants must be employed in a machine shop and preference will be given to men who are now specialists on different machine tools. The course will cover instruction on the following tools: Engine Lathe, Planer, Shaper, Milling Machine, Horizontal Boring, Drilling and Milling Machine, Grinding, both cylindrical and surface.

5. Architectural Drawing.

The classes in Architectural Drawing are intended for workmen in the building trades and wood working shops, such as carpenters, plumbers, electricians, masons, bricklayers, cabinet makers and mill hands. The aim of these classes is to help workmen and apprentices to read and make plans in such a way that they can locate their special kinds of work on a set of architect's drawings.

6. Theory and Practice of Electrical Work.

This class is limited to fifteen and only those who are now connected with some form of electrical work are eligible for admission. The course will cover wiring of all kinds, the erection and care of motors, dynamos, telephone systems, management of power plants, and power distribution. The following classes for women will be conducted, namely:

Cooking and Dressmaking

The courses in these subjects are offered to women in order that they may fit themselves for the care of the home and to enable those already engaged in home making, cooking or dressmaking to become more efficient in these occupations.

In providing these courses of instruction for the trade workers of the city Dr. Spaulding and the School Committee have planned that those who enter into this work shall have the best that can be given.

This is a wonderful opportunity which many people, old and young alike, ought to embrace and those in charge who have outlined the work for this year deserve the highest commendation. It is a chance of a lifetime for some of the workers in this city and the school ought to be well attended. Mr. M. W. Murray will be in charge at the school.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER D. R.

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R. held its meeting at the Newton Club, Newtonville, on Wednesday, October 23rd.

After the business session which included the filling of three vacancies on the Executive Board as follows:—Vice Regent, Mrs. John T. Godding, Auditor, Mrs. Elmina T. Davis, Director Caleb Stark Chapter Juniors, Miss May M. Rich.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Henry B. Pinkham and consisted of piano solos by Miss Lacroix of Worcester, recitations by Miss Louise K. Pinkham and vocal selections by Mr. F. Warren Davis of Brookline.

The hostesses were Mrs. C. A. Davis; Mrs. Henry B. Pinkham; Mrs. Frank D. Fletcher; Mrs. Spencer Shephardson; Mrs. Samuel P. May and Mrs. Theodore C. Walker.

PRESERVING JUICES OF STEAK

Great Point to Be Remembered When Broiling of the Meat Is Undertaken.

In an article on "The Appetizing Beefsteak," in the Woman's Home Companion, Fannie Merritt Farmer,
the well-known cooking authority, presents a number of recipes and gives the following general advice about steaks:

"The underlying principle which governs good broiling is this: One side of the meat must be quickly seared, the meat must be turned, and the other side quickly seared. This prevents the escape of any of the juices.
Turn almost constantly for the first minute of the cooking, then the meat must be cooked on one side, turned and cooked on the other, to suit individual taste.

"The best cuts of meat for broiling are porterhouse, sirloin, crosscut of rumpsteak and second and third cuts from top of round. Porterhouse and sirloin cuts, although commanding about the same price per pound as the cross cut of the rump, prove more expensive on account of the greater loss in bone and fat. Round steak is very juicy, but, having coarser fiber, is never as tender. Neither is the flank end of a porterhouse very tender. For this reason, it is a good plan to cut it off before cooking the steak and use it for meat cakes (Hamburg steak) or a small stew, or perhaps a small beefsteak pie. Cut out the tenderloin and reserve it to be cooked for one meal; cut off the flank and save it to be prepared for another;
then broil the sirloin for dinner. The bone may be used to give added richness to the stock. If the flank end is utilized for a stew."

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Always use soft water for washing purposes whenever possible.

Wash a little paraffin in the blackboard to increase the brightness of the polish.

To take away the oily taste when using oil for frying, make the oil very hot and then fry a piece of onion in it,
and when brown take it out.

One of the most useful herbs in cookery is thyme, which is invaluable
for seasoning forcemeat, meat balls, etc. Both lemon and common thyme should be stored.

To remove machine oil stains, cover them with lard for several hours, and then wash with soap and water. When the lard is washed out the spots will have disappeared.

When darning stockings run a thread around each hole before beginning and draw until the edges lie flat.
This makes the hole appear smaller,
and it will be much easier to mend.

To keep a zinc-covered kitchen table bright rub it occasionally with a cloth dipped in vinegar.

To dry a one-piece frock and have it keep its shape, slip it on a wooden coat hanger that you have first covered with a couple of folds of old muslin.

Barley Soup.
Three ounces barley, 1 1/2 ounces state bread, 1 1/2 ounces butter, one-quarter ounce chopped parsley, one-quarter ounce salt. Wash and steep the barley for twelve hours in one half pint of water, to which a piece of carbonic soda, the size of a pea, has been added; pour off the water not absorbed, add the bread crumbs, three quarters of boiling water and the salt;
boil slowly in a well-thinned covered pan for four or five hours, add the parsley, butter, white pepper about half an hour before the soup is ready to serve.

Mother's Surprise.
Take half a square loaf of baker's bread, cut into thin slices, crust and all, and butter them; peel, core and cut up sufficient quantity of good baking apples to be in proportion.
Take a pie dish, line it with bread and butter; put a layer of the apples at the bottom, then of sugar, then of bread, and so on until the dish is filled. Bake until the apples are perfectly soft; turn out in a dish and serve. It should keep its shape and taste almost like a sweetmeat, all the ingredients being thoroughly blended in baking.

Brain Cakes.
Wash the brains thoroughly, first in cold and afterward in hot water; remove the skin fibers and then boil the brains with a little salt for two or three minutes. Take them up and beat them in a basin with some very finely chopped parsley, sifted sage, salt, mace, cayenne pepper, well beaten
yolk of an egg and a gill of cream.
Drop them in small cakes into frying pan; fry them in butter a light brown color. A little flour and grated lemon peel are sometimes added.

Cherry Vinegar.
Pour one and one-half pints of vinegar over two quarts of red cherries, let stand three days, then strain. Measure and to each pint of liquid add one pint of sugar, boil twenty minutes and bottle. Dilute with ice water when serving.

A Late Fad.
Patch pockets are a feature of the tailor-made skirts; and instead of placing the solitary specimen allowed to each skirt high on the left side it is rather novel to see it just beneath the frill of the skirt.

NEW WAYS OF COOKING LAMB

Many Prefer, for a Change, to Have the Meat Taste Like Venison
—Some Recipes.

Pull off all the skin from a leg of lamb; put it in an earthen dish and pour over it a quart of sour milk (well beaten). Add some sliced onion, a slice of lemon, six pepper corns, one bay leaf and some salt. Leave the meat in the dish from five to eight days and turn it once a day. Then wash off the milk and lard the meat with strips of bacon. In roasting pan put remnants of the bacon, a piece of butter and some rinds of pumpernickel or rye bread, a little onion and sliced carrot. Roast one hour; while roasting add a cup of sour cream.

Another Way.—Take off all the fat and skin from a leg of lamb and lard
it with strips of bacon, on which some pepper has been put. Put the meat in an earthen dish and add some onion, two bay leaves, some carrots and some peppers; then pour over it a quart of white vinegar and turn faily for four days. Without washing, put the meat in the roasting pan and brown in butter. Roast one hour, gradually adding some of the vinegar
in which the meat has been pickled.

A Simpler Way.—Skin a leg of lamb and take off all the fat. Soak a napkin in vinegar and leave it around the meat for three days, taking care that the cloth never gets dry. It is best to put fresh vinegar on every day. The fourth day lard the meat and let it remain in buttermilk one day. Then dry off and fry in butter.
Add some sweet cream to the gravy.

To Restore Color Bleached by Acid.

When color on a fabric has been accidentally or otherwise destroyed by acid, ammonia is applied to neutralize or counteract the effect of the acid, after which an application of chloroform will in almost all cases restore the original color. The application of ammonia is common, but that of chloroform is not so well known. In the case of your fine slate-colored serge skirt discolored by using strong oxalic acid to remove fruit stains, touch the spots lightly, using, if possible, a fine brush, or a bit of cotton pad on the plain end of a match. Have the pad almost dry and see that it affects every part of the stained place, then apply the chloroform in the same way. Afterward press the injured portion under a cloth using a cool iron and your skirt will be nicely restored.

Two Dainty Salads.
A good salad is made by covering crisp hearts of lettuce with chopped olives and sliced red Spanish peppers.
On top put shredded cucumber mar-inated in French dressing and garnish with a spoonful of mayonnaise.

Cut the top from seedless Californian oranges and remove the pulp in as large pieces as possible. Skin each section and mix with it shredded pine apple, seeded white grapes and a few preserved cherries. Marinate in French dressing and serve the ice cold fruit in the orange shells.

This same recipe can be made into a compote or even a sweet salad by adding the juice of tangerine oranges and a dash of maraschino or sherry and a little sugar, instead of the French dressing.

Tomato Toast.
Three tomatoes, three red chilies,
one onion, one-half ounce butter, one dessertspoon milk, one tablespoon bread crumbs, one egg, salt and cayenne to taste. Put the tomatoes in boiling water for two minutes, then peel them, chop very fine with the chilies, salt and onion. Put the butter and milk into a pan, add the tomatoes and chilies, cook for a few minutes and mix a well-beaten egg with it. Then cook until the mixture is the thickness of buttered eggs.
Serve on slices of buttered toast and sprinkle fried bread crumbs on the top.

Filling.
Dissolve one square of bitter chocolate, grated, in a dish placed in boiling water. Whip the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth. Pour a half cupful boiling water over one cupful of granulated sugar and cook until it turns fine threads. Turn the melted sugar slowly into the beaten eggs and whip until the mixture is cool. Add the melted chocolate and whip until a smooth, frothy cream, then whip in a half teaspoonful of vanilla. This will be sufficient for the top and filling of the cake.

Creamed Eggs—Mushrooms.
Cook two tablespoos of chopped mushrooms and one tablespoon of chopped onion in one tablespoon of butter for five minutes, taking care not to let it brown. Then stir in one tablespoon of flour and add slowly one-half pint of hot, white stock; pepper and salt to taste, and let cook gently for four minutes. Take six hard-boiled eggs and cut the whites of three into rings; chop the remaining three whites and cut into quarters. Mix the chopped whites and yolks with the sauce; turn into a platter and garnish with the rings.

Canned Cucumbers.
Put green cucumbers in salt water over night; put vinegar, not too strong,
in a granite kettle, with mixed spices;
let come to a boil; drop in the cucumbers; let them come to a boiling point; fill glass jars that have been well heated, to a two-quart can, put in one tablespoof of granulated sugar;
then pour over them the hot vinegar,
and seal; these are as crisp and tender as when fresh picked.

NICKERSON-ANDERSON

The wedding of Miss Mary Dorothy Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Anderson of Newtonville, and Atkins Nickerson, Dartmouth 10, son of Mrs. Walter Irving Nickerson of Boston, took place on Saturday evening at St. John's Episcopal Church, which was artistically decorated for the occasion with a profusion of southern smilax, palms and white chrysanthemums. As the wedding party approached the altar, the organist, assisted by the vested choir of girls, rendered Wagner's bridal chorus from Lohengrin. At 8 o'clock the ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Richard T. Loring.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful gown of white embroidered Canton crepe, real lace, court train, with veil caught up with valley lilies, and carried a full shower bouquet of valley lilies. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Cumming Anderson, as maid of honor, in pink messaline over drapery chiffon and brilliant, carrying pink and white roses, and Miss Margaret Christine Anderson, as honor-maid, in white chiffon and painted pink flowers and carrying pink rose-buds.

The bridesmaids, who were the Misses Edith Brown Gilman, L. Jeanette McArthur of West Roxbury, Grace Brigham Smith of Dorchester and Margaret E. Sweet of Brunswick, Maine, were attractively gowned in pink shaded charmesuse with Duchess lace and crystal trimmings with head-dress of brilliant band and maline, and carried bouquets of pink Killarney roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Frank Schuyler Dodge of Whitefield, N. H., as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Earl Howard Pierce of Newtonville, R. Raymond Gorton of West Newton, Theodore Warner Smith of Newton, and John Alva Ferguson of Dorchester.

Immediately following the ceremony a largely attended reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents on Mount Vernon street which was very handsomely decorated with palms, southern smilax and chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Anderson and Mrs. E. Ryder Smith of Newton. Guests were present from Philadelphia, New York, Springfield, Portland, Whitefield, Boston, Brookline and the Newtons. On their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson will be at home after January 1st, at 61 Quint avenue, Allston.

PASTOR'S RECEPTION

The annual reception to Rev. and Mrs. H. Grant Person was held last week on Wednesday evening at the Elliot Church. It was a very pleasant occasion, and fully 200 members and their friends assembled in the chapel which was made most attractive with decorations of lilies and autumn leaves.

Members of the Church quartet furnished a very pleasing program of music. Mr. and Mrs. Person were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Truette. Refreshment were served, the young ladies of Miss Walker's class acting as servers. The ushers were Messrs. Arthur W. Porter, Harold March, and Chester Beldin.

BLAKE-SHERMAN

A charming home wedding which was witnessed by a large gathering of relatives and friends, was that of Miss Marguerite Sherman of Newtonville, and Arthur William Blake of Portland, Maine, which took place last week on Saturday evening, at the residence of the bride on Walnut street. The house was beautifully decorated throughout, with white and yellow chrysanthemums with an effective arrangement of pinks in the dining-room, a white and yellow color-scheme being carried out to perfection in the decorations.

The ceremony was performed at 8.30 by Rev. Jay T. Stocking pastor of the Central Congregational Church.

The bride wore a handsome gown of Princess and point lace over white tulle, and carried a shower-bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Sherman, as maid of honor who was attractively attired in yellow charmesuse. The groom was attended by Mr. Charles T. Gilmore of Portland, Maine, as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Chester R. Knowles, John P. Ayer, Clinton D. Merrill of Portland, Walter A. Conley Elmore, N. Y., Harold B. Sherman and Raymond E. Briggs of Newtonville. A large reception followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Blake being assisted in receiving by Miss Louise R. Sherman, sister of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Blake.

An orchestra was in attendance, and guests were present from New York, Boston, Portland, and the Newtons. On their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Blake will be at home after January 1st at 199 Vaughn street, Portland, Maine.

MOTHERS' REST

At the recent annual meeting of the Mothers' Rest Association held in the parish house of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, there was a large attendance, and the reports showed the association to be in the most prosperous condition of its history, closing the year without debt. This completes 12 years of the association's work, during which time it has entertained 3515 mothers and children. This year it has entertained 301, being some 25 more than in any previous year. Miss Edith Bartlett, rendered several roles most acceptably. The following board of managers was chosen for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Samuel Ward; vice president, Mrs. E. A. Mason, Mrs. C. M. Coddard; secretary, Mrs. H. H. Kendall; treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Payne; auditor, Mrs. E. D. Burr; directors, Mrs. W. H. Bundy, Mrs. A. C. Badger, Mrs. W. H. Breed, Mrs. E. R. Benton, Mrs. C. T. Bartlett, Miss Edith Gammans.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

In his annual address to the supervisors, principals, and teachers, Dr. Spaulding gave a ringing and spirited challenge for more effective work with the individual pupil. The uses of the challenge in nature and in many of the great achievements of mankind were used as suggestive of the value of the challenge in bringing the individual pupil to his highest powers in the performance of his tasks.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE—But one more week remains for the theatregoers of Boston and suburbs to see "Coming Home to Roost," the new play of American life by Edgar Selwyn at the Hollis Street Theatre, which has scored an emphatic hit. From a Fifth Avenue mansion to a Chicken Farm is what Martin Boldt a millionaire broker does to cure his wife of a nervous sickness which is caused by her inactivity to participate any more in her husband's affairs. This simple though novel story is worked out with abundant humorous complications that naturally would follow a colossal life like Boldt's told his wife to get her to move from the mansion to the farm. The fun is quiet and wholesome and the story is presented by a cast of unusual excellence. The piece is replete with amusing situations from start to finish and the interest is sustained until the very end. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Mail orders given prompt attention.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Not in a great many years have the theatregoers of Boston been treated to such an artistic performance as that being given by Mr. George Arliss in "Disraeli," which begins the third week of its engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, on next Monday night. The play, which was generously received on its opening night, has repeated its New York success, and Mr. Arliss in the title role triumphs as he never did before. The play is a strange medley of comedy, romance and melodrama, but all these elements combine to make it appeal to all classes of playgoers. For a really delightful evening's entertainment don't fail to see this play. To miss seeing it will be the regret of lifetime. The cast in support of Mr. Arliss is of general efficiency and includes Margaret Dale, Violet Fleming, Margaret St. John, Francis Reeve, Alexander Calvert, Oscar Ayde, Arthur Eldred, Stapleton Kent and others.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—It will be a genuine first night at the Castle Square on Monday, for "Butterfly Baronet" will then receive its first presentation in Boston. The plot of "Butterfly Baronet" combines comedy, emotion and sentiment. Its scenes are laid in the English country, and its plot involves the love of Sir Charles Rivers for Ruth Harcourt, who has betrothed herself to another man. How this is worked out in an ingenious manner remains for the play to tell, and it is sufficient to say that added to it is an abundance of dramatic incident that involves other characters, notably a scapegrace brother of Ruth Harcourt. There will be an especial interest in the production of "Butterfly Baronet," for John Craig will return to the Castle Square stage after an absence of several weeks.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—Jesse L. Lasky's newest and most pretentious musical production, "The Trained Nurses," with Gladys Clark and Henry Bergman, heads one of the best vaudeville bills seen at B. F. Keith's Theatre in several months. A large company of comedians appear in the production as well as a big chorus of dainty and demure trained nurses. Seven catchy musical numbers are introduced in the course of the act, and the fun is fast and furious from start to finish. Other big

Two months and a half ahead does seem rather early to mention Christmas, but last year some of our customers who planned to make gifts of Morris chairs, were too late. ## Coal in Winter - Gas in Summer

Crawford Ranges

You need a coal range in Winter for kitchen warmth and for continuous hot water supply, but in Summer when you want a cool kitchen and less hot water a Gas range is the thing. You get both in the Crawford Combination Range and you get the best of each.

The Crawford Gas Ovens are safe; explosions are impossible. No dangerous pilot light; the oven door has to open before gas can be lighted and the Damper opens automatically with the oven door. In the End Ovens there is an extra set of burners at the top for broiling, which save the cook much stooping.

No coal range equals the Crawford with its money and labor saving improvements;—Single Damper (patented)—Scientific Oven heating flues—Ash Hod (patented), etc.

Crawford Ranges are

EDITORIAL

Republicans and former Republicans of Newton will have a serious duty to perform at the state election in voting for a candidate for state senator from this district. There is grave danger that the Democratic nominee will be elected if Newton votes are cast for the so-called Progressive candidate, Mr. Mellen of Newton Highlands. There is absolutely no possibility of the election of Mr. Mellen, and every vote for him is a half vote for his Democratic opponent. Look the facts in the face for a moment. The normal Republican vote in the district is about 7,000, the normal Democratic vote is about 5,500, and the bulk of the Republican majority is cast right here in Newton. While no one actually knows the strength of the so-called Progressive party in the district, an idea can be formed from the Roosevelt vote last spring, which was 2790 as compared with 3746 for President Taft. Even the most enthusiastic so-called Progressive will admit that Mr. Mellen will receive but few Taft votes for senator, and thus, leaving the Republican strength at the Taft vote of 3790 will give Mr. Mellen less than 2,500 Republican votes and every practical politician will tell you that few Democratic votes will stray away from the fold this fall. It is evident therefore, that Mr. Mellen's candidacy will have but one effect, the defeat of the Republican candidate, Mr. Hilton, whose candidacy, by the way, has been endorsed by the better portion of the Progressive element.

And what will be the result of the election of a Democratic Legislature? For one thing it will probably mean the repeal of the bar and bottle bill; it will probably mean a change in the management of the Boston police department, changes in the Boston city charter, extravagant expenditures in metropolitan affairs, and worst of all, so far as the good name of the state is concerned, the probable election as United States senator of Mayor Fitzgerald, instead of our own fellow-citizen, Hon. John W. Weeks.

These considerations, it seems to me, ought to be sufficient to cause every voter in Newton to think twice before casting his ballot for Mr. Mellen for senator or for the so-called Progressive candidates for the House of Representatives. Every friend of Congressman Weeks should vote for Mr. Hilton. Every friend of temperance should vote for Mr. Hilton. Every citizen who is proud of Massachusetts, either in the State House or at Washington, should vote for Mr. Hilton.

The young men who will cast their first ballot for a president next month have a duty to perform, not only to themselves, but to the country. I trust that they will take a most serious view of the situation for their attitude is fraught with serious consequences to the nation. They should not be misled by the use of the term "progressive." It has an alluring sound, and when joined with music of "Onward Christian Soldiers" is apt to take the less serious-minded, off their feet, so to speak. Just consider for a moment, what real progress means. I take it that a man who refuses to move in a certain direction, when experience and judgment demand such a step, is a threat to the country, while on the other hand, a man who jumps at the sound of religious music, or at the word of a demagogue, is a far greater menace. The real "progressive", in my judgment, is the man who carefully studies every suggestion of improvement, and when convinced that the step is justified, takes leave of the past and moves forward with confidence and hope. With this view of the matter, I would like the new voters to study the work of the Taft administration, which I shall publish before election, and understand what has actually been accomplished by the President and the Republican party. While mistakes, have been made, and what human being can help making mistakes, I believe that the careful observer will find that the errors were more of the heart than of the head, and that the consequences were of small importance.

Young men should study the fundamental questions involved and "hold fast to that which is good."

The legislative situation in this city is causing considerable trouble to the Republican leaders, who, there should be no question whatever, if the voters will give the matter the serious consideration it deserved. All three of our present representatives should be returned to the State House. Their record there, is creditable. They have had important committee assignments and will continue to be among the leaders of the legislature if re-elected next month. The candidates of the Democratic and so-called Progressive parties have had no experience whatever in legislative matters, will, if elected, be given unimportant committees, and have but little opportunity to be of real service to the community.

For senator, the Republican party presents Mr. Frederick H. Hilton, who has had creditable service in the Legislature, has received the endorsement of the better class of the Progressive party, and will if elected be certain to vote for a decent man for United States senator. In addition the Framingham end of this senatorial district fairly deserves the honor of naming the senator, and with everything else being equal, the locality issue should be recognized.

A few aldermen took a most peculiar attitude Monday evening in opposing a report by the Finance committee on the matter of acceptance by the people of the act to allow firemen one day off in five. In matters of this sort, involving expense to the tax payers, it is clearly the duty of the representatives of the people to investigate the effect of such legislation.

The change in the attitude of the school committee of Newton from being hostile to state supervision of the Technical High School, to one of co-operation and invitation, is largely due to the work of members of the Finance committee of the board of Aldermen. State aid of raising $12,000 for our expensive High school course will be most welcome.

Alderman Cox was a trifle late in opposing the rounding of streets, at "Night Cap Corner" and his arguments were a trifle weak as well.

FOOTBALL OF THE WEEK

Newton High and Milton High played a no-score game last Friday afternoon on Clafin field. The local team were out-played by the visitors until the last four minutes of the last period then taking a brace and carried the ball to Milton's five yard line. A penalty for starting before the ball was set in play, set the ball back five yards.

Newton attempted a goal from placement but the pass to Hyatt was very poor and the visitors took the ball. Milton was the larger ground gainer and was within one yard of the home team's goal when time was called for the end of the first half.

Capt. Poole gained much ground for Milton skirting the tackles and ended time and again for gains averaging from five to twenty yards. Van Buskirk appeared best for Newton.

Allen School football team has won two games during the past week springing a surprise Friday defeating Powder Point School of Duxbury, 12 to 6, and again on Wednesday took 6 to 0 victory from Boston "College" high, both games being hotly contested.

Newton high football team is playing Cambridge High and Latin this afternoon at Clafin field. This is their first Triangular League game of the season and they look for a victory. Next week they have two games on their schedule. On Tuesday they will meet the M. J. T. 16 team on the home grounds and Saturday they will go to Somerville for their first out-of-town game of the season.

POLICE COURT

Theophile Pardo of Upper Falls was found not guilty yesterday morning by Judge Kennedy on the charge of threatening and discharged.

Andrew Stone of Carlton street, and Frank Edmund of Church street, Newton, were arrested by inspectors on the charge of larceny of tools from the shed of C. A. Munroe, a Newton Centre carpenter, in whose employ Stone worked, and Stone was fined $5, and Edmund sentenced to 30 days in the House of Correction by Judge Kennedy last Monday morning.

As the result of a disturbance on a Henshaw car last Saturday night, Pasquale Aurullo of 31 Dacia street, Roxbury and Michael Bergantino of 25 Oak street, Waltham, appeared in court last Monday on the charges of drunkenness and disturbance on a public conveyance. The former was fined $5, on the first count and $15, on the latter. Bergantino was found guilty and fine of $5, imposed on the drunkenness charge and ordered discharged on the disturbance count.

There will be a dance on Halloween, next Thursday night.

The bowling committee have arranged to start the first Boston pin tournament next Monday.

Election returns will be received Tuesday evening Nov. 5th, over a private wire and there will be an entertainment and lunch provided as well.

POLITICAL NOTES

Mr. Frederick H. Hilton, Republican candidate for senator in this district, was a guest last night at gatherings held in the Y. M. C. A. building, Newton, Temple Hall, Newtonville, Playlows' Hall, West Newton, Bray Hall, Newton Centre, and at the residence of Mr. H. P. Converse, Auburndale. Other speakers were Representatives Geo. H. Ellis and Henry E. Bothfield and Mr. G. P. Bullard.

FIREMAN HURT

The manual training building connected with the Allen School for boys on Waltham street, West Newton was badly damaged by a fire early Wednesday morning, which is thought to have been of incendiary origin. The building is located some distance from the dormitories of the school and had a good start before it was discovered by residents in the vicinity of Henshaw street.

An alarm was sounded from fire headquarters from box 34, and on the arrival of the apparatus the back end and cellar of the building were a mass of flames. The fire originated in the shed used in storing fire wood in the rear of the building, and although the firemen kept the blaze mostly confined in this quarter, the excessive heat caused much damage to the electrical apparatus used by the students in the manual training work.

Hoseman Clarence W. Randlett, son of chief Walter B. Randlett, in inspecting the top floor of the building fell through a trap door and was painfully injured about the back. He fell a distance of 12 feet, and although badly stunned for some time it is not thought that he will suffer any ill effects. He was taken to his home in the police ambulance.

It is thought by the school officials that a tramp entered the rear shed, which was unlocked, and in smoking, threw the ashes in the kindling. The loss has not yet been ascertained, but it is thought it will be in the neighborhood of $5,000, fully covered by insurance.

—Miss Gertrude Whittemore, formerly of Hunnewell avenue is recovering from an operation for appendicitis, performed recently at a Boston Hospital.

—A meeting of the Junior Epworth League of the Methodist Church was held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. G. W. Barber on Newtonville avenue.

—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin W. Fredricks, who have been staying in Boston since their arrival last week from Europe, will return today to their residence on Park avenue.

—In digging the foundation for the new six-story building on the corner of Pearl and Centre streets, the workmen struck a ledge which necessitated blasting by a steam drill.

The residence of Mr. C. J. Bailey of Surry road is being coated with cement, by a new and interesting process. The building is first covered with a wire mesh and then the material is forced upon the clapboards by a gun, operated by compressed air.

ORIENTAL DINNER

Miss Harriet C. Morse entertained dinner on Tuesday, at her residence on Central avenue the occasion being complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Olin Downs. Mrs. Downs, who was a class-mate of Miss Morse's Radcliffe, has just returned from two years' sojourn in the Orient where she travelled extensively by auto, on camels and in all sorts of conveyances, exploring every nook and corner of that strange country. She had a large and varied collection of interesting curios and relics and entertained the company with many fascinating and amusing anecdotes. Covers were laid for 12 and the table decorations were very unique and Oriental in every possible detail. Included among the guests were Professor Edward Sylvester Morse, Japanese fame, and several friends who have recently returned from Egypt and China, and Mr. Cross, a well known member of the English board of trade in China, all of whom had many interesting curios collected during their travels.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR

A very pretty and successful fair was held on Saturday afternoon at "Rockledge," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Day on Chestnut street by the members of Mrs. Day's Sunday School class. The rooms where the various articles were on sale were artistically decorated with a profusion of beautiful flowers. In the dining-room where tea and lemonade were served the color-scheme was pink and chrysanthemums were used in effective arrangement on the tables. The fancy articles were on sale in the billiard room and in the drawing-room was a magnificent display of flowers including orchids, roses, chrysanthemums and pinks. Ice-cream, cake, candy, and preserves were on sale in the conservatory, and a pleasing program of music consisting of vocal selections was rendered during the afternoon. The young ladies who waited on the tables were becomingly gowned in white and presented a pretty picture. The proceeds are for the benefit of the West Newton Congregational church, and the affair was a success, both socially and financially.

The decorations at the Push Cart Market are in the able hands of Mr. Hawley Morton, architect, Mr. Francis Williams, interior decorator, and Mr. Charles Copeland, the well known artist. They will be assisted by Mr. Sidney G. Stevens, the Newton Centre builder.

CHANT-SHEPARD

The wedding of Miss Norma Rice Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shepard, formerly of Auburndale, but now residing in Waverly, and Mr. Sydney Leonard Chant, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Hillard Chant of Newton, took place on Saturday afternoon at Grace Church chapel and was witnessed by a company of relatives and friends of the immediate families. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by the rector, Rev. Dr. Laurens Mac Lure. The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of dark blue, with large white hat and was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Florence Chant, as maid of honor, who was also gowned in blue. The groom was attended by Mr. William Graham of Newton as best man. A reception was held after the ceremony, at the home of the groom's parents on Washington street. The bridal couple left immediately on a wedding trip, and on their return will reside in Newton.

LAWRENCE GRANT AT TREMONT TEMPLE

Tremont Temple was packed from pit to dome last Monday Evening, and after a stirring talk illustrated by the miraculous pictures had finished, two distinct rounds of applause were given, calling back Mr. Grant from his dressing room. The presentation, being an exact duplication of nature, actually transports one to the scenes of the delightful trips taken by the speaker, so that it is as good as an actual trip there.

The Yellowstone, according to announcements, has never before been treated with such attention. It took Mr. Grant and the color-film experts three months to make the series, the rest of the past year having been devoted to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and Glacier National Park, which will be shown in later presentations. "The Yellowstone" will be presented twice daily at Tremont Temple, at 2.30 and 8.15 P. M., the evening performance closing at just ten o'clock.

It will be worth a visit to the Push Cart Market just to see the wonderful cart from Sicily which carries the fruit, and the Belgian Milk Cart drawn by a dog.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURN, Editor.

The Club Editor extends greeting to the club women of Newton at the opening of another year of opportunity. Already several of the smaller clubs have begun their activities, but the larger ones do not get fairly started until November. The State Federation began its planning for the season the last of September, and even now the dates for several of its meetings and for most of its conferences have been arranged. On October second the conference of department chairmen with the members of the State Executive Board was held at the Vendome. At Concord on the seventeenth came the Conference of Presidents, an account of which will be found below. On the nineteenth by invitation of the Sunderland Woman's Club several of the State officers and representatives of the Cities and Education departments visited that town and held a local conference to which the members of many clubs in the vicinity were invited. The desire on the part of the clubs all over the State to get into touch with what the Federation is attempting is encouraging and the Federation officers are doing all in their power to respond to these requests.

State Federation Announcements

On Thursday, Oct. 31, the Public Health department will hold a conference at the Lakeville Sanatorium as the guests of the Cabot Club of Middleboro. Dr. Evangeline W. Young will speak on Sex Hygiene and there will be music by the Cabot Club Chorus. An inspection of the institution will be conducted by the Superintendent and there will be a social hour with the hostess. All club women are cordially invited. Train leaves Boston for Middleboro at 1.08 P. M.

Autumn Meeting

On Monday, Nov. 11, the State Federation will hold its autumn meeting at Warren by invitation of the Middleboro club of that town. Mr. George C. Minard and Mrs. J. D. Hodder will speak on "The Problem of the Child," and Miss Ann Taft on "Social Service Work in a Rural Community" at the morning session. Dr. Woods Hutchinson will be the speaker of the afternoon and his subject, "Woman's Responsibility for the Health of the Community." There will be a luncheon with tea and coffee served at a nominal price by the hostess club.

Local Announcements

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands holds its next meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 23, at the home of Mrs. C. T. Bartlett, Newton Centre. Mrs. M. S. Wallace and Mrs. W. C. B. Robbins with the aid of the children of the members entertain, it being a children's meeting.

On Oct. 28 at 2.30, the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands will meet with Mrs. Hanson B. Rogers of Charlesbank road, Newton. The club will continue the study of Brazil begun last week.

The Auburndale Review Club will meet with Mrs. W. A. Knowlton of Hancock street on Tuesday morning, Oct. 29th, at 10 A. M.

On Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 30, at 2.30, the Pierian Club will meet with Mrs. L. P. Everett of Upper Falls.

The next meeting of the C. L. S. C. will be with Mrs. Rogers, 112 Charlesbank road, Newton.

Local Happenings

At the October meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club Mr. Ernst Hermann, playground director for Newton, spoke to the members on the playground movement and work in Newton. The address was full of interest as the club has for some time contributed to this sort of work in Newton even before the movement was general in the city.

The C. L. S. C. is devoting the first part of this year's work to a study of South American countries.

The October meeting of the Newton Federation Executive Board was held on Monday morning of this week with the vice-president, Mrs. Charles T. Bartlett, in the chair. The treasurer reported that the Federation has on hand something over $1500 towards its various kinds of philanthropic work. Of this amount it is interesting to note that about $500 was the proceeds of the Pageant held last June on the Clafin grounds. The chairman of the Social Service committee reported that the dental clinic will be established in the near future. The Education committee stated that after investigating into the desirability of placing a woman in nomination for school committee had decided that it was not best to do so this year. The Newton Centre Woman's Club opened its sessions on Thursday afternoon. A delightful musical program by the Boston Quintet was much enjoyed. Two members were unavoidably absent and their places were acceptably filled by Mr. Snow, tenor, and organist at the Church of the Advent, and by Dr. Deacon of Newton Centre. There is considerable local interest in the members of this quintet so that they were heard with added pleasure. The ensemble numbers included Bullard's "Sword of Ferrara," "Boy Blue," "The Rosary," "Tales from Hoffman," "Southern Melodies," and the "Sextette from Lucia." The solo numbers were also much enjoyed. Following the program there was a reception to the officers and newly elected members of the club and a tea. A feeling of good fellowship was everywhere evident and those present were satisfied that the season has opened most auspiciously.

committee will undertake the furnishing of an emergency room at the classical high school building for the use of students. This committee has also made an investigation of the condition of the school cars bringing children from Waban, Upper Falls and Newton Highlands to the high schools at Newtonville. There are some 295 children to be transported; for this purpose three cars are employed to bring them over and only one to take them back. By actual register the average per car was 70 during certain days last week. The committee has presented a petition to the board of aldermen to have the matter remedied.

At the close of the business Miss Ellen Merchant from the Woman's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston spoke on the "Children's Play-ers," which are being established by that organization with the hope of interesting parents in the performance of good and suitable plays for the children.

Presidents' Conference

On Thursday morning, Oct. 17, a large number of club women made a pilgrimage to Concord for the autumn Conference of Presidents of the federated women's club of Massachusetts. After a graceful welcome to Concord by the president of the Concord Woman's Club, Mrs. Frederic C. Du Maine, Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan, the Federation president, acknowledged the club's courtesy and presided over the sessions of the day. The first part of the morning was given up to reports of two meetings of interest and importance to the club women, the International Congress of Hygiene and Demography recently held at Washington and the National Conservation Congress in Indianapolis. The former was given by Mrs. Lillian Folger, chairman of the Public Health department, who went as the Federation's representative and the latter by Mrs. Emmons Crocker, who is chairman of Conservation in the General Federation and General Federation Secretary for Massachusetts. Both reports were well given and contained much of vital importance.

The rest of the morning was given to a discussion of questions relating to club efficiency. The Federation president urged retiring club presidents to be sure to pass on literature relative to Federation matters to their successors. The responsibility of the clubs and their presidents toward the departments of work both in their own clubs and in the Federation was emphasized. The set of annual questions, which often seems a bugbear, was called to the delegates' attention and they were urged to see that their own clubs send in the answers and realize their value to the Federation workers, since it is in this way alone that department chairmen are able to know exactly what the clubs are doing along the various lines. The presidents were reminded that it is not possible nor is it expected that every club will be able to undertake work along every line, but they were urged to look about their communities and see what is needed and to attempt something and above all to report what they do do.

The desirability of limiting club membership was discussed. The large democratic club in the small town was commended as a Massachusetts institution by a club president who has recently moved to this state. While there was considerable difference of opinion as to the limited or unlimited membership, yet the consensus seemed to favor the limited membership, but at the same time with a limit large enough to take in practically all the women who wish to join, "a limit with a sliding scale," as one woman put it.

The question was asked, Shall the club confine its philanthropies to its income? The testimony of those present indicated that the work done by a large majority of the clubs could not possibly be done without money raised beyond the membership fee.

A message of love was sent to Miss L. S. W. Perkins, an honorary member of the civil service reform committee, who has been closely associated with this work and its inspiration from the beginning. At the afternoon session a note was received from her in return in which she said, "It is through actual life we get our spiritual experiences."

The new chairman of Literature and Library Extension, Mrs. Trueworthy White, spoke of the aims of her department for the coming year, among them being to relate the literature of our time to the problems of our time. It was announced that the total amount secured for the General Federation Endowment was $1524.50.

The remaining time was taken up with reports of the Biennial held in the early summer at San Francisco. Mrs. Mary H. Stone of Clinton told Mrs. Journey, Mrs. Lella C. Pennock of Somerville of the Morning Sessions, Miss Harriet E. Whitier of Milton of the Conferences, Mrs. Lillian Folger of Medford of the Evening Sessions and Mrs. Lottie A. Leach of Walpole of the Social Functions. All the reports were remarkably good and brought the convention vividly to the minds of those present.

Resolutions upon the death of Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker were presented by a committee composed of Miss Helen A. Whitier, Mrs. Sara T. S. Leighton and Mrs. May Alden Ward.

The hostess club was most gracious in its hospitality and did everything possible for the comfort and pleasure of its guests. The members of the executive board of the Federation were entertained at luncheon by the club.

NEWMAN TRAVELS

The travel-lecturers oft-times use unusual transportation devices to carry them into the remote and out-of-the-way sections of foreign countries. Mr. E. M. Newman who will come to Symphony Hall on the five successive Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons beginning November 15, to give his annual series of travel-talks, had several unusual rides while he was in quest of new material last summer. Although most of his long journey was made in a motor car, he took photographs in Holland from the deck of a slow-moving canal boat, in Switzerland he rode to the tops of the Alps in funicular and rack and pinion railway cars—in Germany he secured a splendid motion picture from the dirigible balloon "Schwaben"—and in Spitzbergen, well within the arctic circle, he enjoyed the novelty of a ride on a dog-sleigh across immense stretches of snow and ice. Mr. Newman's new travel-talks will be especially notable for the variety of interesting objects to be presented.

HOME CIRCLE

The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, Nov. 7th, at 2 P. M. in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville. A most interesting afternoon is anticipated.

A Home Circle Whist will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. H. Brown, Islington road, Auburndale, on Wednesday, Nov. 6th, at 2 P. M. Mrs. Brown is well known as a most hospitable and charming hostess and her Home Circle parties are always anticipated as most enjoyable. She extends a cordial welcome to members and friends.

PATTERSON-McCAULEY

A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bissell of Kent, Wash., Wednesday evening, Oct. 9, when Mr. Carlton Ross Patterson and Mrs. Rachel Jevens Macauley were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Woodley. The rooms were tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and ferns, while clusters of chrysanthemums and dahlias were used on the tables. An arch of autumn leaves and ferns was formed in one corner of the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed. The bride, led by little Ruth Paul as ring bearer, passed up the aisle formed by white ribbon streamers. The bride, attired in a beautiful white net gown over silk, entered on the arm of her uncle, Mr. John Bissell, who gave her away, the double ring service being used. A supper was served in the dining room, where covers were laid for twenty-five. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gabriell, and Mrs. Pearce, cousins of the groom, Mrs. James Spencer, Mr. Maxwell Spencer, Miss Bell Spencer, Mrs. Nellie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bissell, Mrs. C. O. Pool, Master Cecil E. Paul, Ruth E. Paul, all cousins of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. A. McDonald, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Shoff, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson left for a trip and will be at home after November 15. Mr. Patterson and his bride were former residents of Newtonville.

RAINBOW AT NIGHT

A most unusual sight was noticed last evening about seven o'clock, when a rainbow was seen in the western sky. A sharp shower was in progress at the time with a good moon shining in the east. The arch was clearly defined, but the colors were rather indistinct, due, no doubt, to the lack of power in the moonlight.

REVIVAL MEETING

A Revival Meeting of considerable interest is in progress at the Oak Square Methodist Episcopal Church. The pastor, D. Stewart Smith, conducts the singing, and leads the after meetings. Rev. E. C. Pollard of Wichita, Kan., a member of the S. W. Kansas Conference, does the preaching. There have been ten conversions and about that number have united with the church.

Special services for the young people will be held Sunday at 3 P. M.—A Sermon to the Young People. Theme, Children as Leaders. The meetings will continue indefinitely.

ALDERMANIC CHANGES
While it is still a bit early to definitely state the exact situation in regard to the complexion of the next board of aldermen, it is fairly certain that Alderman Calkins of Ward 1, Alderman Williamson of Ward 3, Aldermen Moore and Chadbourn of Ward 5, and Alderman Heard of Ward 7 will retire at the end of the present year.
While there are several gentlemen
suggested for Alderman Calkins' place, the name of Mr. Charles N. Pitts is being received with the greatest favor. In Ward 3, Mr. Harry L.
Hurrage will stand in place of Mr.
Williamson. For Alderman Moore's seat, Mr. Frank L. Richardson has consented to be a candidate, while Waban has not yet selected his candidate to succeed Mr. Chadbourn. In Ward 7 most of the influential citizens have endorsed the candidacy of Mr.
Henry I. Harriman of Hunnewell hill
while the nomination papers of Mr.
H. W. Jarvis have received a large number of signatures.

ROSS—RUMERY
On Wednesday evening a very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. John's Episcopal Church when Miss Vera Rumery the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Rumery of Newtonville, was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph Weymouth Ross, Harvard '09, son of Mr. Joseph F.
Ross of Ipswich, Mass. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and the ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock
by the rector, Rev. Richard T. Loring. The Lohengrin wedding march was played as the bridal party proceeded to the altar, the bride being escorted by her father who gave her in marriage. Miss Rumery was a very attractive bride, in a beautiful wedding gown of white satin and Princess lace; she wore a veil of old tulle held in place by lilies of the valley and Princess lace and carried a prayer book and a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.
Miss Louise E. Greenidge of Newton Highlands who was maid of honor, wore a handsome gown of Parisian novelty cloth with self toned hand embroidered silk, and primrose pink satin, imported lace. Little Helen Humphrey of Ipswich who was flower girl, wore white and carried a basket of flowers.
The groom was attended by Mr.
David Claxton of Ipswich, as best man, and the ushers were Messrs.
George Humphrey of Ipswich brother-in-law of the groom, Edwin Griffin, M. I. T. '06 of Ashmont, Richard Grozier, Harvard '09 of Cambridge, and Francis Ross, Harvard
'14 of Ipswich.

FORBUSH—DILL

The leading social event of the week in Newton Centre was the wedding of Miss Helen Baker Dill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua M.
Dill and Mr. Walter Alfred Forbush
of Brockton, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Frank M. Forbush of Sumner street which took place last Tuesday evening at the Dill residence on Commonwealth avenue.
The spacious reception rooms were beautifully decorated with white roses and white chrysanthemums backed by greenery, a white and green color-scheme being carried out in the decorations, the bridal party standing under a canopy of southern smilax hung with white rose buds.
The orchestra played Wagner's bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the bridal party entered the ceremonial room, the bride being escorted by her father who gave her in marriage.
The ceremony was performed at 7.30 by Rev. Edward M. Noyes pastor of the First Congregational Church, the double ring service being used. The bride looked charming in a beautiful wedding gown of white chiffon over white satin, trimmed with Irish lace and point-applique
lace from her mother's wedding-gown. She wore a tulle veil with coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a magnificent bouquet of Bride roses, with shower of lilies of the valley. Her only attendant was Miss Helen W. Hutchins of Cambridge, as maid of honor, wearing a handsome gown of blue charmeuse trimmed with shadow lace, and carrying white Killarney roses. The groom was attended by his brother
Mr. Robert L. Forbush of Brockton,
as best man and the ushers were
Dr. Martin Bassett Dill of Providence,
Mr. Colby Dill of Perth Amboy, N. J., brothers of the bride, Mr. A. Dudley Walker of Cambridge, and Mr. Gordon Walker of Trenton, N. J.
A large and brilliant reception was held from 8 until 10. Mr. and Mrs.
Forbush being assisted in receiving their guests by Mr. and Mrs. Joshua
M. Dill, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M.
Forbush, Mrs. Martin Bassett Dill
and Mrs. Colby Dill.
Mrs. Joshua M. Dill, the bride's mother was gowned in black velvet and white lace and carried a bouquet of orchids and Mrs. Frank M. For-bush, mother of the groom, wore a gown of lavender satin charmeuse with tunic of beaded lace and also carried orchids. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful brooch of pearls. The groom is a graduate of Harvard class of '07 and the bride a graduate of Wellesley.
In the dining room where an elaborate wedding supper was served quantities of Liberty and Radiance roses, were used in effective arrangement on mantles and buffet, a large centre-piece of Radiance roses forming the table decoration.
The young couple were the recipients of a profusion of beautiful and costly gifts including silver and cut glass. Guests prominent in social life were present from New York, Trenton, N. J., Providence, Brockton, Cambridge, Brookline and the Newtons. On their return from an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs.
Forbush will reside at 52 Ellis street, Brockton.
